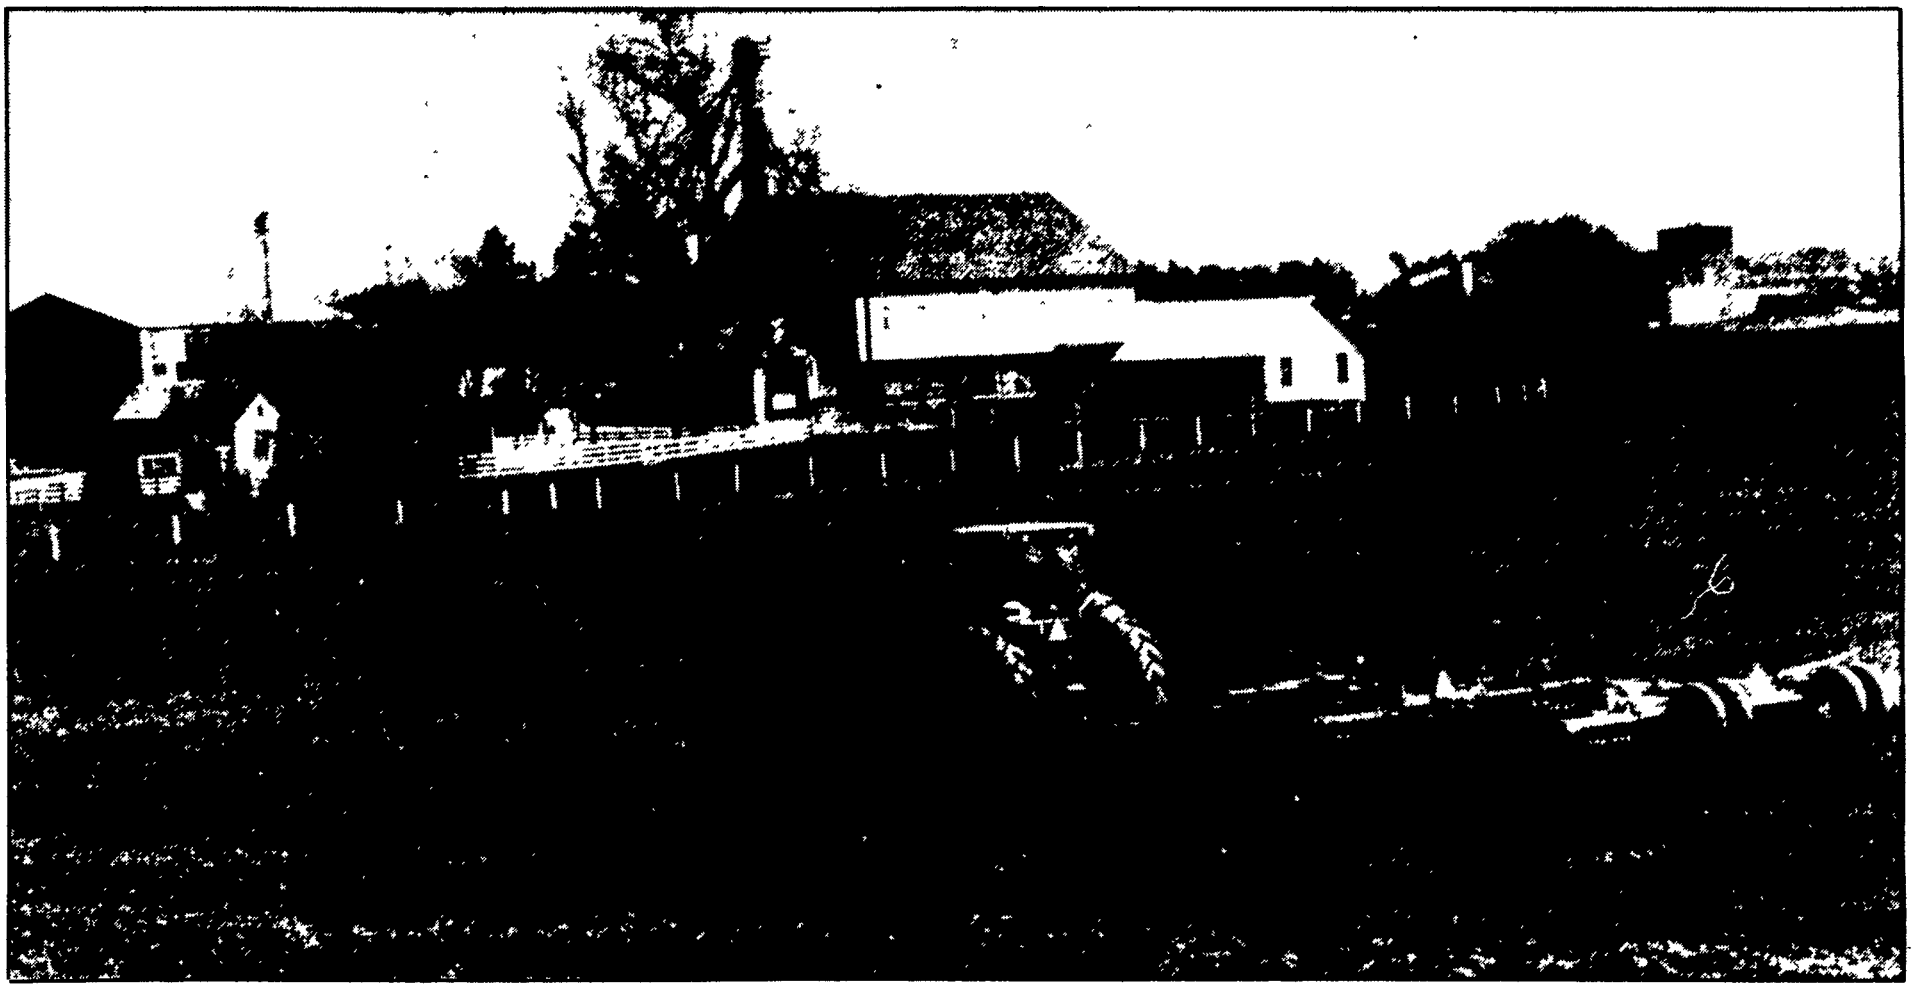
Lancaster Farming

Vol. 42 No. 26 | Four Sections | Lancaster Farming, Saturday, May 3, 1997 | $28.50 Per Year | 60¢ Per Copy



Farmers attempted to move into spring fieldwork this week, but as usual, some areas were wet and some still so dry planting was held up for fear weed control agents would not be effective until some moisture was in the ground. The Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service reported some corn planted but it is still too cool in many areas. About 70 percent of the winter wheat crop was described as good or excellent. Pasture development has been slow and grazing is off to a slow start.

On a trip south of Taneytown, Maryland along Route 194 on Tuesday, corn planters were at rest because water was lying in the low areas and the fields were quite wet. But as you moved north into York County, Pennsylvania, only 20 to 30 miles north, tillage equipment was at work in ground that worked up quite nicely. In the photo, Bill Waltersdorff provides the nice spring farming scene. Bill and his brother Tom farm 1,300 acres south of Spring Grove, along Route 116. Parents Norman and Delphine Waltersdorff live in the Waltersdorff Farm homestead that provides the nice backdrop for the field activity. Photo by Everett Newswanger, managing editor.

123 Receive Nutrient Management Certification

LICKDALE (Lebanon Co.) — Calvin Miller, a Lickdale dairy farmer, is a certified "individual" nutrient management specialist.

He is one of the first in the state.

He has yet to receive his official certification card, they just came in from the printer this week. But he knows his certification number — No. 317.

The number is not reflective of the number of people who took the test and received certification.

Actually, 123 people recently passed the state's first round of nutrient management examinations to become certified as a nutrient management specialist.

Though it means virtually nothing, some clarification might be needed to keep the numbering system from being confusing.

More than a year ago, the state compiled a list of people who were probable candidates for certification based on their existing jobs and the skills those jobs required.

As that list was compiled, individuals were assigned a number for identification. That was carried over into the first round of testing and now into certification records.

(As an even further aside, Gerald Batz a part-time worker for the Berks County Conservation District, has certification No. 1.)

Miller was one of 22 people statewide to recently take (20 passed) the certification exam to receive certification status as an "individual" nutrient management planning specialist.

Again, some clarity is needed to understand another important aspect to the program.

There are three catagories of nutrient management specialists under Act 6 regulations — "individual" for personal planning use only; "public," for government plan reviewers; and "commercial," which is self-explanatory.

That means the Lickdale-area dairy farmer will be able to develop his own nutrient management plan, once final plan regulations have been approved. That is anticipated to be Oct. 1.

While that almost sounds like

Wheat Growers Should Scout For Disease, Insect Challenges

ROBESONIA (Berks Co.) — Despite near-ideal wheat growing conditions, now is the time for growers to begin scouting for plant disease and insect problems, according to a Penn State agronomist who spoke at a dairy farm here on Tuesday.

Dr. Elwood Hatley, professor of agronomy extension, spoke to about a dozen producers and agri-industry representatives at the Penn State-sponsored Wheat Production Walk. Hatley told producers that, as the flag leaf begins to emerge from the wheat stem, growers should look for signs of mildew and septoria leaf spot in the uppermost leaves.

Hatley spoke at the farm operated by Mark A. Wolfskill and family north of Robesonia.

"Right now is the critical time for disease scouting," said Hatley.

Unfortunately, according to Tim Fritz, Montgomery County agent at the Wheat Production Walk, scouting now can create conflicts of work. "It corresponds to the busiest time for everything else" in planting season, he said.

One strip in a Wolfskill field, the wheat was at stage 7, with the flag leaf (which produces about 85 percent of the carbohydrates necessary for grain development) still in the stem.

Stages 7 or 8 are the best times to spray to control potential disease formation. After stage 9, when the flag is fully emerged, it is already too late to spray.

Hatley said that most years, producers inspect fields for mildew. "That's the major, most consistent disease," said Hatley.

But last year's growing conditions could have been ripe for the development of septoria — a lot of rain. After planting in late September, there were 10 days of rain, according to Mark A. Wolfskill. That rain splashes the septoria from the soil to the lower leaves and all the way to the critical upper leaves — and could result in high yield losses.

Hatley indicated he'd seen so signs of mildew or septoria at the Wolfskill farm. To develop mildew, there has to be high humidity

State Grange Day Event Focuses On Rural Issues

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

UNION DEPOSIT (Dauphin Co.) — Hundreds of members of the Pennsylvania State Grange met Monday at the Sheraton Inn-Harrisburg in Union Deposit to celebrate state Grange Day, attend educational workshops and a banquet with state representatives.

The day-long event occupied several side meeting rooms and the main ballroom of the convention hotel for the banquet.

For the rest of the year and the next, the Pennsylvania State Grange is celebrating 125 years of existence, starting with the first annual meeting, which occurred Sept. 18, 1873 (the organization began with a meeting, thus the 125th meeting is this fall).

The Grange itself won't be 125 years old until 1998.

As part of that celebration, at last year's annual convention, a torch that was made at the Huntingdon County Area Vocational Technical School was lighted and began a tour of each county level Grange in the state.

While the Olympic-style torch was set to be in Potter County for Monday, it was brought to Harrisburg for the Grange Day event to remind members of the significance of the symbol which represents the purpose of Grange — to pass the light of knowledge and cooperation throughout the land.

The message of hope for rural Pennsylvania families 125 years

Delmarva Broiler

APRIL 30, 1997

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was slow to fair at best. Seller offerings were fully adequate to ample with the larger sizes in the longer position. Live supplies were at least moderate; weights were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than truckiot asking prices were unchanged at 56 to 70 cents. Trade sentiment was steady, but cautious in some instances. In the parts complex, wings were generally noted as in best balance. Other items were fully sufficient for the slower than expected start to first of the month buying activity.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
APRIL 29, 1997

Corn planting is the word today. Exports are not, zip announcements for the second day. Wheat 1 cent lower to 2 cents higher. Corn 1 cent lower to 3 cents higher. Sorghum 1 to 3 cents higher. Soybeans steady to 5 cents lower. Plenty of moisture and new crop wheat is looking good in most places. Early Spring freeze damage is still up in the air, but this is not hurting as much as lack of export orders. Corn is still the number 1 price determinate in the grain and soybean trade. A large part of the crop will be planted in the next two weeks. More progress has been made in the Eastern Combelt than the Western Combelt, just the opposite of last year. However, rain is in the forecast for tonight and tomorrow. Export orders need to do much better than they have the past three or four days, nothing on the books. Soybeans are enjoying the moment. There is almost a 2.00 spread between old and new crop beans. U.S. Export Sales: Nothing new to report. OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK
APRIL 30, 1997

Compared to last week: Feeder and stocker steers under 800 lbs and heifers under 700 lbs steady; heavier weights 2.00 higher. Demand very good for feeders and stockers, fair for calves. Receipts reduced by general rains of 1-3 inches over the trade area late last week. This causing the usual difficulty in gathering and moving cattle from pastures. Quality of supply attractive to mostly average. Flesh condition of feeders mostly medium. Calves again mixed in flesh as new crops and a few thin dry wintered calves comprise the supply. Weigh-ups gaunt to average. Receipts this week 5,600; last week 13,876; last year 8,335. Supply consisted of 83 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 13 percent calves and light yearlings under 600 lbs; 4 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis. Slaughter cows 2.00-3.50 higher. Slaughter bulls 1.50 higher. Packer demand good for light receipts. Packers fairly aggressive as they begin to build inventory for next months Memorial holiday. Total of 240 cows and bulls sold with 70 percent going to packers. The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

MAY 5-11, 1997

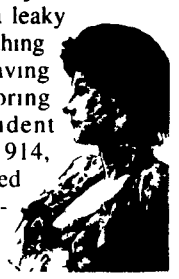
MOTHER'S DAY HILARIA

Mama told me there'd be days like this, . . " the song goes, listing one thing we may have learned at our mother's knee. One mother we know gave her offspring a book called Everything Your Mother Didn't Teach You, figuring she'd complete the job. From that book, you could discern how to fix a leaky toilet or change a flat tire, the sort of thing that comes in handy when you're having one of those "days like this." Honoring mothers is not a new idea. President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed it in 1914, but before that, the Romans celebrated their mother goddess Cybele, in a festival called the Hilaria



Women know the way to rear up children (to be just) . . . - Elizabeth Barrett Browning

TIP OF THE WEEK

PECAN STREUSEL

1-1/2 cups sifted flour
3 tablespoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup butter
1 cup white sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup chopped pecans

TOPPING:
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/4 cup melted butter

Combine dry streusel ingredients. Cream butter and sugar. Stir in egg and juice, then dry ingredients and nuts. Pour into greased 9x9-inch pan Combine topping ingredients and sprinkle over batter Bake about 30 minutes at 375° F

Makes 9 squares.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

May never goes without a wheat-ear.

A May cold is a thirty-day cold.

Cold wet May, barn full of hay.

Hello Dolly

By now, almost everyone has heard about Dolly, a cloned sheep. Dr. Ian Wilmut, a 52-year-old embryologist, is believed to be the first to create a clone using DNA from an adult animal. Wilmut fused a cell from the mammary gland of a six-year-old sheep with another ewe's egg cell. The genetic material from the former directed the egg from the latter to grow and divide. After implanting the embryo into a third sheep, the process created an animal with nuclear genes identical to the original.

Others have divided embryos soon after egg and sperm fusion, creating identical animals, but no clones had been successful until Wilmut. He and his colleagues have produced nine sheep through cloning, and they have cows pregnant with cloned calves.

While this is the latest and possibly the biggest medical breakthrough of the century, it is also the hottest ethical debate at present. Plastic surgery, organ transplants and test tube babies have prepared us for this development. Gene targeting in livestock should now be feasible by nuclear transfer from modified cell populations and will offer new opportunities in biotechnology.

In the future, scientists will be able to clone an animal to meet a certain niche. Maybe they will cross tropical cattle with cattle suited to colder climates. Using current reproductive practices a hybrid is created and the end of the line for reproductive possibilites. With the new technology of clonging, that hybrid could be used to create more animals with its unique combination of traits.

But its not that simple. In the transfer of fertilized eggs of cattle and sheep, researches have discovered prolonged gestation and abnormally large offspring. This suggests that not all characteristics are linked to nuclear DNA. In addition, it is not likely that any given individual animal will have perfection in all traits of importance and the cloned animal is not guaranteed to produce the same as the original.

What was the prerogative of nature has now become the prerogative of the researcher. At many junctures along the path to the perfect animal the scientist becomes God, deciding what dies and what is alowed to reproduce. And suppose the genetic material gets twisted so the lamb becomes a lion.

In a New York Times article, Wilmut is said to want to create animals that could be used for medical research and he dismissed the notion of cloning humans. But even in dismissing the notion, the question has been raised.

On the other hand, when you read the daily news of what hideous atrocities people inflict on other people we wonder if some inhuman researcher has already injected some animal genes into the human spirit.

Now Is The Time

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Change Feed For Cattle On Pasture

Glenn Shirk, Lancaster County extension dairy agent, reminds us that the rations of dairy cattle can change drastically as they are switched from a barn feeding program to a pasture-supported feeding program.

This is a change that should be made gradually as adjustments are being made to the nonpasture portion of the ration.

Initially, limit the amount of time cows are on pasture. Lush pastures are higher in soluble protein and total protein and lower in fiber and dry matter content. Therefore, it is generally beneficial to reduce the protein levels in the rest of the ration and to feed more soluble energy and more fiber.

Feeding more fiber to pastured cattle can help slow down the rate of feed passage, so the rumen has more time to digest it and make use of it.

To Control Excess Protein

Excess protein may be toxic and stressful to cows, according to Glenn Shirk, Lancaster County extension dairy agent.

Extra energy is consumed to metabolize and excrete the excess protein. This energy is no longer available support milk production or keep cows in good flesh.

The lack of flesh and the toxic affect of excess protein may also have a negative impact on reproduction.

Feeding additional soluble energy may help cows utilize more of the soluble protein in lush pastures. Thus, less of the protein is wasted and there is less risk of toxicity problems.

The milk urea nitrogen (MUN) test, offered by Lancaster or Pennsylvania DHIA, is a good tool for helping to monitor how effectively the protein in the ration is being utilized.

To Provide Water To Horses

According to Chester D. Hughes, Lancaster County extension livestock agent, water is as essential to good nutrition as any solid feed. It should be fresh, clean, and available to the horse at all times.

Horses may be watered before, after, or during feeding. However, horses should not be given water if they are overheated.

Normally a mature horse drinks 10 to 12 gallons of water a day. When the temperature is high or during work periods, the amount consumed is considerably greater.

Some authorities state that a horse may produce about 10 gallons of saliva per day. Saliva starts the digestive process, so ample water is necessary for good digestion.

Water cools the horse by carrying off excess body heat. In cold weather it assists in conserving heat and helps to maintain body temperature.

Water is also the major component of blood that carries nutrients to all parts of the body.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "There are many things in life that will catch your eye, but only a few will catch your heart . . . pursue those."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

OPENING THE SCROLL

May 4, 1997

Background Scripture:
Revelation 4:1-11
Devotional Reading:
Revelation 4 through 5

I am not saying that it does not exist, but I have viewed a lot of religious art over the years and never seen a depiction of John's vision in Revelation 4 and 5. Why? Because his vision defies visualization. It is too grand, too complex, too mysterious to be reduced to an artist's representation.

And that stands as a warning to us: don't get too caught up in the details of John's vision. Rather, concentrate on what that vision meant to him and can mean to us.

So, looking beyond the heavenly throne of God — to the rainbow round the throne, the seven torches of fire, "the sea of glass like crystal," the 24 thrones of elders in white garments and golden crowns, the flashes of lightning and peals of thunder, the "four living creatures," the scroll with seven seals, the seven-eyed and — horned Lamb, the myriads of singing angels, and "every creature in heaven and on earth" — how does this vision speak to us today?

THE SEALED SCROLL

Obviously, "he who sat there" on the throne is God. The slain but victorious Lamb is, of course, Christ. But what is the meaning of the "scroll . . . sealed with seven seals?"

Biblical scholars point out that the scroll is a symbol that appears at various places in the Hebrew literature. In Ezekiel 2:9,10 the prophet is handed a scroll of lamentations by God who sits on his throne. In Isaiah 29:11 the prophet writes: "And the vision of all this has come to you like the words of a book that is sealed. When men give it to one who can read, saying, 'Read this,' he says, 'I cannot for it is sealed.'" And in several books of the Appocrypha there is mention of a heavenly scroll that tells of the destiny of the world before the end of time.

In Revelation the scroll with seven seals represents the mind of God in which there lies the knowledge of things to come, especially the destiny of the world and humankind. The scroll is sealed and thus is a mystery. The number seven was the number of completion and perfection, so the scroll contains what from the beginning of time we have sought so desperately and variously. Why are we here? Where is life headed? When we get where we're going, where will we be?

UNIVERSAL QUESTION

You and I may never have a vision like that, but we all want to know what is inside that scroll. It contains the key to the meaning of our existence and the universe into which we are born, live and die. And the question which John hears raised by a "strong angel" is a universal one: "Who is worthy to open the scroll and break its seals?" (Rev. 5:2).

You may never have phrased it just like that, but I am confident you have raised the question. Who can see and explain the mind of God? Who can tell me what it's all about? Whom can I believe and follow? And our experience is pretty much what John saw: "And no one in heaven or on earth was able to open the scroll or to look into it" (5:3,4). Despite the claims of some, there has never been anyone able to enter into the mind of God and know his secrets.

With one exception! The Lamb: "Worthy art thou to take the scroll and to open its seals . . ." (5:9). Only the Christ who offered himself for us is worthy and able to break the seals and read to us the scroll. Only Christ can reveal to us the mind of God and the destiny of humankind. Only Christ can give us "good news" that remains "good" for the rest of time and eternity.

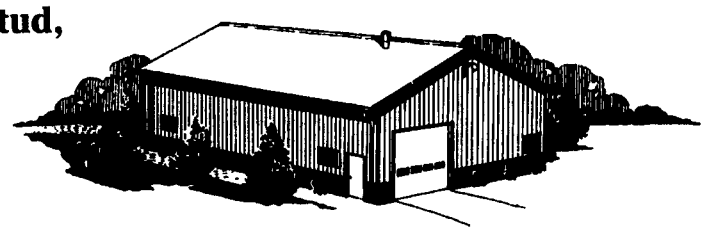
SALE DAYS HELD TUES. AND THURS., 9:30 A.M.

The Building you want.
The Lease you need.

Whether your new farm or commercial building is of pole, timber column, stud, steel or block construction; choose Telmark lease financing.



Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 30 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider the features:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated write-offs: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings. Could reduce tax liability this year.
- Low upfront costs: Beginning costs may be as little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms start aggressively at five years but may be as long as ten, twelve, or fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules match your cash flow. Payment options include monthly, quarterly, annually, as well as, skip or specially designed seasonal payments.

How do you start leasing a building from Telmark? Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost. And call your Telmark representative:

RELENTLESS CONTROL MEANS RESIDUAL CONTROL.

All season. PURSUIT® herbicide combines contact and residual activity to clear out more than 40 weeds, including velvetleaf, cocklebur, shattercane, nightshades and foxtails. In fact, PURSUIT gives you the greatest overall weed control available. And that means you get the greatest return on your investment.

For heavy infestations of grasses, use the premiere sequential program of PROWL® followed by PURSUIT.

Butter, Cheese Stocks Building, Pressuring Prices

NEW YORK - Despite threatening floods in some midwestern fields, progressive planting in other areas and ample cheese and butter inventories will likely keep pressure on dairy products prices this week, traders said. The industry's eyes will also be watching how successful cash cheese trading on the CME is after last week's finale to the controversial National Cheese Exchange in Green Bay, Wis.

In the first weeks of BFP trading at the Coffee, Sugar and Cocoa Exchange, traders said the contract continues to increase the popularity of futures trading from within the industry and attracting good interest from outside the industry as well.

"The BGP continues to grow and since it has started there have been even more trades made in other dairy commodities as well," one dairy broker said. "This is really going to work."

On Friday, CSCE BFP open interest was up 12 lots at 322, with 94 lots of open interest in the nearby Jun contract.

On Monday, CSCE May raw milk futures were unchanged at $10.65/cwt, and Jun was un-

State Grange Day Event Focuses On Rural Issues

ago was manifest in the efforts to create the first Pennsylvania Grange meeting in Reading, by spreading the word from community to community.

State Lt. Gov. Mark Schweiker was first speaker of the afternoon workshops. From 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. he discussed emergency preparedness in rural Pennsylvania and the role of the volunteers, who in many rural areas serve first and sometime second line defense in battles against tragedy.

From rural fire fighters to volunteer ambulance crews and radio dispatchers, rural communities in Pennsylvania have served to demonstrate the cooperative abilities of people to organize and maintain such protective services for the good of all.

The rest of the afternoon offered a choice of workshops.

From 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., members could either attend a talk about the dairy crisis and the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board, or a workshop on threats to the sense of hearing.

The next set of workshops offered insight into insurance reform in the state, and review of the first 125 years of the Grange activities through a review of the State Grange history in conjunction with the upcoming 125th anniversary.

From 4 p.m. to 5 p.m., Gene Barr, slated to soon become the executive directoritve director of the Associated Petroleum Industries organization, and Robin Ross, with the William Hawkins public relations consulting firm in Harrisburg, discussed the proposed tightening of air particulate standards by the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

While representing the petroleum industry, the implications for agriculture are significant.

Barr said that adoption of the standards would result in further departure of United States petroleum industries and jobs to other nations where such standards are nonexistant.

The basic argument from both men was that the EPA has proposed standards without considering the potential for achievement, for benefits, and for cost to industry and the national economy.

For agriculture, opponents maintain that the standards are so tight that they would seem to fairly well shut down traditional as well as modern confinement housing practices; field work could be substantially affected, as could a wide range of normal human activities

From the left, state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius is presented with a framed certificate of appreciation from the Pennsylvania State Grange by William Steel, master, while others applaud in the second of two standing ovations.

State Sen. Dan Delp, chairman of the Senate Agricultural and Rural Affairs Committee, presents the Senate proclamation for State Grange Week and Day, and also discusses some of the achievements and changes in the state's agricultural policies.

Charlie Wismer, president of the Pa. State Grange Service Corporation, and a past state master, receives a bag of seed corn in honor of his heading efforts to institute and operate the member-service non-profit corporation.

State Grange Day Event

Sandy Westover, manager of the Pa. State Grange Credit Union and Service Corp., is honored in recognition of the Credit Union's 15-year history of sound loans.

From the left, William Steel, Pa. State Grange master, and state Rep. Sheila Miller hold a framed copy of the state House proclamation of State Grange Week and Grange Day. Miller sponsored the proclamation.

From the left, public relations firm representative Robin Ross, and Gene Barr, representing the Associated Petroleum Industries organization, are thanked by Brenda Shambaugh, legislative director for the Pa. State Grange, for their discussions of proposed stricter U.S. EPA air particulate standards that would severely interfere with normal farming practices.

According to literature distributed, "The U.S. (EPA) has proposed new, more stringent National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS) that would impose very high cost on Pennsylvania consumers, taxpayers, small businesses and large industries, with no significant benefits to public health.

"EPA's administrator (Carol Browner) is wrong in claiming that air pollution is responsible for increases in asthma. EPA's own data show that, at the same time asthma problems have been increasing, ozone and other air pollutants have been decreasing. Thus, air pollution can not be the cause of increased asthma.

"One of EPA's proposals would require states and local governments to enforce more stringent controls for particulates (dust and other microscopic particles); the other would impose stricter regulations on emissions that contribute to ozone (smog).

"Air quality is improving and will continue to improve under existing standards."

That last statement in the literature published by the American Petroleum Institute in Washington D.C. was the heart of the statements made by Barr and Ross.

They questioned why, given that current standards have been effective in cleaning air, and that compliance of those standards has yet to be reached by communities and industries attempting to com-and canopy formation with really soggy soil. The lack of rain and cool, dry conditions are preventing the formation of any mildew.

Wheat Growers Should Scout For Disease, Insect Challenges

In other fields across the state, Hatley said that he has seen mildew in areas where they've had some fog. But the outbreak has been limited to the stem and hasn't been moving up the plant.

Septoria is a natural part of the biology and is established on most wheat in the fall of the year. Environmental conditions contribute to its spread and development.

Hatley has seen slight evidence of viruses that are normally present but aren't creating any disease challenges in the wheat at the Wolfskill farm.

Wolfskill and family planted the Hoffman 89 wheat variety between Sept. 26-28 of last year, following soybeans. Altogether, the Hoffmans plant about 40 acres of 89 variety and 20 in the Hoffman 95 variety. They used a no-till drill on 7½-inch spacings. The wheat was planted into ground that receives manure from their dairy and Holstein beef finishing operation. No other fertilizer was used.

"I haven't used fertilizer in a drill or corn planter since (my son Dave) was a baby," said Mark A. Wolfskill. That encompasses more than 25 years of planting.

According to Hatley, at planting, growers should aim for about 1.25-1.5 million plants per acre or about 18-20 plants per linear foot.

Many growers agree the conditions have been near-ideal for the cool-season wheat, with temperatures in the 65-75 degree range. When temperatures exceed the mid-80s, growth slows down considerably. Checking the wheat stands were, from left, Tim Fritz, Montgomery County agent; Elwood Hatley, Penn State agronomist; and Dave Wolfskill.

Wolfskill Farm milks about 94 all-registered Holsteins. In all, the family manages more than 1,000 tillable acres. They lease three and own six farms. Total acreage includes 60 acres of wheat, 105 in barley, 260 in soybeans, 335 in corn, 160 in alfalfa, several acres in oats, and about 55 acres of grass hay. Out inspecting the wheat fields this week were, from left, Dave, Mark A., Doug, and Mark F. Wolfskill.

As a result, about 3 million wheat heads per acre should emerge out of one main stem and one tiller unit per each of the 20 plants per linear foot.

For the Wolfskills, wheat seed planting depth was between ¼ to ½ inch at two bushels or 120 pounds. The lighter depth created some spottiness and sparse growth on the upper ridges of fields. But for the most part, the wheat looked good.

One of the reasons why the Wolfskills achieved good stands is the use of fall weed control, according to Doug Wolfskill. The fields are sprayed in the fall for weed control of the winter annuals, which provides good control of tansy, corn camomile, and bachelor buttons. Most fall herbicides won't work against garlic.

Where mustard weed used to be a widespread problem in the fields, according to Mark A. Wolfskill, most herbicides keep it in check.

Lack of snow cover led to some heaving in spots. However, the cool, dry conditions throughout the spring kept the fungus and other diseases at bay.

"You don't see near the fungus with this nice, dry weather we're having," said Wolfskill.

Many growers agree the conditions have been near-ideal for the cool-season wheat, with temperatures in the 65-75 degree range. When temperatures exceed the mid-80s, growth slows down considerably.

Even so, growers have to worry about leaf rust, which could prove frustrating to growers this year,

Wheat Growers Should Scout For Disease, Insect Challenges

One strip in a Wolfskill field, the wheat was at stage 7, with the flag leaf (which produces about 85 percent of the carbohydrates necessary for grain development) still in the stem. Growers should inspect the leaves now for evidence of disease.

noted Hatley. The leaf rust usually moves northward out of the Mississippi and Ohio River Valleys and shows up on wheat leaves in June.

Last year growers were challenged with plant disease because of the cold, rainy conditions in the spring. There was some yield loss because growers were spraying for mildew. But in the years of a lot of rain, Hatley told the growers, "Don't expect mildew — expect septoria."

Another challenge to look for when scouting is the cereal leaf beetle, which should begin to show in fields. Normally the bug attacks oat fields, according to Hatley, but some control may be necessary in wheat if the threshold levels are met. Check with the "Penn State Agronomy Guide" available at all extension offices.

Harvest begins about the first week of July, depending on weather conditions, according to Doug Wolfskill. In all, last year's wheat production for the Wolfskills was good, which filled their 3,500-bushel storage b'n. Mark A. Wolfskill said they obtained about $4.25 per bushel and harvested about 60-65 bushels per acre.

Wolfskill Farm milks about 94 all-registered Holsteins. They maintain about the same number of replacements. They milk from stanchion to pipeline and sell to Clover Farms. State DHIA averages are 23,800 pounds for the herd, about 830 pounds of fat, and more than 720 pounds of protein. The Wolfskills finish about 400 Holstein steers a year, which they obtain from Virginia sales and market at the Leesport Auction.

In all, the family manages more than 1,000 tillable acres. They lease three and own six farms. Total acreage includes 60 acres of wheat, 105 in barley, 260 in soybeans, 335 in corn, 160 in alfalfa, several acres in oats, and about 55 acres of grass hay.

The wheat is followed by soybeans, which they have managed to harvest as Thanksgiving beans successfully the past six years.

Double-crop beans can be risky for growers in a dry year; but in most cases, doublecropped beans can be profitable for growers.

Dr. Elwood Hatley, professor of agronomy extension, told producers that, as the flag leaf begins to emerge from the wheat stem, growers should look for signs of mildew and septoria leaf spot in the uppermost leaves.

Dairy Exposition and Awards Banquet Report

JUDY PATTON
Union Co. Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) – Fun and games, as well as the Adopt-A-Cow program, brought spectators to the Penn State Ag Arena on April 26 for the 72nd Penn State Dairy Exposition.

Of the 31 students competing for showing and fitting awards in the Expo's main event, Rachel Tanis of Centre Hall emerged as overall champion and champion showman. Lauren Lynch of Friedens was the reserve overall champion and reserve champion showman. Champion fitter was Shelly Graham of Port Matilda, while Dawn Ginder of Mt. Joy was reserve champion fitter.

Judges for this year's Expo were Joy Crothers for showing and Larry Swartz for fitting. A 1973 Penn State graduate, Crothers and her husband have a 70-cow dairy in Chester County. She has judged at the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, the South Jersey Show and the All-American Invitational Dairy Judging Contest. After earning a master's degree from Penn State in 1989, Swartz worked for two breeding services and is now the dairy and crops extension agent for Adams, Cumberland and Franklin Counties.

In the amateur division (those showing for the first time) Jeff Bollinger, Ephrata, was champion fitter and April Pitzer, New Castle, was champion showman. Derrice Ward, a Penn State Alternate Dairy Princess from Port St. Lucia, FL, was reserve amateur showman and fitter.

Intermediate division champions included: Shelly Graham, champion fitter; Dawn Ginder, reserve champion fitter; Tadd Burch, North East, champion showman, and Jenny Zerby, Beavertown, reserve champion showman.

Professional division champions were Cory Myers, St. Thomas, champion fitter; Josh Harvatine, Thompson, reserve champion fitter; Rachel Tanis, champion showman; and Lauren Lynch, reserve champion showman.

The Distinguished Alumnus for the Expo this year was Robert Heilman, a 1959 dairy production graduate. He was an assistant Cumberland County extension agent, then became a field representative and coordinator for the national Holstein Association. He then went into marketing first as a coordinator for the Holstein-Friesian Services and later as vice president of American Marketing Services, which exported all livestock breeds. He is now president of AMS Genetics, marketing bovine genetics, and board chairman of Visions Genetics, an international bovine management company. He and his wife Nancy live in Richmond, VA.

Expo Champion Fitter was Shelly Graham (right) and Reserve Champion Fitter was Cory Meyers.

Lloyd Ebersole, assistant manager of Sire Power, was the Expo Dedicatee. After leaving the family dairy farm in Perry County, he worked for the first Pennsylvania Artificial Breeding Cooperative's lab and barn and as an A.I. technician before going to Penn State. He was the high individual in the 1968 National Intercollegiate Dairy Judging Contest. He has served on the boards of the National Association of Animal Breeders and the Dairy Shrine, of which he was president, as well as the National DHIA Rules Committee. A strong supporter of education in dairy science, he has judged several youth contests and was a charter member of the Penn State Dairymen's Club.

The Young Dairy Leader Award went to Rebecca Sonnen of Lancaster, a 1993 ag science graduate. Growing up on a 200-cow dairy farm, she was active in 4-H, FFA and the Junior Holstein Club, and participated in showing, judging and dairy bowl contests. At Penn State, she was active in the Dairy Science Club, was on the Dairy Judging Team (winning national champion Brown Swiss honors), and was the 1987-88 Pennsylvania Dairy Princess. She is now the program director for the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association and serves on the Lancaster County Dairy Promotion Committee.

Participants in the Adopt-A-Cow program, who had collected five University Creamery product containers and filled out an entry form to qualify, came to the Dairy Expo to visit their adopted animals. This program, along with the Meet a Cow Day for second graders, helps introduce the dairy industry and the curriculum at Penn State to students of all ages as well as adults.

Rounding out the Expo events were the Alumni Showmanship, Celebrity Milking, Milk Chugging, Lifesaver, Dizzy Bat and Cow Pie Bingo Contests and a Tug of War.

Awards Banquet

The highlight of the evening Awards Program is the announcement of the Davey Award for the Outstanding Senior in Dairy Science on the basis of scholarship, leadership and participation, which this year went to Carrie Bryant. From Honesdale in Wayne County, she is not only an active member of the Dairy Science Club, Block & Bridle Club, Coaly Society and Ag Student Council, but also is the president of the national American Dairy Science Association Student Affiliate Division, the vice president of the University Student Government Academic Assembly, and an Ag Advocate. She completed her last semester as an exchange student at Cal Poly.

In addition to giving plaques to the Expo champions, the club recognizes the Most Helpful Individual, who was Matt Lawrence, and Hardest Working Individual, which went to Derrice Ward. Expo show managers were Becky Urpack, Meshoppen, assisted by Matt Davis, Dawson, and special events chairmen, Josh Harvatine, Thompson, and his assistant, Michelle Piwowar, Uniontown.

Penn State Poultry Science Club Banquet

JUDY PATTON
Union Co. Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) – At the 7th annual Penn State Poultry Science Club banquet on April 25 students heard key words for success in Tony Chivinsky's speech, Mom, Apple Pie and the Girl Next Door, and received awards for their year's work.

The senior vice president of the Consumer Foods Division of Pennfield Corporation, Chivinsky warned students that they will have to be able to adapt to unexpected change without much specific instruction or preparation. In his own life he said that with his background in accounting, he has had three or four careers to date and hopes to have more. A bend in the road is not the end of the road unless you fail to make the turn, he quoted.

Chivinsky said having vision, or knowing who you are and what you want to become, is also necessary for success. People must be committed to such goals and ideals as obtaining peace of mind, loving relationships, and financial freedom, he advised. Quoting from Barry Fitzgerald's book, Choosing Through the Right Window, he said, No one has everything, everyone has something; you should develop your own strengths to your highest ability.

Accepting responsibility for whatever happens, having a positive attitude about learning new skills, and not being afraid to fail will also increase productivity, Chivinsky stated. As part of the constant learning process needed for personal development, he suggested choosing a mentor and picking many heroes to follow. He also emphasized the importance of helping others and self-sacrifice for the good of accomplishing tasks as part of a team. Boundrylessness, or thinking beyond departmental lines, is another key to success, according to Chivinsky.

Finally, he encouraged students to become involved in community activities in order to be well-rounded, to help others, to learn more, and to meet people who can be helpful to them.

Outgoing president Tadd Burch announced the new officers elected for 1997-98 in the Poultry Science Club are: Emily Miller, president; Kara Ballek, Ag Student Council; Justin Sobota, vice president; and Steph Bowman, secretary-treasurer.

Award winners were: Jennifer Brickley, highest grade point average in poultry science; Jenny Zerby, most active club member; Emily Miller, most active new club member; and Kara Ballek, highest grade point average overall.

Club advisor Dirk Wise showed slides of the club's activities, including the annual turkey sales, the Northeast Trade Show, the Alumni Banquet, the Products Spectacular, the Ag Hill Olympics, the Pennsylvania Farm Show, and a tour of the Pennfield processing plant. At the International Poultry Exhibition in Atlanta this year the club won first place in the scrapbook competition.

DAIRY WEEK

DAIRY MARKET PRICE COMMENTARY

changed at $11.60 in light trading. On Monday, CSCE Jun nonfat dry milk fell 50 points to 110.00c, amid increasing inter-commodity spread trading between other dairy products. Aug also fell 50 points to 111.50c.

CSCE cheddar cheese prices were unchanged.

At the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, Grade AA butter fell 11 cents to $1.04, Grade A fell 13c to $0.93 and Grade B was 13c lower at $0.92 on Friday.

CME Jun fluid milk futures were unchanged on Monday at $12.750. The CME reported that open interest in its fluid milk market was 0, while Grade AA butter open interest was relatively heavy at 160 lots, up 10 lots from Friday.

Butter, Cheese Stocks Building

Butter inventories were seen building in most locations, while buying interest remained mixed. With prices declining, buying interest appears to be focused on the hand-to-mouth theory, but some eager buyers were building stocks for future needs.

Butter producers have mixed opinions about current butter prices and what potential export opportunities might be available at this time, the USDA dairy market report said.

Churning schedules across the country continue to increase. In the west, butter and powder processing was running at capacity for the most part.

In its last session of trading, barrels at the National Cheese Exchange in Green Bay, Wis., were unchanged at $1.1700 and 40-pound blocks fell 2c to $1.1800. Cash cheddar cheese trading will begin on the CME on Thursday at 14:15 ET.

There were 4 cars of blocks traded on offers and 1 car of blocks sold on bids. There were 6 cars of barrels left uncovered and no unfilled bids.

Current offerings exceed demand and inventories are accumulating keeping prices sliding. Production remains seasonally heavy.

Milk supplies are holding up longer than normal in most southern parts of the country, offsetting in instances, below year ago receipts in many northern states.

According to the World Agricultural Outlook Board, the US milk production forecast has increased 600 million pounds as output per cow showed more strength than earlier indicated. There are ideas this could help boost commercial use this year.

While farm milk prices were down from a year ago, they are still at relatively high levels. The recent decline in cheese prices, however, will contribute to lower milk prices, which are already weakening seasonally.

According to NASS, US cold storage holdings of butter on Mar 31 total 24.9 million pounds, up 2.8% from Feb and 48.8% lower than March 1996. Natural American cheese holdings total 387.8 million pounds, 2.6% more than last month and a 8.8% more than a year ago.

Government owned butter and cheese stocks remain negligible. Nonfat dry milk holdings at the end of February total 71 million pounds, down 5.3% compared with January and 21.1% less than a year ago.

Milk Production Peaking Amid Flush

Milk production was resting at peak levels in the south where weather was favorable. Further north, milk intakes were steady to slightly higher. Class I sales were said to have been steady, while fluid supplies continued to shift inter-regionally to find manufacturing capacity, the USDA said. Manufacturing plants continue to operate on heavy seasonal schedules.

Floods and wintry storms in South Dakota and North Dakota caused severe damage to the livestock industry for those states. In North Dakota, there 12,543 head and 59,122 calves that died in an April blizzard, a state agronomist said.

Feed grains will likely be more expensive in those areas since early plantings were delayed in many Dakota fields.

"There were some farmers who were able to go into the fields last weekend, but pretty much they are planting only in parts of the field which are dry and harvesting will also be as scattered when the crops mature," the agronomist said.

There were many cases of farmers dumping milk as a result of mastitis in cows, an inflammation of the uder and freezing udders threw many cows out of lactation cycles, some agronomists said.

Awards Presented At Junior Guernsey Breakfast

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Charlene Shupp, Wyoming County, was recently crowned the 1997-98 Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen at the annual Pennsylvania Junior Guernsey Breeders' Association Awards Breakfast.

Dressed as a lab scientist, Charlene's presentation centered around the valuable nutritional elements of milk.

At the crowning, Charlene brought the audience to tears as she told the story of her involvement with Guernseys. He uncle, who was recently deceased, had bought them for her. "It was his dream to promote the Guernsey breed. He loved farming but became an engineer," she said. "It would make him so happy to see the youth involved here today."

First runner-up was Angela Blake of Mercer who dressed as a Guernsey cow to proclaim the values of Guernsey milk.

Outgoing queen, Vickie Ansell said her family of six members each had a different breed of cattle.

"I'm so happy I got the Guernseys," she said.

She said her father had decided that by each having a different breed they would never compete against each other in the show ring.

Apple Support Structure, Pruning Techniques At Fruit Twilight Meeting

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — The "new" was downwind from the "old" — literally — Thursday evening.

About 60 fruit growers withstood steadily dropping temperatures and a howling wind after a day that saw everything from the balmy 70s to hail and thunderstorms to late-winter cold.

Orchardists came out in force to learn more about the upcoming season at the first Penn State-sponsored Lancaster/York Fruit Growers' Twilight Meeting at Hampshire Orchards in Manheim.

But what the orchard managers and agri-industry representatives came to see mostly was how close two contrasting types of apple tree support structures compared.

An older system uses two-by-two wood posts measuring eight foot high and nylon ropes holding up 5th leaf apple trees. The apple varieties include Braeburn and Fuji on summer M26 and one-third interstem rootstock.

The older system is only a short distance away from a newer, different system. The newer system, using seven-foot high aluminum conduit poles measuring a half-inch thick, is supported overhead by a high tensile fence wire linked to telephone poles.

The newer system lies on approximately three acres. Mike Hampshire, who manages the marketing of Hampshire Orchards, said the system costs about $4.50 per tree on 15-foot centers. A variety of apples are in the three acres, including Jonagold, Decoster, Red Cortland, Ginger Gold, and Royal Gala, noted David Hess, orchard manager. The new system provides a more sturdy support structure to protect the trees from wind damage.

"We needed some help besides using wooden stakes," said Hampshire.

The newer system also provides room for pruning, thinning, spraying, and other critical activities throughout the year.

Hampshire orchards is home to 40 acres of trees, half of which are peach and the other apples. The orchard is owned by Bill and Jean Hampshire, who purchased the farm in 1981 and planted the first trees in spring of 1982, according to Mike Hampshire. The first peaches were planted in the spring of 1983 and the first apples in 1984-1985, Mike said.

For three years, the Hampshires sold fruit from a barn. In 1988, they constructed the retail store, which is in its 10th year of operation. Mike said he has been working in the marketing and selling of the fruit since 1993. Hess takes care of the equipment and the orchard.

The farm also sells about 5,000 gallons of fresh-pressed apple cider each year at the market. Because of last year's light apple crop, however, they only sold 2,500 gallons, said Mike.

The orchard expanded gradually throughout the years. Besides tree fruit, the farm also grows cantaloupe, sweet corn, and other vegetables, noted Hess.

On hand at the twilight meeting were several Penn State representatives. Jim Travis, Penn State professor of plant pathology, spoke about a special fire blight information database that is being collected from orchardists. The researchers are looking at data from several orchards to "put the pieces together," he said, regarding why fireblight occurs and are looking at other factors, including varieties and environmental conditions.

Travis also spoke about concerns regarding peach leaf curl caused by a fungus. Peach leaf curl creates reddened, dead leaves on the stem, but only has one cycle in the year (unlike apple scab, which can continue to infect the leaves). It has the potential to defoliate entire peach trees, and growers should consider spraying in the fall of spring.

In the orchard, Travis looked into bark diseases that could destroy trees. In one location, with apples on M26 rootstock, the tree swayed easily. Travis dug down to the trunk collar to examine evidence that would cause the loosely swaying tree. One of three factors could be present, including fireblight (M26 rootstock is highly susceptible), collar rot (caused by a fungus in wet soil that literally travel through the water), or mouse damage (which can attack the girdles down into the roots of the tree). Growers need to dig down along the side of the trunk to look for evidence of one of those three if they suspect damage.

In this case, Travis determined the easy swaying of the trunk could have been caused by wind damage.

Travis also examined evidence of peach canker fungus, which can attack trees that have been "wounded." The fungus, which cannot penetrate healthy tree trunk, infects wounded areas of the tree and kills trees. There is suspicion that peach trees that were young in the devastating winter of 1994, in which the state lost all peach crops, will now show evidence of damage with peach canker.

Travis reviewed the latest apple scab information to the growers. Scab attacks the bloom under wet, warmer conditions. The cool, dry spring so far has delayed onset. Growers, who normally see no outbreaks by the end of June, can see problems this year possibly into July. Hail storms in the spring and temperatures reaching for extended periods into the 60s can cause development of the disease.

Fireblight could cause problems for apple growers. Three condi-

pete in a global market, that making standards more difficult to attain is unrealistic and counterproductive.

They predicted that should the standards become a reality that businesses will shut down or leave the country faster than before.

According to the document, "New standards for particles and ozone would leave at least 36 Pennsylvania counties — more than half the state — out of compliance, compared with 33 counties in violation of current standards.

"Moreover, many of the remaining areas could be in violation once more data is available."

A list of counties and a map of the state showing the out-of-compliance areas was included with the literature.

Generally, the map of the out-of-compliance areas were all low-elevation areas with relatively high populations of people, and an area west of the Allegheny Mountain ridge that is adjacent to Ohio, and that is assumed to be affected by air pollution carried in by continental winds.

Both men said that the implications for Pennsylvania are severe, especially given that agriculture is the state's largest industry.

Barr said that people sitting in Washington creating these proposed standards are not considering their impact on the quality of life, or health as it really applies.

He said that without a job, without health care, with the constant worry that is associated with a poor economy, and given that the air is cleaner than before, it doesn't make sense to increase those standards when the state hasn't had an adequate realistic opportunity to achieve thost standards.

"We're not talking about sacrificing people's health so someone can get a job," Barr said.

"We're talking about striking a balance between employement for our people and ensuring a health environment," he said, indicating that EPA bureaucrats have not considered people in coming up with the proposed standards, and that some of those people don't share the sense of risk that the majority of Americans have.

It was to infer from Barr that he holds that some people in power in the EPA and in certain lobbying groups are out of touch and make it more difficult for the general population to understand the perspective of issues and how they might be affected.

"People don't have a good idea of risk," he said. "But some people want no risk at all."

He said, for example, that while media will publicize the potential dangers associated with eating fresh fruits and vegetables that might have pesticide residues, the media does not provide perspective.

And of course, those special interest groups spearheading efforts to publicize occassional and otherwise insignificant public health events in order to gain attention and perhaps money, would be in a conflict with their self-interest if they were to provide the public with a proper perspective of the issue.

For example, he said, "There's a greater chance of walking out of your house and getting hit with a piece of falling airplane than dying from eating a piece of fruit with pesticide residue."

During the legislative banquet, George Wolff, a long-time Harrisburg lobbyist, supporter of agriculture and Grange, and president of George Wolff Associates Inc., served as master of ceremonies.

Bill Steel, State Grange master, introduced some of the presenters and made special presentations to recognize outstanding service.

Charlie Wismer, president of the Pa. State Grange Service Corporation, and a past state master, was honored for his 10 years of efforts to institute and operate the member-service non-profit corporation.

He was presented with a bag of seed corn, in tribute of the valuable service to members the corporation provides.

Sandy Westover, manager of the Pa. State Grange Credit Union and Service Corp., was honored in recognition of the Credit Union's 15-year history of sound loans. She was presented with a toy automobile with the Grange insignia and logo.

The auto also represented the fact that only one loan defaulted in 15 years and that was a truck loan that Westover repossessed herself.

A certificate of appreciation from the Pa. State Grange was presented to state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius in recognition of his service and dedication to rural Pennsylvania and agriculture during his tenure as secretary, and also in recognition of his steadfast support of the organization as an active member.

Brosius received two standing ovations from the audience, as he has received recently at some meeting of other state agricultural organizations, in support of him and in rejection of Gov. Tom Ridge's administration team requesting Brosius's resignation.

As an aside, evidence of Brosius' support in the agricultural community and beyond is evident in the fact that on Tuesday the House of Representatives approved an amendment to a piece of proposed legislation to create an agricultural law center (a proposed joint effort between Penn State University and Dickinson Law School) that would name the center after Secretary Brosius.

Brosius read a proclamation from Gov. Ridge declaring observation of Grange Week (April 20-26) and Grange Day (April 28) and then outlined some of the achievements for agriculture that have been accomplished in the two years that Ridge has been governor and Brosius secretary of agriculture.

Brosius credited the state's legislators for working in a nonpartisan manner to deal with a number of issues — such as Dog Law reform, ensuring funding for agricultural support programs and research — that had been needed for years, but had almost been untouchable because of potential political backlash.

Others who presented proclamations declaring Grange Day included sponsor Rep. Sheila Miller R-Berks, who presented a framed copy of the House proclamation to Steel; and Sen. Dan Delp, chairman of the Senate Ag and Rural Affairs Committee, also sponsor of the Senate version.

The guest speaker for the banquet was a motivational speaker, Pat Leimbach, from Ohio.

In other business, Brenda Shambaugh, legislative director for the State Grange, outlined a number of issues that are current legislative priorites for the organization.

Local tax reform, insurance for the self-employed, the Freedom to Farm Act, private property rights, ensuring the 1997 state budget (which is primarily Gov. Ridge's proposal and which has already been praised by legislators) contains adequate funding for agriculture and related agencies, a bottle bill, and capital gains tax relief are among the issues of most priority, according to Shambaugh.

Apple Support Structure, Pruning Techniques

tions, Travis said, are necessary for the development of fireblight: open flowers, wetness from rain or heavy dew, and temperatures 62 degrees or above. Those three conditions can spell onset of fireblight. Trees with blooms, especially after damaging hail, need to be treated within 24 hours with streptomycin.

Some of the apple trees as well as the peach trees were "frozen pretty hard," said David Hess, orchard manager, from the cold weather early in April this year.

Rob Crassweller, professor of horticulture at Penn State, provided pointers on tree limb spreading and correct pruning techniques to achieve maximum fruit production. It is important, Crassweller noted, for growers to "spend some time when the tree's young" in using limb spreaders and "anything you can do to slow the top down a little bit."

Crassweller also reviewed the effectiveness of a variety of commercial fruit thinning chemicals available for the grower.

Carl Felland, entomologist with Penn State's Fruit Research and Extension Center in Biglerville, told growers to treat trees for European red mites at petal fall.

Felland provided information on the efficiency of insecticides on a variety of tree fruit pests for apples and peaches. Data were obtained from the "Tree Fruit Production Guide."

Felland also looked at apple trees for evidence of mites, and found 10 mites for 10 plants, on average, he inspected Thursday at Hampshire Orchards. This is not over the threshold — but needs to be watched closely as the season progresses.

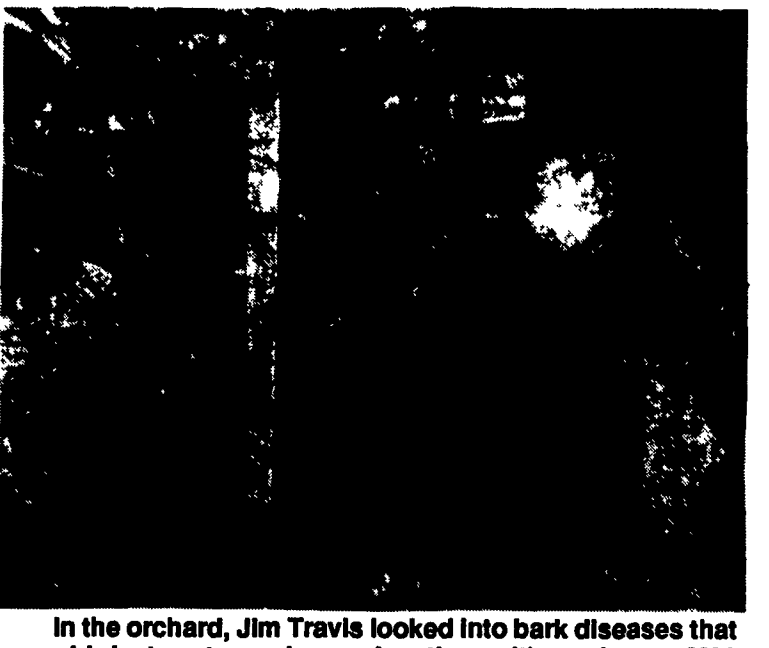
For peach growers, the green peach aphid could pose a problem, especially on nectarines, which could result in cracked and unmarketable fruit if not kept in check with a spraying program. Unfortunately, there is no "excellent" material for use against the aphid, Felland noted.

"We would like to see a better material for this insect," said Felland.

The flower thrips that were out in force to damage strawberries a couple of years ago are not in evidence this year. It could be a normal year for most strawberry fields.

Earlier on, David Hess provided a review of a homemade rope peach thinner as well as some modifications to pruning equipment.

Also, the sprayer at Hampshire Orchards was recently converted to an all-electrical system.



In the orchard, Jim Travis looked into bark diseases that could destroy trees. In one location, with apples on M26 rootstock, the tree swayed easily. Travis dug down to the trunk collar to examine evidence that would cause the loosely swaying tree. One of three factors could be present, including fireblight (M26 rootstock is highly susceptible), collar rot (caused by a fungus in wet soil that literally travel through the water), or mouse damage (which can attack the girdles down into the roots of the tree). Growers need to dig down along the side of the trunk to look for evidence of one of those three if they suspect damage.

The newer apple tree support structure uses seven-foot high aluminum conduit poles measuring a half-inch thick. The poles are supported overhead by a high tensile fence wire linked to telephone poles.

the proverbial "putting the cart before the horse," the holdups in approving final regulations for planning are formalities.

In the meantime, Miller is fully certified in his catagory.

The other two are "provisionally certified." All that means is they have to draw up several actual plans and have them approved before receiving full certification rights.

For more money and education, as well as a different test and additional requirements, Miller could have acquired certification that would have enabled him to develop a side-business creating nutrient management plans for others.

However, he chose to achieve the certification level to do only his own planning.

Miller was one of five Lebanon County farmers who received the individual certification. Four of the five in Lebanon, including Miller, were not required to have nutrient management plans.

They were volunteers.

Miller said he had been pursuing the certification because he wanted to be able to save money, and also to be able to receive the benefit of having a limit on the extent of liability to which he would be held if one of his nutrient management practices fails.

Otherwise, if something happens that violates, for example, the Clean Streams Act, he would be liable to receive fines and/or punishments, and to have to correct the situation to the satisfaction of a government agency or court.

Without the plan, he could have federal, state and local governments breathing down his neck.

With the protection of a plan, in the event of an environmental mishap, he would only have to deal directly with one agency — mostly likely the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture — and not be subject to the penalties and corrective mandates of other agencies.

As long as Miller follows an approved nutrient management plan, he is protected. And having made the plan himself, Miller said he will have a better understanding of what it really means on the farm and how well it works, than if he would have to tell someone else and have them make a plan for him.

From the left, Erik Bucks, Lebanon County nutrient management specialist, talks to Calvin Miller, a county dairy farmer who recently became one of the state's first "individual" certified nutrient management specialists, about calibrating a manure spreader to determine application rate.

According to the dairy and crop farmer, who also happens to be the chairman of the board of directors of the Lebanon County Conservation District, creating a nutrient management plan for the Wernerway Farm will also be a good way to document the conservation and nutrient management practices that have already been established.

To qualify to take the exam, he dedicated more than 23 hours of his time over several weeks.

He said participating in the pre-certification educational courses — especially the 14-hours spend on a two-day Soil Fertility Course — has helped him better understand the value of the manure to the crop, although he was already fairly familiar with the benefits.

The farm adopted nutrient management as a cost-cutting measure to reduce purchased fertilizers during the late 1970s. Later, they installed an above-ground, silo-style slurry storage structure in 1981, at their own cost, prior to cost-sharing under the Chesapeake Bay Program.

In fact, Millér said that, because of the family farm's historic practices, he anticipates record-keeping responsbilities may change little, once an official nutrient management plan is adopted.

He said he does, however, anticipate keeping better track of such things as how much manure he uses on each field, and according to the form it is in.

At Wernerway farm, there is both liquid and solid manure handling and land application.

Many ways of doing things at the farm will probably change little once a plan is drafted and approved, he said.

He already has been doing soil testing and manure testing.

The 200 acres of tillable land is in four-year rotations primarily between alfalfa and corn, and they use minimum-till techniques and self-modified equipment to handle the residue.

Cutworm Alert!

2.1 Ounces of Prevention is Worth a Field of Cure

Now more than ever, today's farmers want to get the maximum return from their field corn insecticide investment. That's where WARRIOR®, a pyrethroid foliar insecticide from your local Zeneca dealer can help. WARRIOR is highly effective against cutworms and other insects on your first trip across the field, working harder and lasting longer than Pounce, Asana or Lorsban EC. 123 Receive Nutrient Management Certification

He is concerned about the farm's well-head and water sources, soil conservation practices, and the farm's profitability.

Miller said that the family is mulling over installing a milking parlor and perhaps a greenhouse (for calves or maybe the milking herd). Those changes could well require changes in a nutrient management plan.

In fact, having an existing plan should help make farming decisions.

Projecting the potential nutrient management changes that would probably be associated with a change in the farm operation would allow Miller to evaluate, fairly soundly, the effects of those changes to the day-to-day farming activities and profitability.

At the same time the five Lebanon County farmers took their certification test, Lebanon County Conservation District Nutrient Management Specialist Erik Bucks took his.

Bucks sought and received both public and commercial provisional certifications.

Individual farmers are fully certified, according Melanie Wertz, PDA certification program coordinator, because they only have their farm plan to submit for approval.

The other catagories require plans developed for others.

Those seeking full commercial certification must submit three completed and approved plans to receive full certification.

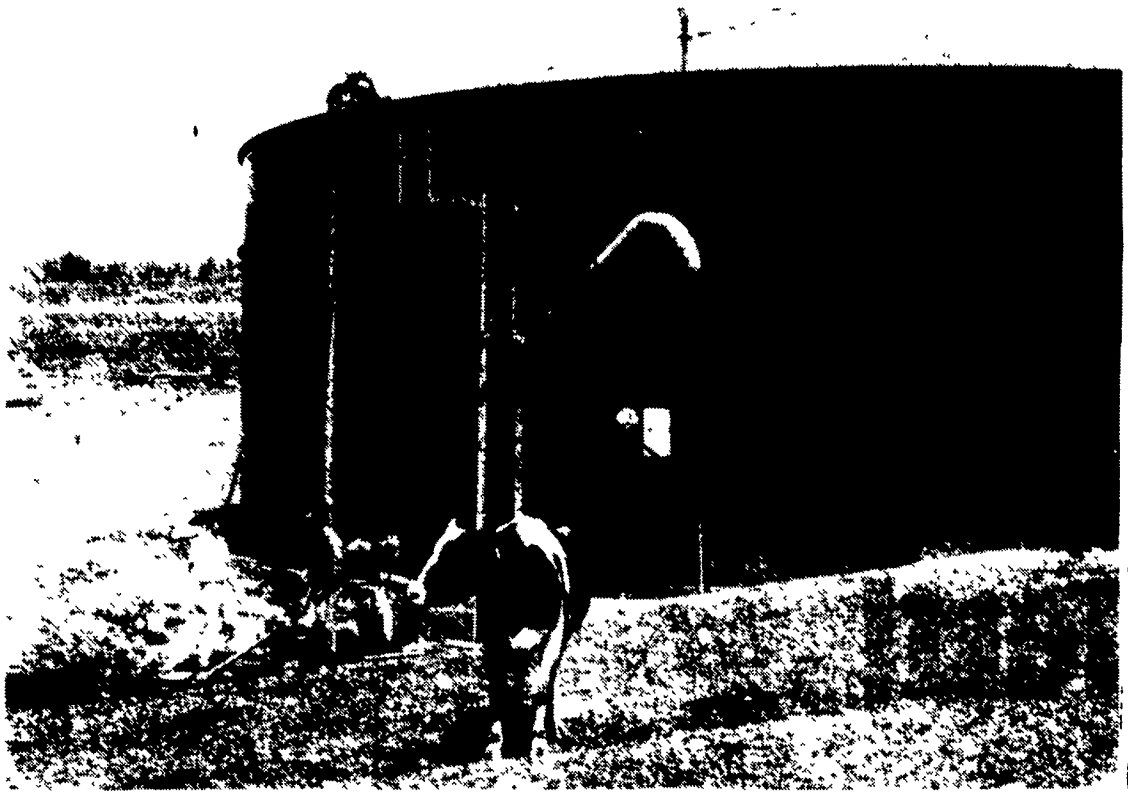
As an employee of the district who has been working under the Chesapeake Bay Program, Bucks would need certification in order to conduct the Bay work.

All the Chesapeake Bay plans need to be reviewed and approved as official plans.

Up until the creation of Act 6 and regulations, there was no such thing as a legally binding nutrient management plan, although they were considered by courts and banks as showing evidence of responsibility and stewardship.

And since the Lebanon District

(Turn to Page A38)



Erik Bucks, Lebanon County nutrient management specialist, and Calvin Miller, a county dairy farmer who recently became one of the first in the state to receive his certification as an "individual" nutrient specialist, look over a 1981-installed liquid manure storage facility. Liquid manure storage is one of many options for handling manure on a farm.

Sitting at a computer in his office, Lebanon County Conservation District Nutrient Management Specialist Erik Bucks uses a Penn State nutrient management program to help develop a nutrient management plan.

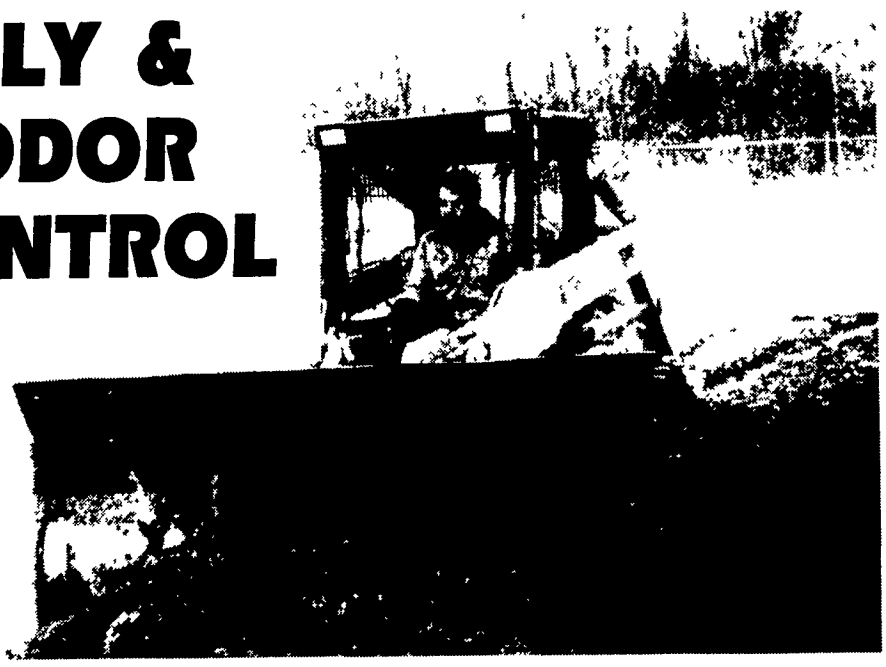
FLY & ODOR CONTROL



BIG PERFORMANCE...SMALL PRICE

SIMPLE PROCEDURE: the aerator works directly into the bed of material, forming its own windrow. Windrows can be formed from piles of nearly any size. Alleyways are not required when using the Brown aerator, so there is a great reduction in space requirements. The aerator's reverse rotation works the material from the bottom up and to the side, assuring complete mixing and agitation. LOW MAINTENANCE: the aerator is a simple design, the principle as a material mover has been proven with over 30 years experience in practical application. The aerator is hydraulically driven and equipped with patented wearplates or paddles, both of which are easily replaced.

$2,900 Paid For Top Guernsey Heifer

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Oakland Magics Peppy, owned by James H. Moser of Chicora, brought the top dollars at the 18th annual Blue Halter Calf Sale held at the Bedford County Fairgrounds during the conclusion of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders Association Convention.

The heifer was purchased for $2900 by Gordon Huckins of Ashland, New Hampshire.

Second highest was a calf, "Snider's Enhancer Brazil, ET" owned by Snider Homestead Farms, New Enterprise. She went for $2,800 and was also purchased by Gordon Huckins.

Averages at the sale were as follows: Golden Guernsey Calves, three head average $1,316.66. Blue Halter Calf, 15 head average, $1,046.66. Added Consignment, 10 head, $1,520.

Auctioneers were Mike Weimer of Emlenton and Pedigrees were done by David R. Smith of Anneville.

A total of 28 lots were presented to buyers who had come from all over the eastern United States.

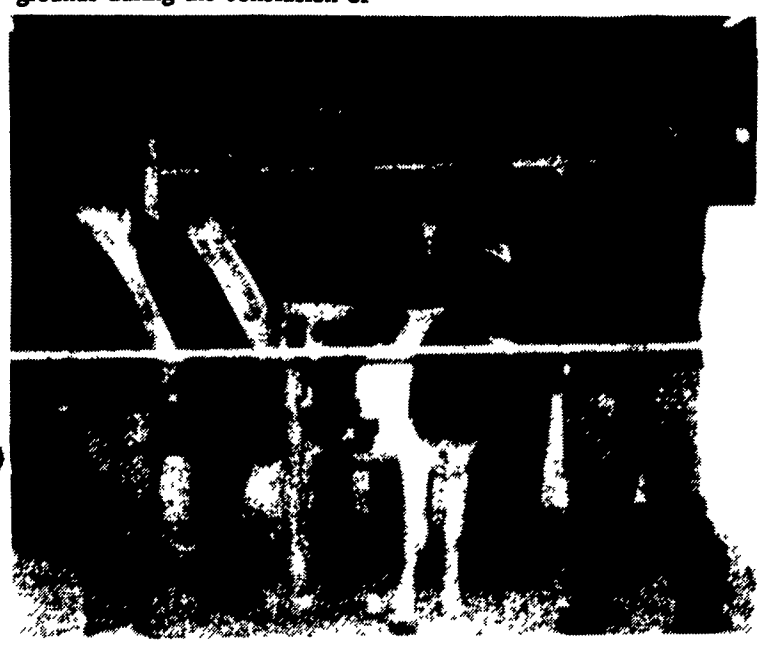
The Guernsey Gold Heifer Sale started in 1986 as a small sale of select open heifers for junior members.

In 1996, 12 calves were sold through six different sales that were entered in the Guernsey Gold calf project. These 12 calves sold for an average of $1,406. The top production winner of this group will be awarded $1,000 at the 1999 National Convention.

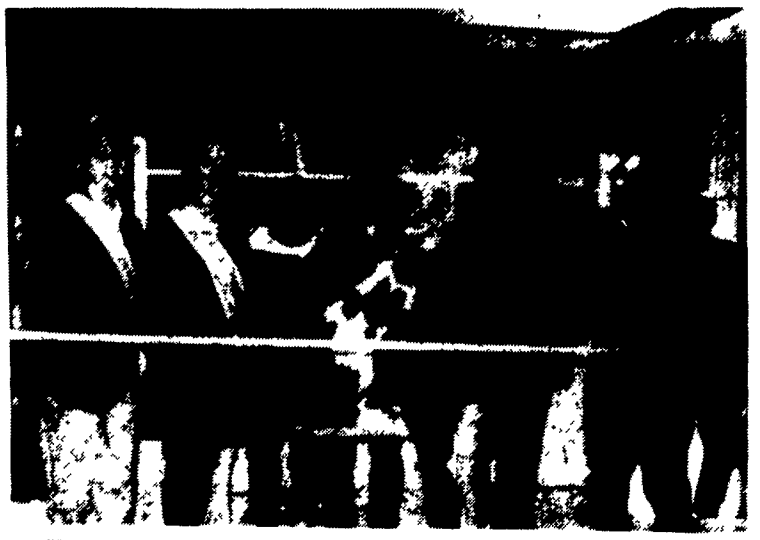
In 1997, five sales are participating in the Guernsey Gold program. They include Pennsylvania Blue Halter Sale, National Convention Sale, Upper Mid-West Spring Sale, International Guernsey Classic, and Oregon State Sale.

All juniors are encouraged to participate in this program by bidding on the Guernsey Gold consignments. The production winners from the calves purchased will be recognized at the 2000 National Guernsey Convention.

Guernsey Gold Consignments at the Bedford sale included: Crown Stone Harpoon Geneva, owned by Schnebley Williams of Crown Stone Farm in Clear Spring, Maryland; Maple Knoll Enhancer Dolly, owned by Richard O. and Victoria Smith of Maple Knoll Farms, New Hope; and Level Square Hot Shot Won, owned by Level Square Associates, James R. Spies Jr., Henderson, Maryland.



This Guernsey brought $2,800 in the sale held in conjunction with the 1997 Pennsylvania Guernsey Convention: Shown are Charlene Shupp, Wyoming, Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen; Meredeth Welderspahn, Pennsylvania Alternate from Crawford County; Jim Trotter, Gordon Huckins (buyer), and Brandon Snider. The consigner was Snider Homestead Farms, New Enterprise.



Top in the Guernsey sale was "Oakland Magic's Peppy" which sold for $2,900. Shown here are Charlene Shupp, Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen; Meredith Wiederspan, first alternate Pennsylvania Dairy Princess. Becky and Sandy Moser of Moser's Dairy, Chicora, were the consigners. Jim Trotter, Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' business manager; Alicia McDonald at the halter and Gordon Huckins and wife, Martha (not in the picture) of Ashland, New Hampshire were the buyers of the heifer. In the background are Mike Weimer, auctioneer, and Dave Smith, who read the pedigrees.

SOIL COMMANDERS
4-5-7-9 Shanks

The Brillion Soil Commanders take Residue Management to the next generation of soil conservation efficiency.
The Soil Commanders are versatile tillage tools designed to meet the needs of the mid-size farmer who uses a 150-200 H.P. tractor. One of the keys to the machine's versatility is that it uses interchangeable shank legs and individually mounted disk assemblies instead of a disk gang. This makes possible a machine with disk assemblies on the front and rear of the frame with chisel plow or deep-ripper shanks on 15", 24", 27" or 30" spacings.

would need someone to approve plans, it was agreed by the board of directors that Bucks could try to split his time between working for the Bay program and working as the official county nutrient management plan reviewer and specialist.

If splitting his duties works out, that would result in a savings of salary funding, and desk and office space in the Conservation District office.

Bucks said he truly loves his work and is looking forward to the challenges.

At the same time, because of his expertise, Bucks was also the instructor for the five Lebanon County farmers in the prerequisite studies to prepare for their exams.

As a writer of a number of nutrient management plans for farms under the Chesapeake Bay Program, which sought to establish best management practices (BMPs) on livestock operations within the watershed basin, he has experience in working with the concepts and establishing a soundly considered plan.

However, he still has to write up three plans after the regulations become finalized.

Over the past year, since certification regulations for nutrient management have been approved, the state nutrient management program has been developing toward becoming fully operational.

The state's Act 6 (Nutrient Management Act) has been in effect for three years, and, given deadline expectations and despite some delays caused by the change in governorship and his administration as well as key state agencies, work has been progressing fairly quickly to develop the program through establishing regulations and guidelines.

Those who helped develop the law and the subsequent regulations have created a solid envisionment of how a desirable program would function.

That common vision was worked out between representatives of "stakeholders" to nutrient management — environmentalists, citizen's advocate, bankers, river and water quality managers, producers of hogs, poultry, dairy, and beef animals, animal feeds, crop consultants, and fertilizer companies.

Though getting the Act passed took a number of years and involved, at times, some potentially contentious political manuevering, for the most part, the Act satisfied all involved.

For those seeking to uphold Gov. Robert Casey's pledge that the nutrient flow to the Chesapeake Bay would be reduced by 40 percent by 2000 and who considered agriculture to be the main culprit, it represented an opportunity to make the high density livestock operations begin to take full responsibility for the historically and unusually high levels of manure produced per acre.

In some cases, manure applications to land were overdone out of a lack of knowledge of the levels of nutrients in the manure (it is still far from an exact science, even with full manure testing and following an approved plan).

In other cases, the lack of regulatory controls provided the opportunity to gain a high profit reward by producing a great volume of livestock and manure on a small amount of acreage, and then ignoring the consequences of the excess manure on cropland.

Local municipal ordinances began being adopted, especially in areas where residential development adjoins or surrounds high density livestock operations.

Those ordinances, aimed at curtailing runaway manure production and land applications were affecting normal and responsible agricultural operations.

In an effort to put an end to the growing finger pointing at agriculture for the decline in the water quality of tributaries to the Susquehanna River, agricultural organizations actually sought to be the first included under a nutrient management law.

It resulted with high density farms being considered "concentrated animal operations (CAOs)" which are now to be required to develop nutrient management plans with the goal of shooting for a 0-balance flow of nitrogen.

The farmer is allowed to use as much nitrogen as he wishes, as long as he is under control of it and can keep it from affecting the environment surrounding the farm. That's what a plan is to show, how the farmer manages his nitrogen.

Only nitrogen is of legal concern under the law, although don't expect plans that call for overloading with other nutrients.

For his brother's wheat stubble field, he said spikes are to be put on the front row and the 18-inch medium crown sweeps to the back.

Erik Bucks and Calvin Miller look over a modified piece of field equipment for preparing a field with residue. Miller doesn't own a disc and modified this nine-shank chisel plow with 18-inch sweeps on the front and 24-inch sweeps on the rear row in order to do minimum tillage.

Pasture Walks, Conservation Tours Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — A number of conservation and grazing organizations are cosponsoring a series of pasture walks and field days to offer insights into actual practices.

• May 7, Wednesday 10 a.m. to noon, DST — Jacob Zook, 1178 White Oak Road, Christiana — From Rt. 896 at Nine Points, travel east on Noble Rd., about one mile and then travel south on White Oak Road about 0.5 mile. Grazing about 4 years, 100 acres, all grass, 60 cows interested in soil quality, conservation and milk production.

• June 5, Thursday 10 a.m. to noon DST — Samuel K. King, 3568 Scenic Road, Gordonville — From Rt. 340 at Intercourse, travel north on Hollander Road to Scenic Road. First farm on left. Grazing about 5 years 50 acres, all grass, 40 cows, lane management sodded, exercise lots, runoff control.

• June 17, Tuesday 10 a.m. to noon DST — Matt Young, Red Knob Farm, 581 Nottingham Road, Peach Bottom — From Rt. 222/272 in Wakefield, travel east on Rt. 272 about 2 miles and turn right onto Balance Meeting Road (gravel) at farm sign. Whole-farm water quality program, utilizing terraces, waterways, grass filter strips, water collecting areas, and no-till cropping. Hear about stream fencing and cattle crossing. Milks 450 cows. Manure is composted and liquids are irrigated.

• July 8, Tuesday 10 a.m. to noon and beyond DST — Roman Stoltzfoos, Springwood Farm, 1143 Gap Road, Kinzers — From Route 741 in Gap, travel south on Mine Road about 0.25 miles, and turn left on Gap Road. Proceed about 1.5 miles to farm on left. Five years of grazing and experience. 90 cows on 150 acres of pasture. Pasture walk will focus on certified organic production utilizing a grass-based production system. Gary Zimmer and Peter Creguer, farmers and soil consultants will be present. Afternoon program will focus on productive, healthy soils.

• July 24, Thursday 10 a.m. to noon, DST — Tim Kurtz, Jurtland Farms, Elverson — From Route 23 in Morgantown, travel east about 2.5 miles to traffic light at Twin Valley Road. Continue on Route 23 to first farm on right. Farms 250 acres and milks about 70 cows. Conservation measures include stream fencing, stream crossing with concrete slats and barnyard runoff. Project planning, design and cost share assistance will be discussed.

• July 29, Tuesday 10 a.m. to noon, DST — Aaron Stoltzfoos, Welsh Vue Farm, 262 Meetinghouse Road, Gap — From Route 340 at White Horse, travel north on Meetinghouse Road about 1 mile to farm on left. Pasture management and farmstead improvement will be featured. 80-acre farm, 50 cows are rotationally grazed on 12 acres. Concrete slats used in cow lanes and stream crossings. Observe and hear about runoff control and herd health. Farmstead evaluation, materials, costs and cost-share assistance will also be discussed.

• August 5, Tuesday 10 a.m. to noon, DST — Aaron M. King, Fairview Fruit Farm, 96 Paradise Lane, Ronks — From Cherry Hill south of Route 30 at Paradise, travel west on Paradise Lane to first farm on left. Grazing for a number of years, 20 acres of pasture, 40 cows, sells seeds, experimented with grazing a variety of crops and grasses. Display and demonstration of weed conotrol and no-till seeding.

• August 26, Tuesday 10 a.m to noon, DST — Mike S. Zook, 300 Poplar Road, Honey Brook — From Route 322 in Honey Brook, travel north on Route 10 about 1 mile. Turn right on Poplar Road and proceed to first farm on right. Grazing since 1987. 53 acres and 50 cows, 10 acres of pasture plus rye is used to supplement the TMR. Program will feature pasture walk, nutrient management planning, concrete slats in stream crossings, stream fencing and cost-share options.

• September 9, Tuesday 10 a.m. to noon, DST — Levi J. Fisher, 160 Furnace Road, Quarryville — From Route 896 in Georgetown travel west on Furnace Road about 1 mile to farm on right. Grazing about 4 years, 75 acres pasture, experimented with grazing a variety of crops and grasses.

• October 7, Tuesday 10 a.m. to noon, DST — Samuel K. Glick, 99 Quarry Road, Leola — From Leola, travel west on Route 23 about 1 mile and turn north on Quarryville Road. Proceed about 1 mile to farm on right. Discussions will focus on: managing rotational sod exercise lots, species, fencing, water options, livestock management and herd health.

• October 14, Tuesday 10 a.m. to noon, DST — Alvin J. Stoltzfus, 694 Country Lane, Paradise — From Route 741 2 miles west of Gap, turn south on the non-paved road (Country Lane) at the Country Lane Coach Shop sign and proceed to second farm. Grazing about 5 years, 90 acres in grass, 40 cows, just starting into seasonal calving, extended season grazing.

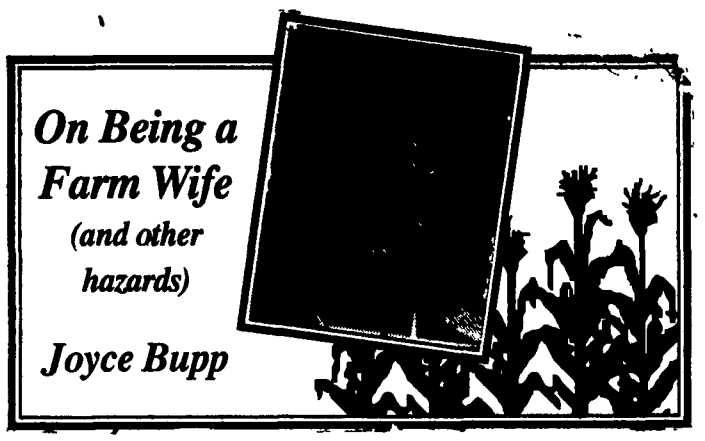
THE BEST TIRES IN THE WORLD HAVE GOODYEAR WRITTEN ALL OVER THEM

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, Nov. 3, 1979



They stand poised, like debutantes, to be introduced on stage to an eager, waiting audience.

Graceful and lithe of limb, they show the promise that will come with maturity.

For months, the trees have stood before us striped to their skeletons, their inner, intricate structures of trunk and limbs exposed in bare silhouette against the sky. But, even in their leafless state, trees add interest to the landhoods to wildlife.

During their months of inner exposure, our farmstead trees yield up an inventory of the nests they have concealed and sheltered, homes for another generation of hungry baby birds. The nests range from the larger ones to robins, perhaps tucked in the crook of a heavier branch high up in the maples, to a dainty, palm-sized one carefully tucked into the middle of the pussywillow.

And we can always depend on seeing, near the tip of at least one of the old maples, a large, somewhat messy-looking clump of dried leaves into which a squirrel will have been snuggling. While the squirrel's nests generally look a bit scruffy, their success in keeping a pile of dried leaves together at all, with the wind we have at 40 feet above the ground, puts me in awe of a squirrel's engineering skills.

Of special satisfation to us was discovering after last fall's leaf drop — for the second consecutive year — a nest of Northern (Baltimore) Oriole. Each of the tightly-woven, teardrop-shaped nests has been fastened by the oriole parents way, way out at the very end of a slender limb on the lower edge of the tree. Perhaps the breeze can best rock their hatchlnigs to sleep that way.

And while we heard these birds revealed where their nests were suspended — just 10 feet above our heads as we mowed the back yard. The orioles have a standing invitiation to go over our heads in such a manner at any time.

But now, May ushers in the return of the trees, back for their annual summer reruns in full-blown leaf. Already they have begun softening the dark, starkness of the winter woods with delicate, pale color. And the spring wildflowers, which bloom on the woodlot floor beneath, make haste to bloom and set seed pods before the thickening canopy overhead completely shades out their sunlight.

Our weeping willow at the pond is one of the first, pushing hints of slender foliage out the sides of the tender, cascading branches for which is is named. The devastating ice storm of last spring badly shredded some large portions of this nearly 23-year-old tree. That's about the life spand for willows anyway, in our experience. But the return of foliage greatly softens the effect of the loss of several of the willow's large limbs, leaving it less awkward looking. It's the favorite tree of the geese — they like to "park" on the grass beneath it on sunny summer mornings.

greenery are the maples, first sending out fluffy green "flowers," followed by reddish-tinted young leaves. Their extremely thick growth around the house provides our home's no-cost version of summer air-conditioning — but prevents anything else from growing these, except for crabgrass and exceptionally tough weeds.

Other hardwoods in the meadow fencerows and the woodlot open foliage at varying times, with the subtle color of the combined blend changing almost daily. Locusts and hickory and wild cherry and oak, dogwoods, swampmaple, and sassafrass, and sycamore each contribute their own shading to the combined "green" color of the woods. In the space of about the first week of May, each will lose its identity within the woods as a riot of leaves erupts, and from the distance to the back porch, can be seen as one massive canopy. Our neighbors in the adjoinig wooded housing development will nearly disappear from view and the barely-seen traffic on the interstate will visibly vanish behind the lush leaf growth.

This modern, fast-paced, technological society of ours h become masterful at tearing dow trees and replacing them with the paved-over, roofed-over, built-over whatever. Unfortunately, we haven't yet figured out how to instantly replace the benefits each fallen tree contributed to our quality of life. But it does help if we each just plant one now and then.

So invest in your future oxygen supply.

Plant a tree.

Celebrate Mesclun

Tiny garden lettuce makes spring and fall delightful. Here's why! Mesclun means a mixture of tiny garden lettuces and greens.

The National Garden Bureau has designated 1997 as the Year of the Mesclun. Grow these mixtures in sunny window boxes, other containers, or in garden plots.

Mesclun is a French term for mixes of tender young lettuces and other greens. The Provencal French tradition calls for chervil, arugula, a Bibb lettuce, and curly endive in precise proportions. Others add a red lettuce or chicory.

Popular American mesclun blends, however, may include arugula, endives, mustards, purslane, wild chicory, cresses, parsleys, fennels, escarole, and tender wild greens as well, including Bibb lettuce, Romaine, oakleaf, and crisphead lettuces.

Nearly all of these plants have distinctive flavors, textures, and uses. For tender shoots, sprouts, or tiny plants, more is not better. These plants go a long way in cooking and salads.

Mesclıns may be pleasantly pungent or mild, depending on which greens are included. For example, miner's lettuce is mild and succulent. Add it to tender Bibb or leaf lettuce.

Mesclun may include varieties of greens that are comparatively unknown to American gardeners. You'll find mizuna greens, a delicate, leafy green from Japan, and tat-soi, another Asian green with dark leaves.

Mizuna greens are quick and easy growing. They form a clump of finely dissected leaves. Known for their tenderness, mizuna is harvested at any time for a salad and for cooking.

Tat-soi is also known as rosette pak choi. Growing close to the ground, it has very dark spoon-shaped, green leaves that form a perfect rosette like cabbage. In fact, the name means, "very ancient cabbage." Like mizuna, the plants can survive both frost and snow.

Cultivated French purslane, a succulent relative of our well-known garden weed, is a choice European salad ingredient. It has tart, lemony leaves that are a rich source of Vitamin E plus Omega-3 fatty acids, said to reduce the risk of heart disease. A golden-leafed variety is also cultivated in Mediterranean countries. It is generally sown in the spring and harvested throughout the summer. Pick only the tender young shoots. It can be lightly cooked like spinach.

Seed houses usually custom-blend mixes based on flavors, pungent or mild, or may mix the seeds according to season. Thus there may be mesclun mixes for hot weather, for mild climates, and for cool seasons. Mesclun is a real treat for the eye as well, with mixes of colors, textures, and leaf forms.

Once you've selected your seed, start by preparing a light garden soil rich in organic matter. A potting mix can also be used in containers. Take several seeds from several packets, and combine and sprinkle over moist soil. Keep the soil surface moist until most of the seed sprouts.

Another way of seeding is planting each variety separately and mixing the varieties at harvest. Whichever system you use, pick the tender shoots and leaves when 2 to 3 inches long.

Of course, you can make your own special blend of mesclun that suits your particular palate. It may take some experimentation to get your blend just right, but that's the fun of gardening!

You can request a detailed six-page fact sheet on mesclun from the National Garden Bureau by writing them at NGB, 1311 Butterfield Road, Suite 310, Downers Grove, IL 60515-5605.

Woody Plants For Garden Conference

SWARTHMORE (Delaware Co.) — A conference, entitled "Woody Plants for the Landscape and Garden Center Industries" will be held Friday, July 18, from 8:45 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. in the Lang Performing Arts Center, Swarthmore College.

Intended for avid gardeners, nursery and garden center personnel, landscape designers, and horticulture professionals, the conference will educate and inform people about the wealth and beauty of woody plants and show how to grow plants to their fullest.

This day-long conference features five nationally-known speakers: Dick Bir of North Carolina State University; Peter Del Tredici, director of living collections at the Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University; Kim Tripp, director of the Botanic Garden of Smith College in Northampton, Mass. and associate for research at the Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University; and Joe Eck and Wayne Winterrowd, partners in North Hill, a garden design firm in south-central Vermont.

The topics are appropriate woody plants for different situations; an exploration of the most ornamental viburnums; the biological principles, horticultural practices, and illustrious plants that contribute to the creation of a diverse garden; the role roots play in establishing woody plants; and the contribution woody plants make in shaping garden structure and providing four-season beauty.

There will also be a potpourri of new and underused plants presented by area horticulturists, study tours of the Scott Arboretum, a free Pennsylvania Horticultural Society Gold Medal Award-winning plant to the first 300 conference registrants, and books authored by conference speakers for sale throughout the day.

The cost for the conference is $60 and includes lunch. Registration is limited and advance registration is required.

For more information or to request a conference brochure, call the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society at (215) 988-8800 or the Scott Arboretum at (610) 328-8025.

Farm Theme Park Being Built As Kauffman Memorial

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

COLUMBIA (Lancaster Co.) — Those who travel South Prospect Road near Farmdale School can't help but notice the perky pig cutouts scampering across the barn and the pig-shaped mailbox on Kauffman's Windy Hill Farm.

"Caution: Pig Zone," warns the sign. Unfortunately, there are no longer any pigs in the barn.

"Abe loved pigs and was a farmer at heart," Betty Lou Kauffman said of her late husband, who, in addition to having a 30-sow operation, was the West Hempfield Township supervisor.

Betty Lou candidly talks about the death of her husband.

"It's important that others, especially farmers, know the dangers of working around carbon monoxide," she said.

This past December, Abe was changing the oil and the lawn mower blades inside one of the farm sheds.

"He propped the door partially open and started up the mower. He often worked like this before without any problem," Betty Lou said.

But this time, doctors suspect that there was not sufficient air flow. Because carbon monoxide stays low to the floor and is odorless, when Abe lay down on the floor to work on the mower, his heart simply stopped beating. Abe died from heart arythmia. He was found lying on the floor with a scraper in his hand.

A pathologist explained that red blood cells normally carry oxygen to the lungs, but carbon monoxide, if present, replaces the oxygen and binds itself irreversibly to the red blood cells. Red blood cells live 60 days, so carbon monoxide will remain in the body during that time.

A week before Abe's death, he had been working in a manhole where carbon monoxide was also present. The pathologist believes that it is possible that Abe already had a carbon monoxide buildup from the manhole incident and didn't require breathing much more of the odorless gas to cause heart arythmia.

In memory of Abe, Betty Lou and his friends are creating a farm play area at the Fairview Park.

"When business people asked me what they could do as a memorial to Abe, I suggested the farm-theme park," Betty Lou said.

"It's in keeping with one of Abe's favorite pastimes," Betty Lou said. The idea was also enhanced by her memory of how the school children walking along the road always petted the pig mailbox and seemed intrigued by the pig cutouts on the barn. Abe was also instrumental in installing playground equipment at Silver Springs Park.

Fairview Park, which is in West Hempfield Township, has several playing fields but few play equipment for little children who often accompany parents and siblings who play soccer and softball.

A silo slide, a barn climber, and handicapped accessible swings are part of the plan for the farm-theme park.

Initial plans call for the perimeter of the area to outline the shape of a pig.

In addition to catching the attention of the heavy air traffic that flies over the township, "it will be something for Abe to see when he looks down from heaven," said Larry Groff of Lancaster Ford Tractor, one of the organizers of the memorial.

As an art teacher, Betty Lou is putting her artistic talents to work by drawing farm animals on T-shirts. The animals on the white T-shirt are to be colored with fabric crayons that are sold with the shirts.

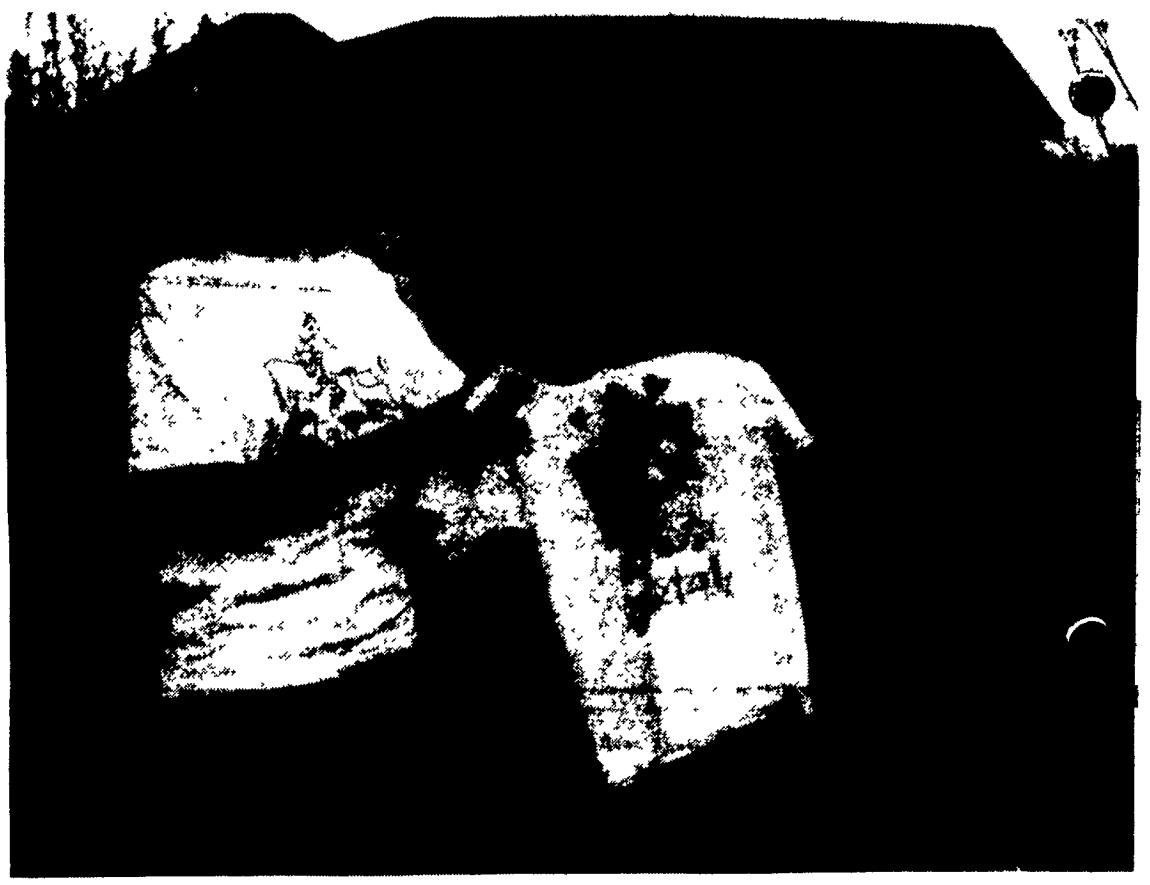
"The fabric crayons work really well. After you color the shirt, you cover it with paper and press with a hot iron to set the color," Betty Lou said. "The color is really permanent. I washed and scrubbed mine several times and the color doesn't fade."

Community members who have rallied around the memorial have come up with several unique ideas for fundraisers for the theme park. These include the following events:

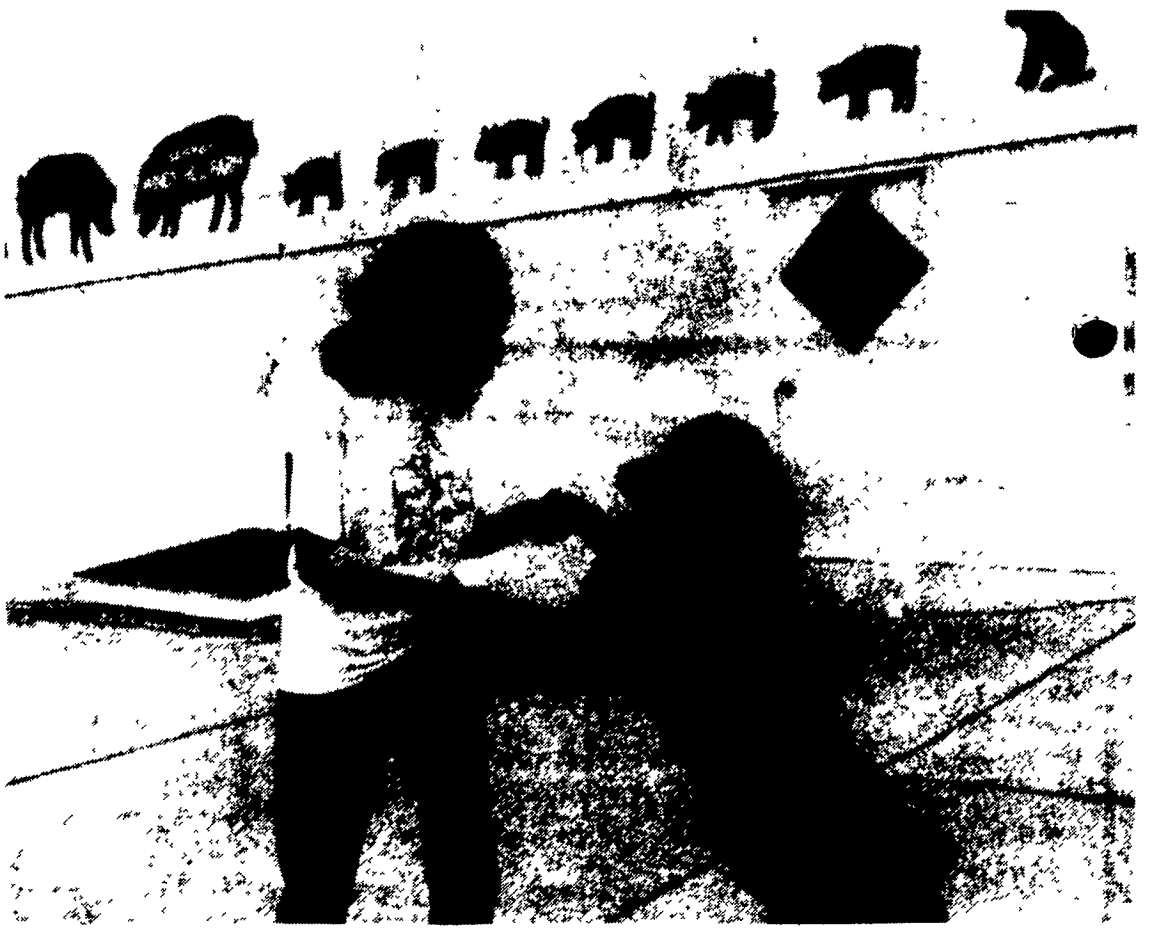
- Community picnic and pig roast will serve North Carolina style pork sandwiches, potato chips, cole slaw, ice cream cup, drink, napkin, and utensils for $5. Pig roast will be held at the Fairview Park from 11:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m. on May 17. Tickets should be purchased prior to the event (phone numbers at the end of this article).
- T-shirts designed by Betty Lou. A pack of fabric crayons are included to color the farm animals on the shirt. Price is $9 each for each shirt and set of crayons plus $1.50 for shipping and handling.
- Animal shapes are available to trace your child's hand outline and signature. One animal shape is $15. Three or more animal shapes for a family is $13 each. The shapes will be attached to the two-rail perimeter fence outlining the farm-theme area.

Directions to Fairview Park: From Lancaster Route 30 West to Prospect Road Exit, turn right on Prospect Road, approximately 3 miles to stop sign, continue straight about one city block, turn left at Fairview Tavern on Fairview Rd., Park is on the right about .8 of a mile.

For more information about the Donald "Abe" Kauffman Memorial Fund or to order a T-shirt or pig roast tickets, write to 4338 Fairview Rd., Columbia, PA 17512 or call Carole Heth (717) 684-9054 or Betty Lou Kauffman at (717) 684-5510.

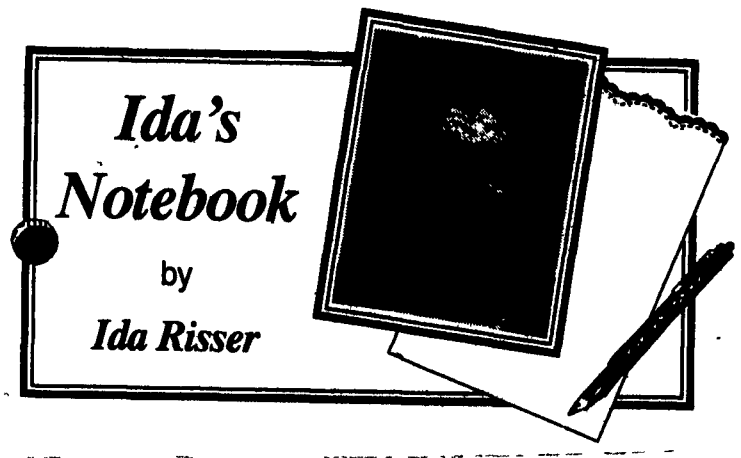


Betty Lou Kauffman wears and holds the T-shirts she designed to raise funds to establish a farm-theme playground in memory of her husband Abe Kauffman. The white T-shirt comes with a pack of fabric crayons so that the wearer can color the farm animals on the shirt. Price is $9 for a shirt and a set of crayons with directions on how to permanently set the color.



Kauffman's Windy Hill Farm attracts the attention of passerbys with the sow, boar, and piglets that Betty Lou Kauffman designed and her late husband Abe cut out of wood. Until his death in December, Abe raised pigs on the farm and worked as the West Hempfield zoning officer.

OMESTEAD OTES



This past weekend was a busy one as we had company invited for Sunday supper. Then several people came to visit on Saturday and also on Sunday afternoon. They were all interested in geneology and we shared information. The one family had been to Germany twice to visit in the village of Gommersheim where our common ancestor lived. Some of the family is still there. Another lady gave me a picture of the first lady who kept house in our 1813 brick farmhouse.

This same weekend I had promised to bake several dozen cupcakes for our church to serve at Crispus Attucks in Lancaster. And, I wanted to make a big apple cake for our Sunday company. As I had just made a big chocolate cake, from a prize winning recipe at the Pa. Farm Show, I had to empty the pan to use it for the next one. Luckily we can share food with our son's family.

Saturday afternoon was spent at a travelogue in Lititz on Napal. This one was especially interesting as their culture is so very different from ours. They work very hard with primitive tools to build houses. One third of their days in each year are religious holidays and so they have many days to celebrate.

When I got home on Saturday, it was time to arrange flowers that I bought for the dining room table. Another time-consuming job was getting an old quilt and a colorful coverlet out of a blanket chest to put on the beds. Some people appreciate such things and others could not care less. It is always interesting to see who is observant and notices furnishings. It all seems to depend on what your own interests are at the time.

Rhubarb Stalks Its Place In The Culinary World

Rhubarb is a hardy perennial that forms a large storage root plus a mass of feeder roots underground. The roots produce buds that grow long, thick, reddish stalks with leaves. Only the stalks are safe for consumption. The leaves contain oxalic acid, which makes them poisonous.

Rhubarb reaches its peak in May. Although rhubarb springs up in gardens year after year, homegrown rhubarb is considered more tart than that grown in a hot house.

When buying rhubarb, select fresh, firm, straight stalks. Look for bright colors — pink and red. Avoid stems that are too large as they can be hollow and fibrous or too thin because they lack flavor.

Refrigerated, rhubarb will keep for several days. Rhubarb is easy to freeze. Cut cleaned stalks into 1- to 2-inch pieces. Place in covered flat pan in the freezer until frozen. Pack in moisture proof bags and return to freezer.

RHUBARB BREAD

2¼ cups flour
1½ cups packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup buttermilk
½ cup vegetable oil
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup finely chopped rhubarb
2 tablespoons flour
Butter
Sugar

Grease four 6x3x2-inch loaf pans or two 8x4x2-inch loaf pans; set aside.

In large mixing bowl, stir together 2¼ cup flour, brown sugar, baking soda, and salt; set aside.

In mixing bowl, combine egg, buttermilk, oil, and vanilla. Stir into dry ingredients; mix well. Toss rhubarb with 2 tablespoons flour; fold rhubarb into batter. Pour batter into prepared pans. Dot each loaf with 2 to 3 teaspoons butter and sprinkle each loaf with 2-3 teaspoons granulated sugar. Bake in a 350 degree oven until a wooden pick inserted near the center comes out clean. Bake 40 minutes for the small loaves and 55 minutes for the large loaves. Cool in pans 10 minutes. Remove from pans; cool thoroughly on wire rack. Serve warm of cool.

RHUBARB CRUNCH

Mix until crumbly:

1 cup flour, sifted
¾ cup uncooked oatmeal
1 cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup melted butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Cover with 4 cups diced rhubarb. Combine the following:

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Press half of crumbs in a greased 9-inch baking pan. Add diced rhubarb. Combine second mixture and cook until thick and clear. Pour over rhubarb. Top with remaining crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Kitchen Kettle Village's annual Rhubarb Festival is one of Lancaster County's most popular culinary events, for its colorful menu of rhubarb beverages, pastries, and main entrees and zany rhubarb-inspired activities the whole family can enjoy. Shown above are the winning entries of last year's Best Rhubarb Pie contest.

RHUBARB PUNCH

Fill canner ¾ full wiht water and boil. After water boils, fill with rhubarb until it reaches the water line. Cover and bring to a boil. Turn off heat and steep 20 minutes. Strain juice. To every 6-quarts of juice, add 3 cups sugar

12-ounce can frozen orange juice

Put into jars and seal. Water process 10 minutes.

When serving, add 1 package pink lemonade Kool-aid to each quart of juice. A small amount of 7-Up or Sprite is delicious when added.

An excellent way to use up a lot of rhubarb.

The annual Rhubarb Festival at Kitchen Kettle Village in Intercourse will be held Saturday, May 17, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

In addition to a full schedule of activities the whole family can enjoy, the festival will also spotlight its annual Best Rhubarb Pie in Lancaster County Contest for the benefit of the Four Diamonds Fund at the Hershey Medical Center.

Pie competition will be divided into three categories—single crust, double crust, and chiffon/cream (which includes meringue style pies). All entries will be judged for overall appearance, flavor, and texture. Gift certificate awards for the top three places in each category and a $100 cash prize for the Best of Show will be awarded.

Entries should be delivered to the Kitchen Kettle Village Bake Show on Friday, May 16, between 9 and 10 a.m. Each entry should include a neatly printed or typed card that includes the entrant's name, address, phone number, category entered, and the recipe.

Pre-register by calling Mel Hauser at Kitchen Kettle Villaage (717) 768-8261.

Pastry:

2¼ cups flour
⅔ cup shortening
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup cold water

Filling:

3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups fresh rhubarb, cut into small pieces
1 can cherry pie filling

To make pastry, combine flour and salt in a mixing bowl. Cut shortening into flour with a pastry blender or two knives. Do not over mix. Ingredients are sufficiently blended when particles are the size of peas. Add water gradually, sprinkling 1 tablespoon at a time over mixture. Toss lightly with a fork until all particles of flour have been dampened. Use only enough water to hold the pastry together when it is pressed between the fingers. It should not feel wet.

Divide dough into two equal portions, and roll each into round balls, handling as little as possible. Roll bottom pastry shell piece out on a lightly floured board into a circle ⅛ -inch thick and 1-inch larger than the diameter or the top of the pan. Fit circle into a pie plate and trim edges with a scissors or a sharp knife. Let ½ -inch extend over the rim. Turn edge under and flute with fingers to make a standing rim. Prick pie shell over with a fork to prevent air bubbles.

Roll out remaining dough for top crust. Decorate top with favorite design, leaving sufficient holes to allow steam to escape during baking. Set aside to make pie filling mixture.

For pie filling mixture combine, flour, sugar, and eggs, and beat thoroughly. Mix in rhubarb pieces and cherry pie filling. Pour into pie shell. Moisten edges of lower crust with cold water and add top crust. Press edges together tightly with tines of a fork or with fingers.

Brush top crust with egg wash (made from one egg beaten with a little water) and sprinkle with sugar. Bake 15 minutes at 425 degrees, then lower oven temperature to 350 degrees, and bake for an additional 45 minutes, until golden brown.

Teens Need Calcium To Prevent Brittle Bones Later

"Drink your milk for strong bones and teeth."

Generations of American children have grown up hearing this advice. But today, many teens are choosing a can of soda instead of a glass of milk, forfeiting a major source of dietary calcium and increasing their risk for the crippling "brittle bone" disease, osteoporosis.

"The teen-age years are a crucial time in building bone mass," says Dr. Sue Snider, Cooperative Extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware. "Since teen-agers are forming nearly half of their adult bone mass, they need to eat enough calcium-rich foods."

But studies show that most American teen-agers are not meeting the recommended daily allowance (RDA) of calcium. According to a recent survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, only 35 percent of boys and 14 percent of girls are getting the 1,200 milligrams they need.

Milk, a major source of calcium, has lost popularity among teen-agers in the last 20 years. While soft drink consumption has risen, nearly tripling among teenage boys since the late 1970s, milk consumption has dropped. On average, adolescent boys drink only about 1¼ cups of milk per day, while girls drink less than a cup. The U.S.D.A. recommends drinking two to three cups a day.

The consequences of low calcium intake may not show up immediately, but when they do, they can be devastating. One out of every eight men and one out of two women will develop osteoprosis, with fair-skinned women of Northern European descent being most susceptible. The bone-thinning disease can weaken the skeleton so much that even a sneeze can make a bone break.

"Without calcium, it's nearly impossible to build strong, dense bones," says Snider. "And calcium not only defends the body against osteoporosis, but may also help to protect against high blood pressure and colon cancer."

How then, should growing teen-agers get the calcium they need?

"Drinking milk is probably the easiest way to meet calcium requirements," says Snider. "Three glasses of milk meets three-quarters of a teen-ager's daily calcium needs. And most milk sold in the United States is fortified with vitamin D, which is essential for calcium absorption."

Although milk and other dairy products are the main source of calcium for Americans, other foods can also contribute significant amounts of this essential element. Dark green, leafy vegetables, fish with edible bones such as sardines and canned salmon, dried beans, tofu processed with calcium sulfate, calcium-fortified orange juice and enriched or fortified breads and cereals all provide calcium.

Studies indicate that calcium is as equally well-absorbed from supplements as from foods, and a variety of supplements are available on the market. Calcium carbonate contains the most (40 percent by weight) calcium. Most experts recommend taking supplements with meals to enhance calcium absorption.

Snider cautions, however, that supplements should not be substituted for food. No supplement ensures the variety and amounts of nutrients and energy that a well-balanced diet provides. And eating a variety of foods also lessens the likelihood of nutrient imbalances, which supplements can cause. By following the USDA's Food Pyramid Guidelines, teens can get the nutrients they need to build healthy, strong bones.

Calcium Equivalents

The following foods contain about the same amount of calcium (300 mg.) as an 8-ounce cup of milk:

½ ounce cheddar cheese
½ slice processed cheese
2 cups cottage cheese
1 cup yogurt
½ cup ice cream or ice milk
8 ounces tofu
2 cups broccoli
1 cup collard or turnip greens
½ cup kale or mustard greens
4 ounces canned salmon with bones
½ ounce canned sardines with bones
½ cup (about 16 medium) oysters
2 slices calcium-fortified bread
¼ cup calcium-fortified cereal
8 ounces calcium-fortified orange juice
4 cups kidney beans, cooked

Getting enough calcium in the teen-age years is vital for building strong, dense bones that will decrease the risk of osteoporosis. Dairy products and many other foods are good sources of calcium.

ANSWER — Thanks to Valerie Bomgardner, Lebanon County Dairy Maid, sent in this recipe for original Girl Scout cookies.

Original Girl Scout

Cream together:
1 cup sugar
1 cup shortening
Add:
1 tablespoon milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
2½ -3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Mix together thoroughly, refrigerate dough. Roll and cut out in preferred shapes. Bake at 350 degrees for 8-10 minutes.

ANSWER — Eunice Musselman of Fredericksburg wanted a recipe for chicken Monterey similar to that served at Bonanza Restaurants. Thanks to Sarah Clark, Everett, for sending a recipe that she really likes.

Chicken Monterey

Boneless chicken breast
Catalina salad dressing
2 tablespoons chopped onion (optional)
1-2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper to taste

Melt butter in large skillet; medium heat. Cook chicken breast in skillet, adding small amount of water to avoid sticking. Season with salt and pepper. Add onion. Cover and reduce heat and simmer for 30 minutes or until chicken is thoroughly cooked. Spoon off any excess water in pan. Add dressing liberally over all chicken breast. Cover againa and heat just until warmed through. Or grill instead of cooking. Just heat the dressing and pour over grilled chicken breast.

ANSWER — Cindy Smith wanted a recipe for a Spanish spice cake. Thanks to Sarah Clark, Everett, for sending a recipe.

Spanish Bar Cake

20-ounces canned apple pie filling
1 tablespoon apple pie spice
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
18-ounce package yellow cake mix
4 large eggs
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped walnuts

In blender or food processor, combine apple pie filling, eggs, apple pie spice, and cloves to blend until smooth. Place in a large bowl with dry cake mix; beat 4-5 minutes. Stir in nuts and raisins. Pour into greased 13x9x2-inch cake pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 5 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool on wire rack 15 minutes then invert on large cake platter. Finish cooling then frost with the following:

Frosting:
8-ounces package cream cheese, softened
½ cup butter
⅓ cup dark corn syrup
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 tablespoon grated dry orange peel
3½ cup confectioner's sugar

Combine all ingredients together. Beat until creamy and of spreading consistency. Keep in cool place.

ANSWER — H. W. Hamilton, Thornton, wanted recipes that use gluten flour to make bread and pastry. Thanks to Betty Light, Lebanon, for sending recipes.

Gluten Bread

1 yeast cake
3 cups lukewarm water or milk
1 tablespoon melted shortening
1 teaspoon salt
5½ cups gluten flour

Dissolve yeast in 1 cup liquid. Add balance of liquid and shortening. Sift flour and salt together and beat into liquid.

Knead until smooth. Put in greased baking pans. Cover and let rise until double in bulk, about 2 hours. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes.

Gluten Muffins

1 beaten egg
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups gluten flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Mix egg and milk. Add salt and flour. Beat well. Add baking powder. Pour into greased muffin cups, ⅔ full. Bake in 450 degree oven for 15 minutes. Yields 12 muffins.

ANSWER — A long-time reader wanted a recipe for Swedish tea ring made with Bisquick, yeast, cinnamon, sugar, etc. Thanks to a Hanover reader, who writes that this recipe sounds similar to what she may be looking for.

Festive Coffee Ring

½ cup warm, not hot water (105-115 degrees)
1 package active dry yeast
1 egg
1 tablespoon sugar
2½ cups Bisquick
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons brown sugar
⅓ cup chopped candied fruit, optional
½ cup chopped walnuts

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add egg, sugar, and Bisquick. Beat vigorously. Turn into surface, dusted with Bisquick. Knead until smooth, 20 times. Roll into 16x9-inch rectangle. Spread with butter. Sprinkle with sugar, fruit, and nuts. (Cinnamon may be added and fruit omitted). Roll up, beginning at wide side. Pinch dough together to seal. Place sealed side down on greased baking sheet. Pinch ends together to form a ring.

With scissors make cuts ⅔ through ring at one-inch intervals. Turn each section on its side. Cover. Let rise in warm place about one hour. Bake in 375 degree oven for 15-20 minutes. Ice with confectioners' sugar icing. Decorate with candied cherries and walnut halves if desired.

Rhubarb

HONEYED RHUBARB PIE

Pastry for 2-crust pie
4 cups rhubarb, ½ -inch pieces
6 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
4 drops red food coloring
1¼ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup strained honey
2 tablespoons butter

Combine rhubarb, sugar, flour, salt, and lemon peel; mix well. Blend in honey and food coloring. Let stand several minutes. Spoon rhubarb mixture into pastry-lined 9-inch pie pan; dot with butter. Adjust top crust and flute edges; cut vents. Bake in hot oven at 400 degrees for 50-60 minutes.

Everett

ROSY SPRING SALAD

4 cups diced rhubarb
1½ cups water
½ cup sugar
2 3-ounce packages strawberry Jell-O
1 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon orange rind
1 cup sliced strawberries

Combine rhubarb, water, and sugar in saucepan. Cook until tender for about 4-5 minutes. Pour over gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Add orange juice and rind. Chill until thick and syrupy. Fold in strawberries. Pour into lightly oiled 6-cup mold; chill until set.

RHUBARB UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

¼ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 cups diced rhubarb
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter

Melt butter in a skillet. Add brown sugar and diced rhubarb. To make batter; cream shortening and sugar together. Add egg and beat. Sift flour; measure and add baking powder and salt, sift again. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk. Pour batter over rhubarb and bake at 375 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes. Turn upside down on plate to serve. Serve with cream.

Falls are Hazardous to Older Adults

My 85-year-old mother who walks with a cane, is considered lucky because she has not received any injuries due to a fall. Falls are the leading cause of fatal and non-fatal injury to persons age 65 and older, and are the largest single cause of death due to injury in the elderly. The statistics related to injuries from falling are grim. In persons 65-69 years of age one out of every 200 home falls produces a hip fracture; however, at ages 85 and above, one hip fracture occurs with every 10 falls. Forty thousand of these older adults die within six months and another 40,000 require life long nursing care.

Even if a person falls and is not injured the experience can sap confidence in the ability to function independently. They will then restrict physical and social activities, and become more dependent and they may need long term care.

Older adults may have decreased balance and sense of position; change in gait; loss of muscle size, strength and coordination; poor health and general weakness which increases the risk for falls. Poor vision, poor lighting, bifocals, history of falls, use of walking aids, urgency or frequency of urination, medications such as sedatives, tranquilizers and diuretics also place older adults at risk for falls.

Falls should not be considered a normal part of the aging process.

Risk of a fall can be reduced through these measures:

- multidisciplinary geriatric assessment to identify those at risk for falling, especially those with health conditions such as dizzy spells, osteoporosis, arthritis, alcoholism, foot problems, stroke, and visual impairments
- monitoring medication
- promoting exercise for agility and strength
- checking the home and environment for possible hazards
- properly fitting shoes and clothing
- modifying unsafe behaviors

Financial Resources Only A Phone Call Away

RUTGERS, N.J. — Did you ever wish you had someone to call for financial information or advice? Actually, quite a few companies, government agencies, and non-profit organizations provide helpful phone numbers and/or internet web sites to assist consumers. Below is a description of some helpful sources of information:

Credit Reports — There are three major credit reporting agencies: Experian (formerly TRW), Equifax, and TransUnion. All three, Experian (800-682-7654), Equifax (800-685-1111) and TransUnion (316-636-6100), charge $8 for a report unless you have been denied credit, insurance, or employment within the past 60 days, based on information in your credit file.

Specific information in required with a credit report request. To obtain a credit file request form, contact Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Sussex County (908-579-0985).

Social Security Benefit Estimates — You'll need form SSA-7004, "Request for Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement." To obtain a copy, call 800-772-1213. The report will include both disability benefits and anticipated retirement benefits at ages 62, 65, and 70.

Life Insurance Premiums — Several companies provide information about the cost of life insurance. Premium quotes can be obtained from Insurance Quote (800-972-1104), Quick Quote (800-867-2404), Quotesmith (800-431-1147), or Term Quote (800-444-8376).

Financial Advisors — For the names of local certified financial planners (CFPs), call 800-286-PLAN (7526). This phone number is operated by the Denver-based Institute of Cerfitied Financial Planners, a national profession organization of CFSs. For referrals to fee-only planners who don't take commissions, call 888-FEE-ONLY (333-6659). This hotline is maintained by NAPFA, the professional organization for fee-only financial planners.

Treasury Securities — For information and tender forms to buy Treasury bills, notes, and bonds from the Federal Reserve, call 212-720-6619 (New York), or 215-574-6675 (Philadelphia). Rutgers Cooperative Extension (RCE) also has a free fact sheet (#810) on Treasury Securities. To obtain a copy, call your nearest RCE office.

The next time you need financial information, "let your fingers do the walking" with a phone call. Information is readily available and the price is right.

Homemakers' Spring Event At Huntingdon

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — Huntingdon County Homemakers' Spring Event will be Wednesday, May 21, at the Days Inn on Rt. 22 Huntingdon from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Health will be the focus of the day with Karen Burke-Crawford of Family Health Services speaking on Healthy Women 50 Plus.

Huntingdon County Dairy Princess Emily Metz will share good health ideas for using milk products.

Nancy Altmanshofer, owner of Weaver the Florist, Huntingdon, will demonstrate silk flower arrangements. The Gloryland Quartet will entertain with gospel music selections.

Homemakers' groups will have craft items on display. A quilt made by the groups will be shown. The quilt will be raffled for the Huntingdon County Arts Council Festival.

Tickets are $6.50, including luncheon, and are available by calling the Huntingdon County Cooperative Extension Office at (814) 643-1600. Deadline is May 13.

Somerset Needs Dairy Princess Contestants

FRIEDENS (Somerset Co.) — Responsibility, respect, glamor, and plenty of good times are offered to the young women who becomes the Somerset County Dairy Princess. Due to the generosity of local businesses, the dairy princess and alternates will also be awarded scholarships.

Contestants are needed for the upcoming pageant. For more information, call coronation committee chairperson Angie Shober at (814) 267-3624 or Somerset County Dairy Princess Amanda Meier at (814) 445-5593.

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

COLUMBIA (Lancaster Co.) — When Abe Kauffman was alive he loved pigs. For many years, he raised pigs on his farm.

Children liked to see the mother and daddy pigs and the little piglets that were displayed on the Kauffman's barn. Whenever school children walked past the Kauffman farm, they liked to pet the realistic-looking pig mailbox that the Kauffmans had.

Abe died several months ago. Those who loved Abe wanted to do something special in memory of him. Abe's wife Betty Lou and his friends thought that making a play area with a farm theme would make many children happy.

Fairview Park, which is close to the Kauffman farm, does not have any playground equipment for youngsters. When Abe was living, he helped set up playground equipment for another park nearby. But putting up a park with a farm theme is entirely a new idea.

A farm theme playground is in the planning stages for Fairview Park in West Hempfield Township.

Lots of people are working together to raise money for the park, which will include play items such as a silo slide, a barn climber, and spring riding animals.

"Although he was a township supervisor, Abe was a farmer at heart," his wife said. "He would have liked this idea."

Building the theme park requires lots of money. About $17,000 has been donated to the fund, but $60,000 is the goal.

The committee is planning several fundraisers. One of these is a Farm Animal T-Shirt To Color. Betty Lou is an art teacher. She drew several farm animals for a T-shirt design. The T-shirt is white and comes with a seven-color set of reuseable fabric crayons.

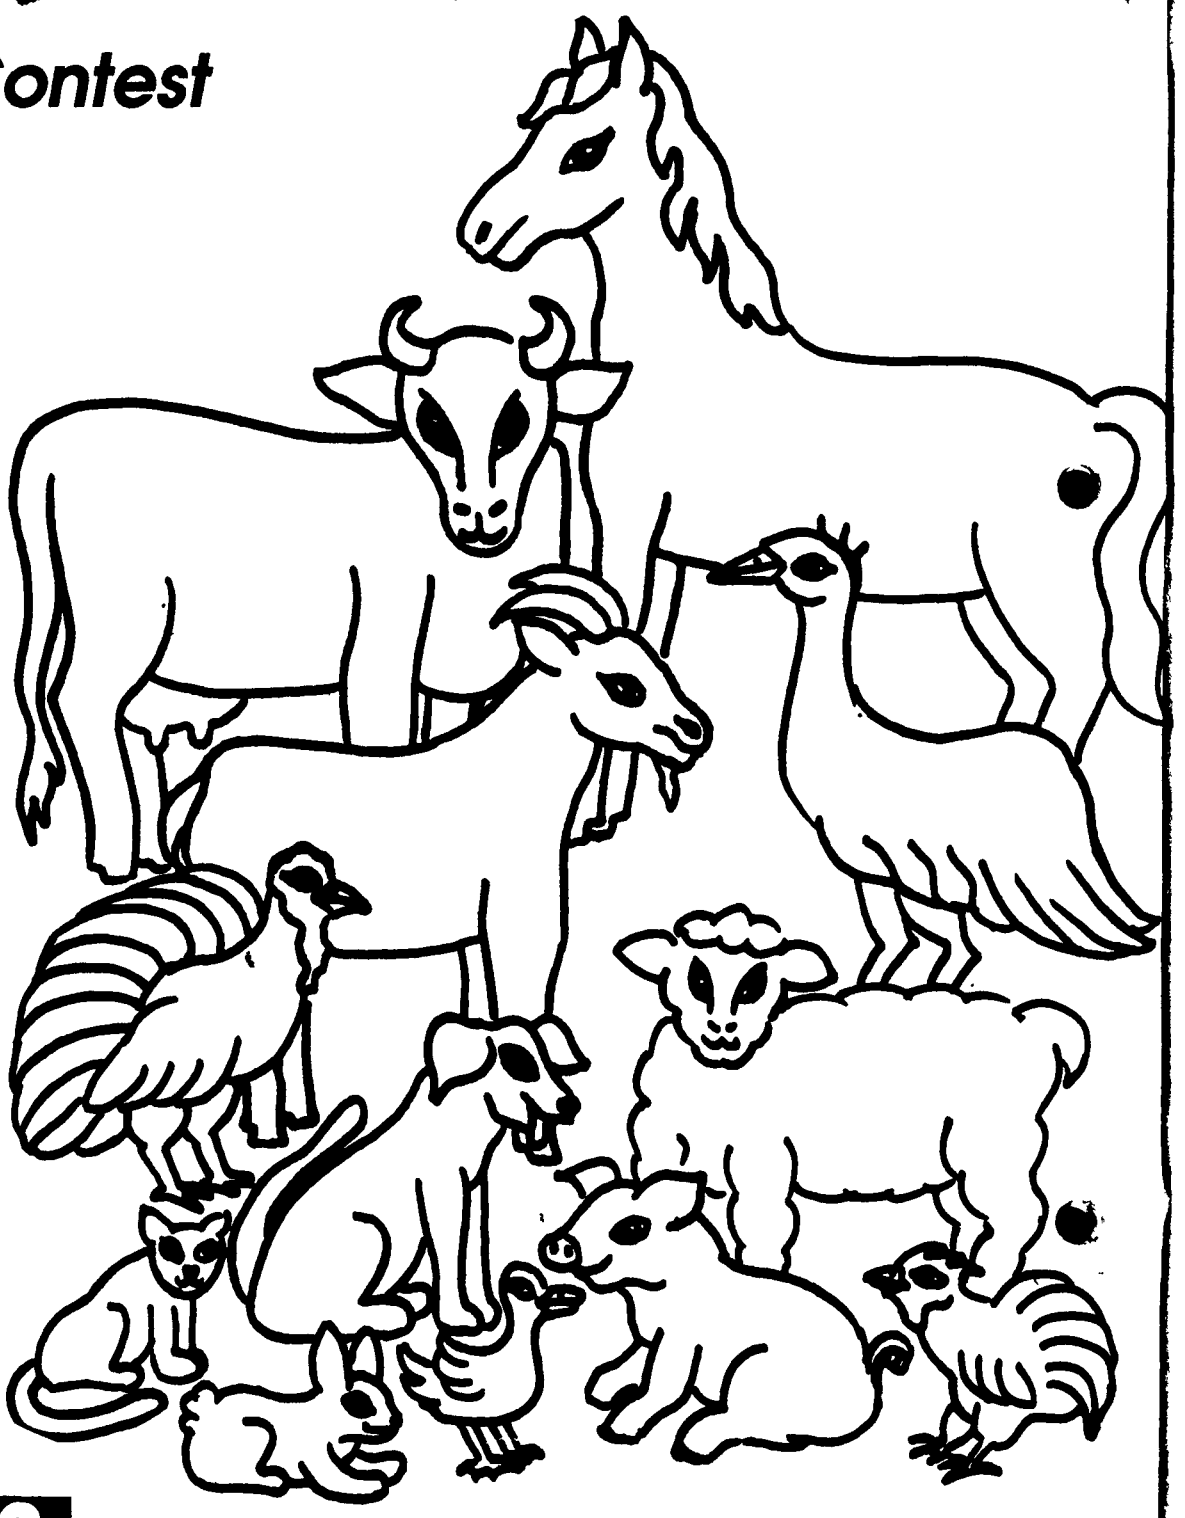
You can color the shirt with the crayons. Have an adult press it with a hot iron to set the colors so that the colors will not wash out or fade. Price for the T-shirt and crayons are $9 plus $1.50 for postage and handling.

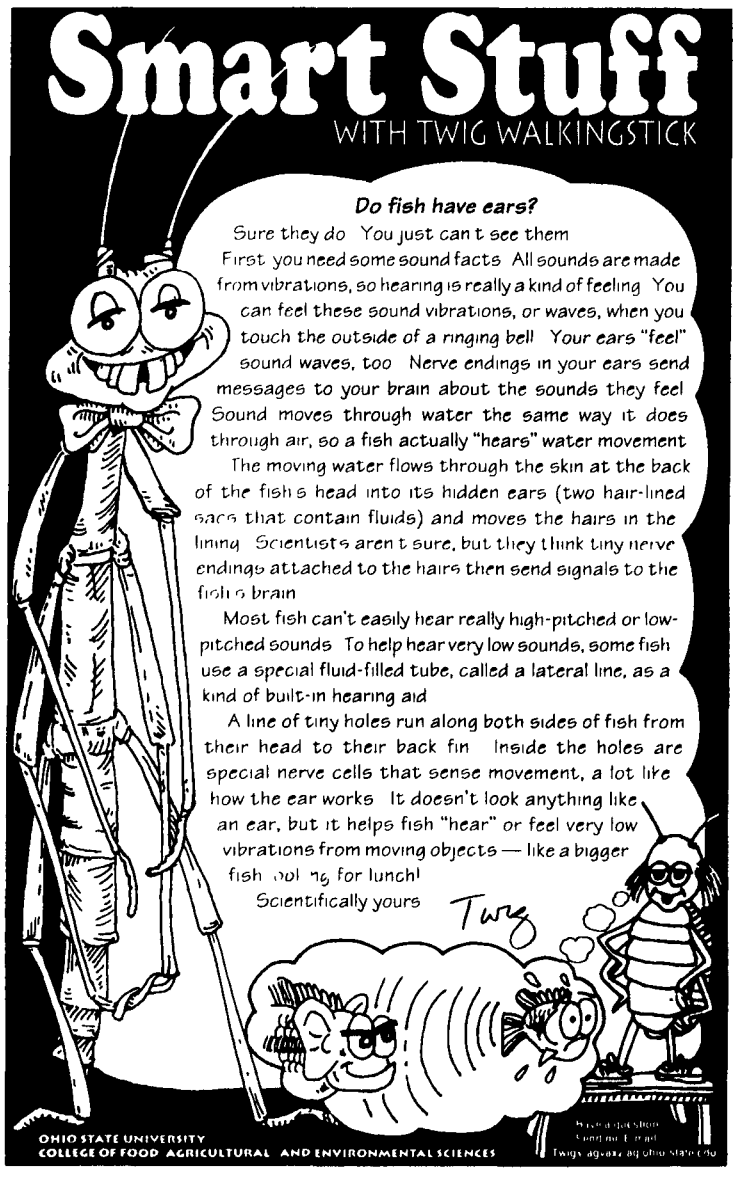
On this page is the drawing that appears on the T-shirt. You can win a prize by coloring it and sending it to the specified address.

The drawing will be held May 17 at the Community Picnic and Pig Roast to be held at Fairview Park from 11:30 am. to 3 p.m. Those who attend can pay $5 to purchase a North Carolina-style pork sandwich, potato chips, cole slaw, ice cream cup, drink, napkin, and utensils.

For more information about the Donald "Abe" Kauffman Memorial Fund or to order a T-shirt or pig roast tickets, write to Betty Lou Kauffman at (717) 684-5510 or call (717) 285-7200 and ask for Marsha.

Directions to Fairview Park: From Lancaster Route 30 West to Prospect Road Exit, turn right on Prospect Road, approximately 3 miles to stop sign, continue straight about one city block, turn left at Fairview Tavern on Fairview Rd., Park is on the right about .8 of a mile.





Smart Stuff
WITH TWIG WALKINGSTICK
Do fish have ears?
Sure they do You just can t see them
First you need some sound facts All sounds are made from vibrations, so hearing is really a kind of feeling You can feel these sound vibrations, or waves, when you touch the outside of a ringing bell Your ears "feel" sound waves, too Nerve endings in your ears send messages to your brain about the sounds they feel Sound moves through water the same way it does through air, so a fish actually "hears" water movement
The moving water flows through the skin at the back of the fish s head into its hidden ears (two hair-lined sacs that contain fluids) and moves the hairs in the lining Scientists aren t sure, but they think tiny nerve endings attached to the hairs then send signals to the fish s brain
Most fish can't easily hear really high-pitched or low-pitched sounds To help hear very low sounds, some fish use a special fluid-filled tube, called a lateral line, as a kind of built-in hearing aid
A line of tiny holes run along both sides of fish from their head to their back fin Inside the holes are special nerve cells that sense movement, a lot like how the ear works It doesn't look anything like an ear, but it helps fish "hear" or feel very low vibrations from moving objects — like a bigger fish ool ng for lunch!

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questons but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

George Bauer made this 42-inch cattle truck that will be auctioned at the Kraybill's Mennonite School Auction on May 10. Walnut, pine, maple, poplar, cherry, and oak woods add detail to the natural wood finish. The truck features include air clearners, air hoses, electrical hoses that plug into the truck, air horns, running lights, and wheels with treads.

Trucks Keep Rolling Under Bauer's Tutelage

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Five years ago George Bauer retired from his job with Conrail and took up woodworking as a hobby.

Now he works from morning to night making trucks, fire engines, bulldozers, and other woodworking items.

"I give away mostly everything," Bauer said of his handiwork.

One of the items he is giving away is a cattle truck. The truck will go to the highest bidder at the Kraybill's Mennonite School Auction on May 10. The proceeds will benefit the school.

The 42-inch truck is made of natural woods, including walnut, poplar, cherry, oak, pine, and maple. The variety of woods highlight different truck features. Air cleaners, air horns, air hoses, and electrical hoses plug into the trailer.

The intricately designed wheels require five steps. The tread, hubcaps, and lug nuts add a realistic touch. The truck is set on a solid wood stand to keep it from rolling around.

Last fall, Bauer entered one of his trucks in competition at the E-town Fair and received a blue ribbon.

Some of his other projects include a 1928 Ahrens-Fox Fire truck. Several people who saw it wanted to buy one because it looked just like the fire truck that they first rode when they became firemen.

Bauer and his wife Madeline have 16 grandchildren. The grandparents often make woodworking projects for them. Madeline likes to stain or varnish the wood after her husband has cut it out.

"I'm the finisher. He only goes so far," Madeline said of the couple's teamwork.

The couple are known to complete bigger projects, but Madeline is the painter and paperer when it comes to house upkeep.

Madeline said that many of her friends envy her and often teasingly ask if they can borrow her husband to complete a woodworking project.

Two lucky grandsons received a camel with two humps that they could ride like a rocking horse.

Kraybill School Holds Auction

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — Kraybill Mennonite School will hold its 20th Annual Benefit Auction May 9 and 10, on its 12-acre Mount Joy campus. The main auction, specialized side auctions, food stands, craft stands, activities, and Pig Roast will draw well more than 2,000 people to the school for this two-day event.

The Friday night auction continues to expand along with the crowds coming for the all-you-can-eat Southern Style Pig Roast by Lehman's Barbecue of Chesapeake, Virginia. The school plans to prepare 17 whole hogs donated by local farmers. The school will start serving the savory roast pork as early as 4:30 p.m. and plans to seat everyone comfortably in their climate-controlled auditorium/gymnasium. Baked potato, baked beans, cole slaw, dinner rolls, and a cold beverage are included with the meal.

The expanded Friday night auction will feature fine art, braided rugs, comforters, antique collectibles, baseball cards and gift certificates in the main auditorium/gynnasium from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. The art collection will include collectible art such as limited edition prints from nationally renowned artists Terry Redlin, Richard Bollinger, and P. Buckley Moss plus local artists. This year's auction will also provide an expanded selection of decorative art such as open edition prints from Lynne Yancha, Susie Riehl, and the Home Interiors collection. A special collectible truck auction will be held next door in the historic Kraybill Meetinghouse, starting at 6:45. The quantity and selection of collectible trucks require a separate location on the school campus.

Saturday's activities start with the traditionoal country breakfast at 7 a.m., leading to the sale of general merchandise at 8:30. Plants, bark mulch, and large outdoor items will be sold outside at 9:30 a.m. The auction will reach its climax with specialty items at 11 a.m., class specialty baskets at noon, and the quilt auction at 1 p.m.

The quilt auction will feature only true quilts and quilted wall hangings; comforters, Afghans, braided rugs, etc. will be sold Friday night. The quilt collection was arranged by professional quilt broker Alma Nissley to offer popular colors and patterns, including several quilts unlikely to be found at any other auction. Mrs. Nissley's quilt business survives by specializing in items that her customers cannot find anywhere else. Her expertise helps Kraybill Mennonite School offer several quilts that other benefit auctions cannot match. Some notable quilts are the "Hershey Quilt," a replica of the quilt chocolate magnate Milton S. Hershey had made for his wife, "Double Peacock Applique," "Navaho Indian Around the World," "Dahlia Irish Chain," "Grapevine Applique," and "Turner's Wedding Star."

The specialty items include a handcrafted full-size baby cradle and other handcrafted furniture, Mount Joy crocks, wood blocks of local historic places, KMS memorabilia, and a detailed 36" wooden cattle truck. A new feature will be the "class theme baskets" sold at noon. Each KMS class will offer a complete outfit of everything needed for an individual, couple or family to engage in activity like

DEPENDABLE PERFORMANCE

THE FORAGE EXPRESS

New Holland FX45 still dominates all choppers with:

- 450 hp engine
- 30-inch wide, 12-knife cutterhead
- Metalert® III for metal detection
- 210 gallon fuel tank for full-day operation
- Knife sharpener and shearbar adjust in cab
- Convenient, comfortable, high-visibility cab

MORE OF THE THINGS YOU WANT

More capacity, improved reliability and better bale shape.

- Big Capacity. Wide, Super-Sweep™ pickups get the short, fine hay ordinary pickups miss.
- Efficient Feeding Systems. A rotary system on the two larger balers adds capacity and improves bale shape. The "565" has a beefed-up Flow-Action® feeder.
- Increased Reliability. Heavy-duty materials in the bale case and plunger, and accurate knotters or twisters, complete the story.

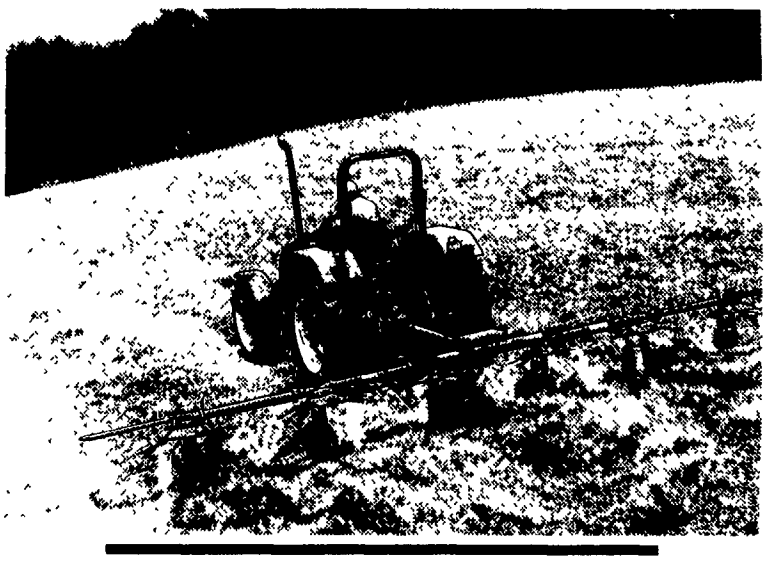
PROTECTION BY DETECTION

Your equipment and livestock are important to you. Protect them with a New Holland forage harvester equipped with Metalert® III metal detector. Metalert III stops the feedrolls before the detected metal can damage the cutterhead or get into your feed. Available on the Models 790 and 900.

22'8" WIDE



FLUFF 3 WINDROWS IN ONE PASS

You'll cover acres fast, and bale or chop sooner with the Model 169 tedder. It uses six rotors to ted a wide 22'8" area. That's wide enough to fluff three windrows from a 9' mower-conditioner. Yet transport width is a narrow 9'8" for easy maneuvering. The frame of the "169" is fully articulated, so it hugs the ground to fluff all of your crop for fast drying.

Beat the weather with the Model 169. Stop by for details.

West Snyder FFA Participates In FFA Public Speaking And Parliamentary Procedure Career Development Events

On Thursday, April 10, the West Snyder FFA Chapter participated in the SUNMC district parliamentary procedure and public speaking career development events. These events involved FFA chapters from Snyder, Union, Northumberland, Montour, and Columbia counties. West Snyder FFA Chapter served as the host for the event.

In the Parliamentary Procedure event, team members are given 20 minutes to demonstrate parliamentary abilities. The West Snyder team placed first and consisted of Michele Fetterolf, Rose Carper, Maria Trego, Joe Kramer, Doug Boop, Jenna Straub, Tami Weller, and Jessica Catherman. Shane Eia served as the alternate. Judges for the event were David Bailey, Warren Dutrow, and Mike Schrey.

In the FFA creed speaking event, first year vocational agriculture students in ninth or 10th grade recite the FFA Creed. Jessica Walter and Sandy Opdyke, both in ninth grade, placed fifth and eighth respectively. In the junior public speaking event, first year FFA members in grades seventh through 10th prepare and deliver a four- to six-minute speech on the care of chickens. Heidi Good, in ninth grade, placed fourth with a speech on water pollution. Dr. William Sheaffer, Jeff Miezer, and Kristie McCalrath served as the judges in these events.

In the extemporaneous public speaking event, FFA members are assigned a topic and are given 30 minutes to prepare a four- to six-minute speech. Luke Zerby and Ben Boonie represented West Snyder FFA and placed first and second, respectively. Both members will advance to the regional competition in Montoursville. Joe Heeter, Kenneth Boyer, and Greg Hubbard served as judges in this event.

In the conservation public speaking event, FFA members must prepare a six- to eight-minute speech on soil, air, water, or wildlife conservation. Dustin Herman placed fifth with a speech on Wetlands. Craig Bingman, Pam Ritter and Kurt Dreibelbis served as judges for this event.

In the general public speaking event, FFA members prepare a six- to eight-minute speech on an agricultural topic. Maria Trego placed third and Jennifer McWilliams placed sixth. Maria will advance to the regional event. Nevin Zerby, Annette Gray, and David Hummel served as judges for this event.

Jessica Catherman reads the secretary minutes during the SUN Area FFA Parliamentary Procedure Career Development Event. West Snyder FFA placed first in the event.

West Snyder FFA Members Attend State Legislative Leadership Conference

The FFA State Legislative Leadership Conference was held March 26-28 in Grantville.

Members in attendance were Michele Fetterolf, Jodi Moist, Joe Kramer, and Dustin Herman.

Ben Boonie attended as a second year scholar and assisted the state officer team in the administration of the conference. Elizabeth Hollenbach and John Ewing, secretary and sentinel of the Pennsylvania FFA Association, respectively, served as members of the team which administered the leadership conference.

The FFA members in attendance learned table etiquette, opportunities that the FFA offers, and how to read a legislative bill along with the legislative process. The FFA members split into blue and gold groups (Democrat and Republican). Each person also served on a bill committee. Jodi Moist served as one of the six chairman selected from Pennsylvania. Members went through the entire legislative process.

The FFA also toured the Hershey Chocolate Factory, Hershey Zoo, Founders Hall, and the Milton Hershey School. On Tuesday, members had breakfast with Rep. Dan Clark and Sen. Ed Helfrick. After breakfast, they toured the state capitol and visited the offices of Helfrick and Clark.

Kutztown FFA

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — On Thursday, March 13, the Kutztown FFA and the Young Farmers held their annual chapter banquet at the Kutztown Grange Hall.

There were many different FFA Awards presented. The Greenhand awards were presented to Keith Bauscher, Emily Dietrich, Laura Merkel, Bobby Follweiler, and Jim Ardle. The Star Green Hand was awarded to Keith Bauscher. The Star Green Hand is awarded to the student who was the most active in FFA their first year.

Chapter Farmer awards were presented to Andrew Weisner, Kelly Adam, Derek Schroeder, and Erica Davis.

It was a tough decision to whom to give the Star Chapter Farmer Award. There were two awards given this year. They went to Kelly Berger and Kevin Bauscher. Both Kelly and Kevin have worked hard over their four years in the FFA and agriculture program.

There were many service awards presented to the parents, teachers, and friends who helped out with the FFA. They were awarded to Marion Homer (principal), Nicholas Lazo (dean of students), Henninger's Nursery, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Bauscher (president and chaplain's parents), Mr. and Mrs. Victor Berger (vice president's parents), and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Leiby (parents of the sentinel). Sue Miller from Henninger's Nursery was also given an award for her valuable time and commitment to the Kutztown Ag Program.

Supervised Agricultural Experience Merit awards were presented to the following: Steve Schucker (forestry), Jeremy Kunkel, Andrew Weisner, Paul James Ernst (agricultural mechanics), Reena Westehoefer, Jenni Reinhard (equine management), Kevin Bauscher, Keith Bauscher, Kelly Berger (home and farmstead improvements), Gabe Voytas (horticultural), Jenni Reinhard, Laura Leiby (swine production), Bobby Follweiler, Emily Dietrich (ag sales and services), Tara Lane, Jim Ardle, John Durkin, Laura Merkel (specialty animal production), Erica Davis (dairy production), Laura Merkel, John Durkin (achievement in volunteerism), Derek Schroeder (wildlife management) and Emily Dietrich (poultry production).

The Dekalb Outstanding Ag Student Award went to Erica Davis. Erica is involved in the Kutztown FFA Chapter, Berks County FFA secretary, and many 4-H events. After graduation Erica will be attending Penn State University majoring in dairy and animal science with a minor in communications.

West Snyder FFA Hosts Conservation Day

The fourth annual FFA Conservation Day was held at Beaver Adams Elementary School in Beaver Springs and West Beaver Elementary School in McClure on April 16.

The junior high FFA members planned, designed, and conducted the day's activities with the senior high FFA members' assistance.

Each elementary grade learned about a different topic involving the environment. Kindergarten learned about plants and each student planted a sunflower seed and received a flower. In first grade, the students explored the subject forests and had a visit from Smokey The Bear. Second grade students dug for information about soils. Each of these students learned the importance of earthworms and ate gummy worms.

Third grade students had a presentation on the untamed world of wildlife from the Steve Bernardi, wildlife conservation officer from the Pennsylvania Game Commission. In the upper elementary grades, fourth grade learned about fish and aquatics and grade five dove into the topic of water with presentation from Craig Bingman from the Snyder County Conservation District.

Throughout the morning, each sixth grade student built a bluebird house to take home. A total of 65 junior and senior high FFA members participated in this event.

Steve Bernardi, wildlife conservation officer for the Pennsylvania Game Commission, spoke to the third grade students during the fourth annual FFA Conservation Day at West Beaver Elementary School. The event was sponsored by the West Snyder FFA Chapter.

Trucks Keep Rolling

Bauer said that he is self-taught in woodworking. He occasionally purchases a woodworking plan, but never makes it exactly like the plan.

"I like to build it bigger and better," Bauer said.

Building it bigger can have its drawbacks. One time Bauer made a wine chest for a friend. The problem was that he made it so big that he couldn't get it out of the basement in one piece.

Bauer admits that he has a few projects that did not turn out like he wanted them too. Those projects sit in his shop waiting to be adapted into other projects.

"I don't throw wood away. Every little piece can be used some time," Bauer said.

As far as having a favorite step in the woodmaking process, Bauer said that he likes every part.

"It's a fascinating, useful hobby," Bauer said of his woodworking. "I wish more teen-agers would pick it up. Woodworking makes you think, and you never get lonesome," Bauer said.

To find out how and where to bid on the truck, see the accompanying article on the Kraybill Mennonite Benefit Sale.

Kraybill School Holds Auction

going to a baseball game, to the beach, cleaning the car, etc.

Along with the special items mentioned above, there will be a seemingly endless stream of general merchandise. A gas-powered leaf blower from J.B. Hostetter heads the list of appliances and tools that grows daily. Besides merchandise, many gift certificates for merchandise and services will be sold throughout Friday evening and Saturday morning. The school auction offers free car inspections, tickets on the Strasburg railroad, dinners at fine restaurants, vacation lodging at Raystown Lake, and much more.

Throughout the day, food stands will offer chicken barbecue, fresh-cut French fries, Tom's Deep-Fried Vegetables, Hatfield sausage, sandwiches, fresh strawberry pie, and homemade soup, ice cream, pastries, and more. Craft stands with pre-priced craft items will be open at 7 a.m. Activities for children of all ages are available, including Sparky the Clown.

Please call the school at (717) 653-5236 for more information or if you want to donate any merchandise or services to the auction. The accredited school is located at the intersection of Kraybill Church and Gibble Roads, Mount Joy, and serves 389 students from more than 20 denominations.

Museum Opens For Tours

LAMBERTVILLE, N.J. — Holcombe Jimison Farmstead Museum opens for the season on Sunday, May 4 through Oct. 26, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The museum will also be open every second Saturday of the month. On June 14 the museum will have a car show featuring antique cars from 11 a.m. through 4 p.m.

Come see the history of Hunterdon County. The "Stable" has been made into a horse display, visit the third floor "Deats" Exhibit, and check out the Blacksmith Shop.

A $3 donation is recommended. The farmstead is located at 1605 Daniel Bray Highway, Lambertville, N.J.

York Society 11

The Potosi Farm Women, York County Group 11, met at the home of Sandra Shue. Seventeen members responded to roll call by telling about or showing something they had made for Easter. Those who made nothing contributed to a basket passed by the Ways and Means Committee. Fines netted $24.32.

The guess box submitted by Chrystal Brenneman and won by Orpha Innerst netted an additional $7.05.

Earlier this month, Group 11 lost one of its charter members, Alice Krout. In her memory, the group gave a contribution of $25 to the Visiting Nurse Association.

A program prize alternative, the second donation of $15, went to York County 4-H.

Ken Shue presented an informative program on supplementary nutritional intake with natural vitamins.

On April 22, Group 11 was entertained by Group 12 with a ham dinner at the New Bridgeville Fire Hall, followed with an afternoon of Bingo.

The next meeting will be May 20 at the home of Cora Miller.

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Society of Farm Women No. 8 met on April 9 at Reich's Church in Marietta. The members entertained Society No. 21 of Quarryville area. Hostesses were Doris Batton, Millie Arndt, and Ruth Drager.

Bonnie Boothman gave a program on "Entertainment/ Hospitality." It was interesting to see what can be done with vegetables and a few flowers to make an attractive table decoration.

The next meeting will be May 14 and held at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Mount Joy.

Lancaster Society 14

Each year in January Lancaster Farm Women Society 14 solicits members to go to the Lancaster General Hospital to help with sewing. Also they prepared the work for the all-day sewing meeting which was held recently at the home of Ruth Kreider. Fifty-four pads were finished which were given to the Office of Aging. Noontime lunch was arranged by Hostesses Helen Hershey, Hannah Brackbill, and Marian Rohrer. Our member Eileen Mccomas shared her life's story.

On February 12, members met at the Mill Stream Lodge for lunch and a repeat of last year's bingo game - back by popular vote.

Rhoda Landis's profound thought in her devotional "Elegant words without love are not more than a clanging cymbol."

Dienners Restaurant was the place the Society gathered on March 12 for lunch. Learning about Amish neighbor's weddings was presented in an interesting, knowledgeable and impressive way by Dan Stoltzfus in spite of his blindness.

The meeting for the month of April was at the home of Pauline Stoltzfus on April 9. Hostesses preparing a nice salad were Clara Rohrer and Mary Louise Landis. Many itmes of non-perishable food brought along by members will be given to Christ's Home.

The response to roll call, "Name a person you admire," prepared our minds for learning about a special lady Bilki Sheikh from a report of her book "I Dare To Call Him Father," given by Polly Stoltzfus.

Members enjoyed being graciously entertained by the Farm Women Society No. 3 on Sat., April 19.

Lancaster Society 18

Lancaster Farm Women Society 18 was host to husbands and friends at the Country Table Restaurant on April 19.

President Roberta Shepherdson presided at a brief business meeting. Items discussed were the Spring Rally at Hershey Convention Center on May 13 and a bus trip to Ellis Island on May 20.

Glenn Banner, author of "Flames Across the Susquehanna," gave the historical context that led him to write of the events of the Civil War involving Lancaster County and surrounding areas. His illustrated talk in no way detracts from the delightful reading of the well researched and well written book. The burning of the Wrightsville Bridge prevented the Confederate Army from fulfilling their plan to gain control of the Capitol at Harrisburg and to go on to win battles in northern towns and thus gain victory of the north.

Volunteers rallied to the occasion and the Confederates were found to go by way of Gettysburg where they were defeated with the battle was called "the turning point of victory," of the Civil War for the North. The part played by the Wright family and friends in the Underground Railroad route for slaves coming northward for freedom gives credit to another event of thie time in the history of our local area and the Civil War.

Lancaster Society 20

The April meeting of Lancaster Farm Women Society No. 20 was held at the Memorial United Methodist Church in Quarryville when they entertained Society No. 15 at a covered luncheon.

Following the luncheon Anna Mary Groff read the Scripture followed by a short reading. The members acknowledged the roll call by stating the type of book they enjoy reading and the guests did the same after introducing themselves.

Dorothy Crawford reported six cards were sent during the month. The president, Marie Foose, who presided at the business meeting, stated that Hospice has been selected for the Society's charity.

For the program Dora Zug spoke on "America's Happy Genius" on the life of Isaac Asimov which was very interesting.

FFA Leaders with a Vision

Recently, Keith Sauder and Sheldon Hoover competed for Star Red Rose honors with candidates from other schools in the county at Ephrata High School.

Sheldon Hoover was selected Star Production and Keith Sauder Star Ag. businessman. Both recipients will receive $100 to be spent on their SAE project or to put toward the expenses of attending the National FFA Convention in Kansas City. Garden Spot's Grassland FFA Chapter provided both star recipients this year.

One winner was Keith Sauder. Keith's Supervised Agricultural Experience has consisted of working for the past two years at Kings Tables in the construction of a variety of wood furniture, including picnic tables, swings, chairs and assorted wood products.

Keith has served as 2nd recording secretary and reporter. His career goal is to become an experienced woodworking craftsman.

Another winner was Sheldon Hoover. Sheldon's Supervised Agricultural Experience has consisted of a swine breeding enterprise. His career goal is to become more established in the swine production industry or an ag-related business.

The following FFA members from the Grassland Chapter also were selected to receive the Red Rose Degree: Amy Petrak, Dan Laudermilch, Shawn Zimmerman, Cory Simo, Jr. Zeiset, Eric Zimmerman, Greg Yoder, Derrick Weaver, and Michael Horst.

4-H'ers Study Legislative Process At Capitol Days

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In early April, about 150 4-H'ers throughout the state converged at the state capitol building to learn about the legislative process during 4-H Capitol Days.

Pennsylvania 4-H Capitol Days is conducted to provide area teens with the opportunity to study the process of legislation, meet and talk with officials of state government, and to visit various facilities. Capitol Days allows 4-H members to develop an appreciation for the history of the state, relate the 4-H purpose to state representatives and senators, and to gain a better understanding of political issues.

4-H members participate in small-group, roleplaying activity in which they assume the role of an employee of an agency appointed to a special interagency planning group. The role of this group is to develop a grant proposal to request up to $100,000 to try some new or different program or project that will meet some need of the citizens of the state. After coming up with the ideas and developing a grant proposal, each group presented their ideas to the fictional William Penn Good Government Program. This program is modeled after the Ben Franklin Program, except that instead of encouragement of private entrepreneurship, the program roleplay encourages innovative and public service effectiveness by state government agencies.

4-H programs such as 4-H Capitol Days help youth develop life skills through hands-on educational activities.

This group of photos illustrates some of the participants from various counties throughout the state.

One Of New York's Dairy Princesses

Chemung County Dairy Princess Sarah Kent has been on the dairy princess court for five years in New York.

PINE CITY, N.Y. — Sarah Kent of Pine Valley was crowned Chemung County Dairy Princess on April 5 at the Pine City Fire Hall in Pine City. The 18-year-old daughter of Wayne Kent and Norma Erickson, and granddaughter of Ronald and Eleanore Kent, lives on a 120-cow dairy farm where they raise registered Holsteins.

Sarah is active in the dairy industry in Chemung County. She is the secretary, treasurer, and news reporter for the Chemung County Jr. Holstein Club, and also keeps the club scrapbook. She is an independent 4-H member, and captain of the county 4-H Dairy Bowl team. She was also the recipient of the 1996 4-H Achievement award for her work within the dairy industry. This will be Sarah's fifth year serving on the dairy princess court.

Sarah graduated from Horseheads High School in June of 1996, where she majored in science and english. She is currently working at home on Willowglade Farm in Pine Valley. In college she plans on majoring in animal or dairy science and possibly going on to vet school.

Also serving on the Chemung County Dairy Princess Court are Maria Lant and Kelly McGovern, alternate princesses and Katy Barrett, Katie Kent, and Jackie Lant, ambassadors.

ANSWER — Charlene Bennett, Clearville, wrote that commercial stripper won't remove the stain from some wooden chairs that she has and she wanted to know how to make a lye bath to strip the chairs. Thanks to B. Russell Sauder of Manheim, who sent the following information.

Lye Paint Remover

2 gallons water
1 pound cornstarch
2 tablespoons epsom salt
2 tablespoons ammonium cloride
2 cans Banner lye

Mix in bucket. Stir with an old mixer beater with a ¼ -inch drill or it will get lumpy. Add cornstarch slowly while mixing. Save what isn't used by storing in plastic jug.

Mother's Day Horse Show Benefits Gum Tree 4-H Club

For many local riders, it wouldn't be Mother's Day if they weren't spending at least part of the day at Gum Tree's annual horse show.

This year's Mother's Day event (Mother's Day falls on May 11 this year) will be held at the KA Equestrian Center, Cochranville. This is a rain or shine activity.

Prize lists will be in the mail soon and new entries are always encouraged.

This show offers a wide range of classes. This is a good show for spectators, as many different ways of riding can be viewed. There will be food on the grounds also.

Traditional hunter classes are featured, of course, but so are western, saddle seat, driving, pairs, and Gymkhana competitions. Other special features of the day are the hotly-contested Dollar Bareback class held during the lunch break and the awarding of a special Mother's Day favor to all of the mothers present.

The day will start with a driving class, progress through mini and short stirrup events into low and regular hunter classes, and will include two hunter classes marked "For Adults Only." There will be western and pleasure divisions, followed by saddle seat, pairs, and the Gymkhana events.

This is a traditional and popular 4-H class, but is not seen too often at "regular" horse shows. Horses ride side-by-side and are judged on their ability to move as a unit. Riders frequently alter their attire so that they are dressed alike, adding to the picture of unity.

Gum Tree 4-H Club, which is headquartered in Cochranville, is one of the largest horse 4-H clubs in the state, with more than 60 members currently enrolled. The Mother's Day show receives significant sponsorship from the community and is the club's main fund-raising event.

Progressive Clovers 4-H Club

The monthly meeting of the Progressive Clovers 4-H Club was held on April 14 at Baust Parish House in Tyrone, Md.

The meeting was opened by the President Amy Miller, followed by the 4-H Pledge led by Jon Sanders.

Members who attended County Public Speaking Contest were Matt Carman, who placed 2nd; Mandy Holland, 1st; Kim Holland, 2nd; Jason Ridinger, 2nd; Amy Ridinger,2nd; and Kevin Ridinger, who received the Clover Award.

On Monday, March 31, eight members of the Progressive Clovers 4-H Club took a trip to Taneytown Pizza Hut. Todd Coleman gave the a tour and showed them all of the preparation to make the different kinds of pizzas and salads. Then each person had a chance to make their very own personal pan pizza and see it baked. Bree was the waitress who assisted. The following members attended: Matt Carman, Ryan Haines, Ryan M. Haines, Jason Ridinger, Amy Ridinger, Kevin Ridinger, Jon Sanders, and Kelly Swartzbaugh. The winners of the door prize drawing were Kelly Swartzbaugh and Jon Sanders.

Members who participated in the Swine Field Day on Saturday, April 5, at the Carroll County Ag Center in Westminster, Md. were Ashley and Stephen Bowers and David Miller.

Members who participated in the Maryland Spring Holstein Show on Saturday, April 12, at the Maryland State Fair Grounds were Dustin and Brandon Derr, Brett and Ryan Haines, Amy and David Miller, and Jonathan and Josh Sanders.

Kristin Waskiewicz made chocolate chip cookie squares for the Food Fair, served as part of the refreshment.

Those participating in the Club's Horticulture Bowl were Josh Sanders, narrator, and Matt Carman, Kim Holland, Amy and David Miller, and Jason and Amy Ridinger.

The Wills Spring 4-H Fair at the Howard County Fairgrounds will be on Saturday, May 17. This is a one-day 4-H Fair and is a good learning experience for all.

Next month's meeting will have reports on the progress of the following committees: Banner Committee - Co-Chairmen Amy Miller and Lauren Harris, Booth Committee - Co-Chairmen Jason Ridinger and Matt Carman, Fair Beautification - Chairman Steven Haines, and Parade Committee - Co-Chairmen David Miller and Dustin Derr.

The next meeting will be Monday, May 12 at 7:30 p.m. at Baust Parish House. The program will be on poultry and a small pet display.

Susquehanna County 4-H

The Watrous Corners 4-H Club reorganizational meeting was held recently.

Mebers selected projects. Some of the projects Watrous Corners 4-H'ers will be doing are dairy, rocketry, crafts, tractor maintenance, and pumpkins.

Tyler Singleton gave a report on the tractor safety classes he has been attending. Tyler encouraged anyone that would be around a farm to take the tractor safety classes.

Dan Puzo reported on 4-H dairy judging. Dan, along with other 4-H members, attended dairy judging classes instructed by Dave Castrogiovanni. Three dairy judging teams went to Penn State University to a statewide competition. Dan thought the activity was a lot of fun and found the experience educational. Several club members plan to go on the 4-H dairy bus trip to Penn State to tour the dairy barns and attend the Penn State Blue and White game.

Book Review

Of Special Interest To Farmers

Land, home, barn—with the latter frequently more grand than the former—defined the dreams of settlers who landed first on America's eastern shores then pushed resolutely west. A sod hut or a simple log structure might suffice as shelter for a pioneering family, but the barn was another matter. The barn protected all a farmer had—livestock, equipment, stored crops—from the unpitying forces of nature.

America is dotted with a dazzying array of barns—freshly painted, faded, collapsing, round, connected, adorned, plain, wood, stone, brick,towering, long, and low. Numerous styles for countless purpose.

A new hardback book entitled The American Barn by Randy Leffingwell, has just been released by Classic Motorbooks. From this 192 page glossy volume you can learn how the American barn evolved and adapted to the New World from its European origins.

Architectural "measured" drawings, close-up photography of details, and explanations of the unusual shapes and construction methods highlight this story. The 10" by 10" hardbound book has 150 color and 100 black and white illustrations. The cost is $29.95. For orders and customer service call 1-800-826-6600. Or write to: Classic Motorbooks, 729 Prospect Ave., Box 1, Osceola, WI 54020-0001.

Members of the Tunkhannock team were Don Williams, Erik Traver, Chad Anderson, Ray Woods, Jim Gavek, Mike Wilcox, Dave Dymond, and Connie Walters.

Members of the Northwest Team were Ryan Wida, Herb Hargraves, Randy VanHorn, Willy Nevel, Rich Chesnet, Matt Myers, Rich Miller, and Cy Mott.

In the senior prepared public speaking contest, first place went to Alisha Myers from Cedar Crest, second place to Jim Pelliccio from Solanco, third to Natalie Miller of Garden Spot FFA Chapter at Lampeter-Strasburg, and fourth went to Kelly Peifer from Tulpehocken.

Serving as judges were Representative Sheila Miller, Linda Young, and Jeff Zackon, district superintendent, Oley Valley School District.

First year FFA members participated in the junior public speaking contest. These speeches were from 3-5 minutes in length. Placing first was Louis Jones from Twin Valley, 2nd was Erin Dymond from Twin Valley and third went to Mike Livingston of Conrad Weiser. The judges were Betty Herr, (Nix Besser Farm), Travis Werley, Lebanon Valley Bank; and Robert Pleis from Twin Valley School District.

In the extemporaneous public speaking contest, the following placings were given: 1st - Kendra Weaver (Cloister); 2nd place - Jenny Althouse from Conrad Weiser; and 3rd - Todd Huber (Penn Manor). Judges were Sonia Wasco, president, Grant Heilman Photo; Dan Chandler, principal at Oley Valley; and George Landis, reporter for Reading Eagle/Times Newspaper.

The FFA creed contest provided first-year FFA members another leadership opportunity. Winners were 1st - Heather Clay (Conrad Weiser); 2nd - Amy Hofmann, Conrad Weiser, and 3rd - Max Spayd (Oley Valley). Judges were Gerald Strickler, retired ag teacher, ELCO High School; Brian Ginter, ag teacher at Blue Mountain High School; and Jerry Phillips, Keystone Farm Credit, Lancaster branch.

The conservation public speaking contest had the following results: st place - Heather Schaetza (Conrad Weiser); 2nd Aaron Clauser (Blue Mt.); 3rd Amanda Amoros (Twin Valley). Judges were Dr. Jim Howe, ag science teacher at Oley Valley High School; Gerald Heistand, Lancaster County Conservation District; and Rich Skubish, land manager for the Pa. Game Commission.

The top five speakers from each contest and the top two parliamentary procedure teams are eligible to compete in the state level contests to be held at the Penn State University during FFA Activities Week, June 10-12.

For more information, contact Cliff Day, regional FFA coordinator at Garden Spot High School, (717) 354-1577.

New Health Drink Developed By Entrepreneur

GENEVA, N.Y. — A tart-tasting health drink was the first product to come pouring through the new automated filler line in the Pilot Plant at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva, NY.

The test run of 500 1.5 liter bottles of the vinegar-based "Nature's De-Lite" was a sweet sight to Dick Compo, the retired Chamber of Commerce executive from Seneca County who first came to the Food Science & Technology Department several years ago for help with a health drink comprised of apple juice, grape juice, and apple cider vinegar.

"He asked if we could process a test-size batch of the product in our Pilot Plant," said Robert Kime, pilot plant manager. Foord scientists from Geneva were able to greatly improve the drink's taste and clarity by the use of R.W. Kime's patent #4,327,115, "Clarification of Fruit Juice With Honey." The honey made the drink smoother and fruitier, and helped eliminate the terrible haze problem that typically occurs in this type of drink.

Compo's goal is to produce 100 gallons a week. "My first trial was 10 to 20 gallons," he said. Seneca Food supplies the concentrates for the apple juice and the Concorn grape juice. The drink retails for $5.95 in local health food and nutrition stores.

Vinegar has been mentioned in books and articles for many years as to its many mystical health benefits. Those who tout its curative properties claim that cider vinegar lessens arthritis, helps with weight loss, cures gout, lowers cholesterol, and dispels lethargy. Vinegar has long been touted as nature's own cleansing agent, said Compo.

If it's capable of cleaning kitchen drains, dissolving calcium and mineral deposits in pipes, and tenderizing meats, proponents say it will do the same job inside the body.

Those who buy Nature's De-Lite or its southern cousin, "Jogging in a Jug," drink 2 ounces a day and say it leads to a healthier circulatory system and cleaner organs.

SWEETCAKE 16NU

FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

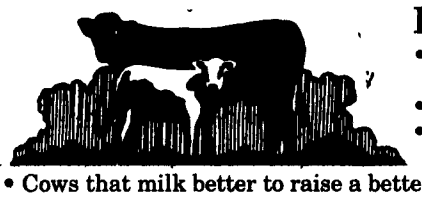
• High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
• Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages

- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients



For Beef

- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

- AVAILABLE IN 200 LB. SIZE -

ALL-NEW JOHN DEERE 945 ROTARY MID-PIVOT MOCO

NOBODY DOES HAY BETTER

What do you get when you team a heavy-duty 13-foot cutterbar with a convenient, maneuverable mid-pivot design? You get fast, trouble-free mowing and conditioning from the new 945 Rotary Mid-Pivot MoCo.

This rotary machine is built tough so you can make quick work of less-than-perfect field conditions. Double-edged knives and high-strength, gray-iron modules are surrounded by steel plates. The cutterbar is protected by exclusive John Deere shear-hubs. When the disk receives a severe impact, the hub shears, protecting inner gears. This can save you money and aggravation because the hub can be replaced for less than $40 – simpler and cheaper than replacing a complete cutterbar assembly on other mower/conditioners.

Of course, the convenient mid-pivot design lets you cut on either side of the tractor. Plus, the new swivel hitch is quieter and allows tighter turns. And only John Deere offers two exclusive conditioning choices: V-tine impeller or urethane roll.

This season, count on a new 945 Rotary Mid-Pivot MoCo from John Deere. See your dealer for all the details.

With exclusive John Deere shear-hub protection, this heavy-duty 13-foot cutterbar delivers longer life and peace-of-mind performance.

ANTIBIOTICS DAMAGE THE IMMUNE SYSTEM
Vitamix FEEDS THE IMMUNE SYSTEM
You Can Sell The Milk
When You Use Vitamix Instead Of Antibiotics

Vitamix is for every contagious disease & every kind of infection. Support the immune system their lives depend on it.

You can sell the milk when feeding Vitamix. Vitamix is a mixture of vitamins, minerals, enzymes, electrolytes, and proteins, especially calculated to over 20 years research and over 20,000 feeding experiments. Vitamix ingredients are so micro pulverized and easily digestible that some of them melt in the mouth and are absorbed into the bloodstream while the cow is still chewing her feed. Her organs increase the output of antibodies (white cells) within minutes, and can often double the output of antibodies within one hour after consuming Vitamix, and you can get Vitamix without a prescription. Vitamix is all natural. You just put Vitamix in the feed whenever there are symptoms of a contagious disease or infection.

The cow's immune system can cure any and every kind of contagious disease and infection quicker, safer, more consistently than any medical drug in the world when you support the immune system. The immune system is the only real defense. I keep cows and horses for feeding experiments.The last tlme I used an antibiotic was in 1984 and haven't lost a cow, calf or horse since I quit using antibiotics.

Any time any human or animal gets a contagious disease or any kind of infection, it is for one reason, and one reason only; The immune system failed to do an adequate job of defending against it. In other words, the immune system let you down.

Every time you use antibiotics, sulfa drug or an immune stimulator; you weaken the immune system. See the Physicians Desk Reference (PDR) for more information on the side effects of antibiotics. The information in the PDR was provided by the drug companies that make the drugs as required by law.

Shouldn't we be feeding the immune system instead? Support the immune system. Their lives and health depend on it. Feed Vitamix every time for every contagious disease or infection.

Vitamix is the best procedure in the world for Mastitis. It is quick and easy and you can sell the milk when feeding Vitamix.

How long does it take when you take the "Support the immune system approach?" I have seen calves that were down, had high fever, bloody scours and were dehydrated. One needed help to hold its head up. The only thing I gave them was Vitamix and water. In three hours, I had to run them down and get them cornered to give the Vitamix. Dairymen tell me that Vitamix is faster than anything else they ever used.

When there is a serious case of anything contagious or infectious; I give Vitamix once an hour for three hours, or until they are back on their feed and doing noticeably better. I continue Vitamix six times daily for a few days. Vitamix typically costs only $2 to $3 a day for a cow (less for a calf). The total cost for start to finish. -- is typically $8 to $10 from

Vitamix costs less than antibiotics, and you can get it without a prescription. Vitamix is completely drug free!!! You can sell the milk when you use Vitamix!!! (When you use antibiotics, you pour the milk out for 5 days, sometimes more. You risk making a mistake and pouring all your milk out for 5 days or more.)

You save money Every Time you use Vitamix. Get some Vitamix now to keep on hand. Use Vitamix as soon as you see symptoms of anything contagious or infectious. You will know you did the right thing within hours.

Preventing and curing all contagious disease and infections boils down to this. Increasing the capacity to produce white cells (Antibodies). All white cells are made by the bone marrow. Antibiotics cause "bone marrow depression" thereby reducing its ability to make white cells to fight diseases and infection (See Physician's Desk Reference Book [PDR]).

I have done over 20,000 feeding experiments on healing the body, and have yet to find an incurable contagious disease or infection.

Why sit around waiting for a miracle? You can order Vitamix right now. Miracles are great and they do happen now and then; if you wait around one might happen for you. But the immune system is a miracle. You can order Vitamix today and keep it on hand, then you will have it when you need it.

Vitamix ...when you need a miracle. The best source of information about Vitamix is people who have used it. Ask a friend about Vitamix.

Announcing Amino Acid Impact Management (AIM), technology for better dairy herd performance

AIM Technology Increases Milk Yield

Meeting essential amino acid needs

Researchers from Master Mix Feeds have developed a patent-pending technology that significantly improves the concentrations of rumen undegradeable amino acids of highly digestible proteins. AIM enhances the flow of high quality amino acids directly to the small intestine where they are absorbed and used for milk and milk protein synthesis. AIM technology provides a balanced, and consistent source of essential amino acids that lead to increased milk yields and improved lactational performance.

Optimize protein efficiency

AIM works where other feed systems often come up short. Research has demonstrated that AIM technology optimizes the supply of both feed derived and microbial amino acids to the small intestine. This balanced supply means more efficient amino acid utilization.

Ready Aim Fire

Position your dairy operation for the future

AIM is the perfect complement to sound management practices. It provides a precise feed management system. AIM gives you a solution for improving milk and milk component yields.

Call or write today for a free AIM brochure. 1-800-292-FEED, Ext.5111.

Committee Implores Government Agencies To Manage Wildlife

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The Livestock Conservation Institute's (LCI) brucellosis committee "urges the National Park Service and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to immediately become involved in active management of animal and plant species in Yellowstone National Park, Grand Teton National Park and the National Elk Refuge," stated the committee's resolutions from LCI's 81st Annual Meeting.

Actively managing wildlife in park areas will protect the environment, prevent overpopulation, and control diseases, including brucellosis, the committee said.

The committee also strongly urges the secretary of the Department of Agriculture to pursue the necessary authority and demand that the Department of Interior immediately begin active disease control efforts, especially on brucellosis susceptible animal populations under control in the Greater Yellowstone Area and all national park lands in the United States.

"LCI urges all members and member organizations to communicate to President Clinton and the secretaries of Interior and Agriculture the urgency for actions that will protect our national treasures . . ." the resolution further stated. Not only will the nation's treasures be protected through brucellosis eradication in Yellowstone, but the nation's brucellosis eradication program will also be preserved. More than 50 years and an estimated four billion dollars in federal and state funds have been invested in the effort.

The LCI brucellosis committee's resolution stems from the winter's heated issue over brucellosis infected bison wandering out of the Greater Yellowstone Area and posing a threat of infecting domestic cattle herds. Some 1,100 bison that left the park in search of food were killed to stop the spread of disease, while 1,500 starved inside park boundaries.

Survey Shows Need For Dairy Calf Care

DES MOINES, Iowa — The death of newborn calves remains a serious problem for the U.S. dairy industry, according to a recent USDA study.

The National Animal Health Monitoring System study conducted last year indicated that up to 11 percent of newborn calves die before they're weaned — an increase from about 8.4 percent in a similar study in 1991.

Jim Quigley, a dairy specialist at the University of Tennessee, said the questions about calf mortality in the 1991 and 1996 surveys were worded differently and that may account for some of the increase.

"But the results still indicate that the industry has a lot of work to do to bring down that mortality rate," he said. Quigley outlined results of the study to researchers and extension specialists gathered in Des Moines March 17-19 for the joint Midwestern meeting of the American Society of Animal Science and the American Dairy Science Association.

Quigley said a key to cutting calf deaths is an increased use of colostrum, the cow's first milk that passes on immunity to many diseases and pathogens. Research indicates that calves receiving a gallon or more of colostrum within 24 hours of birth have a higher survival rate and are healthier.

"If you just put a cow and a calf together and let nature take its course, the prospects of that calf receiving adequate colostrum is pretty low," Quigley noted. "Many producers are taking a more active role in making sure calves receive enough colostrum."

That means bottle feeding or the use of an esophogeal feeder, a tube that allows colostrum to be poured directly into a calf's stomach.

"We're seeing more producers using the esophogeal feeder, because they can feed a gallon of colostrum at the first feeding and they can do it relatively rapidly while knowing the calf is getting what it needs."

A hazard of using the feeder is that in inexperienced hands the colostrum can be directed into the calf's lungs where it can drown the calf. "You have to know what you're doing," Quigley said.

As dairy operations become larger, calf mortality problems are likely to remain.

"Larger herd sizes mean there's more time pressure for the operator and employees," Quigley said. "That means less time to spend taking care of and observing calves. Studies indicate that patience and attention to detail is what is most successful in producing healthy calves."

Chopper Provides Extra Capacity, Portability

POUND, Wis. — The popular Patz Model 9427 Chopper increases its versatility with new three-point-hitch tractor mounting and power take-off (PTO) drive.

This new chopper saves time by chopping at high capacity. Portability with tractor mounting (category I and II) allows many uses.

The chopper includes a blower with vertical or horizontal discharge. An available 33-foot hose delivers chopped material where desired.

The unique, heavy-duty, one-piece blades chop straw, hay, leaves, plant wastes, newspaper, cardboard, computer paper, office paper, various plastics and many other materials.

Material chopped can be used for animal bedding plus mulching lawns, trees, landscapes, roadsides, fruits, vegetables, greenhouses, ginseng and more. Also, the chopper processes many materials for composting and for recycling.

Variable-Size Balers Available

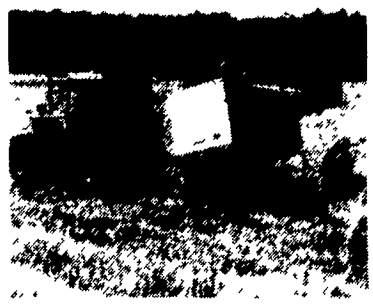
COLUMBUS, Ind. — Claas of America offers the new Variant 180 variable chamber round baler to compliment its range of Roll-ant™ fixed-size chamber balers.

The Variant produces bales of varying sizes and densities to provide greater flexibility to those switching between producing small silage and hay bales to large straw and hay bales. The bales can be varied infinitely between 35 inches and 72 inches in diameter. Bale width is 48 inches.

The baler features a rotor to provide a positive crop feed from the 82 inch wide pickup. The rotor turns the bale immediately after the material enters the chamber to provide a faster start to each bale plus regulates and smoothes crop flow to produce a well-shaped bale.

A Roto-Cut™ option featuring 14 spring-loaded knives in the throat feeds crop through by the rotor slicing the material. Theoretical chop lenght is 2¾ inches. The knives can be disengaged by operating a switch on the cab-mounted control box.

The bale chamber is made up of five high-tensile, wear-resistant belts, which cover 94 percent of the bale chamber and assure constant rotation. A pressure gauge mounted on the baler's front indicates the bale density created by the two hydraulic cylinders.



The new Claas Variant 180 variable chamber round baler produces balers of varying sizes and densities to provide greater flexibility to those switching between producing small silage and hay bales to large straw and hay bales.

Total bale density can be varied for different types of crops and conditions while a gas accumulator independently controls bale density to give the bale breathing space through to its core if required.

Deere Introduces Hooded Sprayer

MOLINE, Ill. — The John Deere 320 Hooded Sprayer is designed to apply herbicide in the row middles of virtually all flatland and bedded row crops and to work in all soil and residue conditions.

The three-point hitch-mounted 320 Sprayer is available in 4-, 6-, 8-, 10-, and 12-row configuations with either narrow (30-inch) or wide (36-, 38-, and 40-inch) row spacing. The 4-row models use a 4x4-inch rigid toolbar. All other models feature a 4x4-inch double mainframe and folding wings. For sugarcane and specialty crops, 4- and 6-row folding configuations, set at eighter 44- to 60-inch (narrow) or 54- to 72-inch (wide) row spacing, are available.

The sprayer's high-impact polyethylene hoods provide long life and protection from corrosion. Five hood sizes (14, 20, 28, 36, and 46 inches) are available to support the sprayer's 14 different row configurations. The hoods are adjustable (plus or minus two inches) to meet most row-crop row spacings. On each hood, curtains guard against drift and protect the crop, and lay-down bars knock down large weeds to increase herbicide effectiveness. The hoods have replaceable metal skids that permit the hoods to run on the ground. Mounting brackets and parallel linkages maintain proper hood positioning and permit the hood to move upward if it encounters an obstacle.

Drift Guard even flat fan tips, matched to hood size, are standard equipment and are recommended for cotton, soybean, sugarcane, and speciality crops. TurboDrop nozzles are available from corn and milo.

The John Deere 320 Hooded Sprayer is available in 4-, 6-, 8-, 10-, and 12-row configurations with either narrow (30-inch) or wide (36-, 38-, and 40-inch) row spacing. For sugarcane and specialty crops, 4- and 6-row models, set at either 44- to 60-inch (narrow) or 54- or 72-inch (wide) row spacing, are available.

Summer Nature Day Camp Registration Begins

WYOMISSING (Berks Co.) — A popular summertime nature series of five-day courses for children will be conducted at the Berks County Heritage Center, July 28-August 8, by The Roving Nature Center, an award-winning mobile environmental education facility.

The camps, hosted by the Berks County Parks and Recreation Department, focus on three age groups: 4-6, 6-9, and 9-12. Each series runs for five days and is adapted to the unique features and habitats found in the park.

The programs are fun-filled, but with lots of learning potential. For instance, some courses are whole-story adventures in themselves that bring the children into the plots.

Each week offers two different courses — crafts, hikes, songs, and stories, and special investigations and projects make up the days while they learn about wildlife, plants, habitats, archeology, adaptations, Woodland Indians, and many other interesting facts of nature.

Ages 4-6 may choose from courses entitled "Catey Caterpillar's Incredible Journey" and "1997 Roving Rangers Nature Safari." Children aged 6-9 may participate in "Flexible Flyers/ Adaptable Aviators." Ages 9-12 are invited to join in the "Eco-Sports Camp."

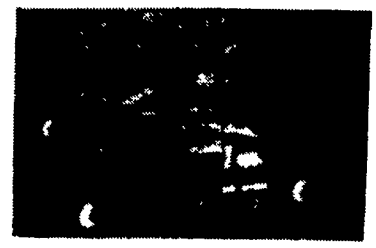
Limited registrations are now being accepted. To receive a free brochure describing the camps in detail, call The Roving Nature Center at (610) 837-6225 or (800) 284-0973.

For Superior Finish, Start With New Estate Groomer

ATLANTA, Ga. — For light commercial or home use, Farmhand introduces the side discharge EG220 Series and the rear discharge EG2200 Series Estate Groomers.

"These estate groomers were designed to provide a superior finish," according to Farmhand marketing manager Andy Anderson. "The anti-scalping rollers and full height range adjustable gauage wheels ensure an even cut. The internal baffling delivers a smooth flow of clippings for a precise, uniform finish in any condition."

The EG220 side discharge groomer is available in three cutting widths — 48 inch, 60 inch and 72 inch. All models have a cutting height range of ½ inch to 4½ inch. The 48 inch cutter slices through grass with two blades while the 60 inch and 72 inch cutters use three rotating blades.



Designed to work with low horsepower tractors, the Farmhand EG220 side discharge and EG2200 rear discharge Estate Groomers guarantee a precise, consistent finish in any condition.

The recommended PTO hp for operating the EG220 series ranges from 10 to 40 hp, increasing with the width of the cutter. A 540 rpm PTO drive is required with the EG220. All models have fully shielded V-belt drivelines that are load protected by belt slippage.

Front and rear gauge wheels are standard on the 60 inch and 72 inch groomers, while the 48 inch model is equipped with rear wheels only. Solid rubber on pneumatic gauge wheels are available for all three widths.

The EG2200 rear discharge groomer is available in 60 inch and 72 inch cutting widths. Both models have three rotating blades and a cutting height range of 1 inch to 5 inches. Designed for heavy-duty use with low horsepower, the EG2200 is recommended for use with 17 to 40 PTO hp tractors. A 540 rpm PTO drive is required with these cutters. For load protection, the EG2200 uses V-belt slippage.

Farm Credit Sponsors Contest

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA presented the county award to the winner of the FFA Record Keeping Contest for Cowanesque Valley High School on April 19.

David G. Morris, commercial loan officer for the Coudersport branch office of Northeastern Farm Credit, presented the award.

Patrick Heck received the Tioga County award and a check. He is the son of Alan and Lila Heck of Middlebury Center. Although Heck is a sophomore, he is receiving the Tioga County award for his freshman year records. Clair Zerby, an ag instructor at the high school, describes Heck as "an outstanding young man."

Agricultural students are required to maintain record books on a project of their choice. This project could be a crop or animal, a job, a home improvement project, a research project, a wildlife conservation project or a skills development project. All types of record books require students to have a signed agreement, keep a record of income and expenses and diary of labor performed. At the end of the year, the students summarize and analyze their records.

Record books are entered in the state contest after they have been scored in a county or chapter contest. Only the top books reach the state competition. At the state contest, books are scored for their completeness and accuracy as well as neatness. After all books are scored, the top record book in each county is selected. Eight regional winners are selected from among the county winners and one state winner is selected from the regional winners.

For more than 27 years, Chambersburg Farm Service has been serving the agricultural community with Case IH equipment, parts, and service. Founded in 1970, the dealership expanded to purchase Carlisle Farm Service in 1985.

With a large customer base in surrounding counties and into Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia, the friendly employees man a fleet of service trucks and operate a 20 bay repair and equipment setup shop. In addition, they stock $2 million in parts.

Because Chambersburg Farm Service believes the customer is the heart blood of the business, and that people buy from people, every effort is made to supply what the customer needs. If for some reason they don't have the exact part in stock, their ties with the Case IH computer network allows access to parts for overnight delivery and equipment both new and used.

20 Bay Repair and Equipment Setup Shop

The mission of this farm service is to provide the agriculture community with fulfilling and satisfying service, parts, and equipment required for the success and continuity of the agricultural industry.

New and old customers are welcome to visit the dealership. These customers will find employees with 120 combined years of experience in the service department; 80 years combined experience in the sales department and 120 years combined experience in the parts department.

Mel Lapp, right, and his son Doug of Cochranville were profiled in the spring issue of Farm Forum®, a national agricultural magazine sponsored by Case IH dealers. Twenty years ago, Lapp became one of the first farmers to purchase an Axial-Flow® combine. In the article he cited grain quality and capacity as the reasons he's stayed with the make ever since.

Farmer Featured In Ag Magazine

COCHRANVILLE (Chester Co.) — Mel Lapp of Cochranville described his farming operation in an article in Farm Forum®, a national agricultural magazine sponsored by Case IH dealers. The spring issue featuring Lapp was recently distributed to farmers across Pennsylvania and neighboring states.

In an article titled "First Owner Report," Lapp related the reasons he's relied on Axial-Flow® combines the past 20 years to harvest 2,000 acres of corn, soybeans, and wheat.

According to the article, Lapp was among the first farmers to view a preproduction model of the first Axial-Flow combine, forerunner of today's Case IH 2100 Series. Impressed with the Axial-Flow rotor technology, Lapp became one of the first growers to own one in 1977.

"When I saw that first one running, it was really doing the job ... The grain quality, the capacity ... that's what I wanted," Lapp said.

Lapp, who farms with his son Doug, told Farm Forum that his current combine, a model 2188, is equipped with a yield monitor. "The yield monitor gives yield and moisture information as you harvest. We can download the field records into our computer to get summaries for each field," Lapp said.

Another benefit of the yield-monitor is accuracy, according to Lapp. "You can't get a more accurate check than you do going through the field eight rows at a time," he said. "On 400 acres of wheat, the yield monitor showed within three bushels of what went across the scales. You couldn't sell me a combine without it."

Folding Planters Offer 20, 30-Inch Spacings

The giant, hydraulic, front-folding frame on the Kinze 2700 consists of a 7-inch x 7-inch x ¾ -inch, two-section toolbar, reinforced with a 4-inch x 7-inch ¾ -inch overhead truss. The 2700 rides on a heavy-duty axle with four 36-inch x 16-inch x 17.5-inch rib duplex 8-ply tubeless transport tires and four 255-70R radial load range H tubeless wing tires; two per wing. (Note: 255-70R radial load range H tubeless transport tires are used on the 24 Row 20-inch size.) Front-mounted modular wing wheel assemblies provide the freedom to change row spacings at any time.

The 2700 has a unique front-folding design. Using a 10-inch x 10-inch x ¾ -inch hydraulic telescoping tongue, the planter folds to a narrow 14-foot transport width. On 60-ft. sizes (24 Row 30-inch and 36 Row 20-inch), a sliding transport axle is also incorporated into the design to reduce transport hitch weight and improve transport maneuverability. A hydraulically-operated parallel link forward tongue section raises the front of the planter into transport position by hooking the outer end of each wing over the tongue. This creates exceptional transport ground clearance.

The 2700 features a spring-loaded contact drive system. It comes equipped with four 4.10-inch x 8-inch contact drive tires, No. 40 single-pitch roller chain with spring-loaded idlers, plus point row clutches for half-width planting. Changing populations is easy. Precision-cut, plated sprockets are mounted immediately above two end-mounted, quick-adjustable transmissions; one at the end of each wing. No tools are required; each transmission has a spring-loaded ratchet/idler arm. Increments are less than 3 percent.

Deere Unveils Row-Crop Cultivator

MOLINE, Ill. — Whether it's sugarbeets in 22-inch rows, peanuts in 36-inch rows, cotton in 40-inch rows, or corn in 30-inch rows the new John Deere 856 Row-Crop Cultivator provides the flexibility and versatility to meet the needs of many different crops.

The new John Deere 856 is available in 17 different row and spacing configurations, from a four-row-wide configuration all the way up to 24 extra-narrow rows.

The 856 Row-Crop Cultivator replaces the 825, 845, and 875 Cultivators and joins the 886 Row-Crop Cultivator in the product line. While unveiling the new model 856, John Deere also announced that three new sizes of the 886 Cultivator will be available, beginning with the 1997 growing season.

Starting with a rugged, clean-fold toolbar, the John Deere 856 provides the working stability needed to maintain precise cultivation control. On rigid models, the toolbar features 5x7- and 7x7-inch mainframes. On folding models, the 856 uses 7x7- and 8x10-inch mainframes, with 5x7- and 8x8-inch wing frames.

To keep the row rigs in proper position, the John Deere 856 features wrap around rig mounting brackets and heavy-duty U-bolts that prevent the rigs from moving on the mainframe.

The gauge wheel's new chevron tread design reduces bulldozing effects, providing precision depth control. A smooth nylon-rim wheel design eliminates soil buildup and rooster tailing of loose soil that's typical with dished-wheel designs. The standard gauge wheels measure 4x12 inches and provide good depth control of the rig and standard in most soil conditions. Optional gauge wheels include a larger 4x16-inch wheel and a dual 4x16-inch gauge-wheel configuration, for maximum flotation.

Also new for the '97 growing season are three additional row configurations for the 886 Row-Crop Cultivator. These include two 12-row-wide folding models — one for 36- or 38-inch rows, and one for 40-inch rows — and a 16-row-narrow version designed for 30-inch rows.

Dialect Program At German Day

WYOMISSING (Berks Co.) — The Berks County Parks & Recreation Department will celebrate Pennsylvania German Heritage at the 22nd Annual Pennsylvania German Day at Gring's Mill Recreation Area, Wyomissing, on Sunday, June 22, from noon - 8 p.m.

The day will feature music, dancing, historic craft demonstrations, and activities for children.

The Pennsylvania Dialect program will be presented by Dr. Robert M. Kline and Leroy C. Renninger. Entertainment will include the Pennsylvania German Theatre Orchestra directed by Charles Weiser, the Die Dolpehock Sanger Chor, and the Happy Bombadeers.

Johnny Schmoker's Strolling German Band will lead the audience in an Old Fashioned Cake Walk. Enjoy the dancing of The Blue Marsh Jiggers and Toad Creek Ramblers. As special entertainment we will have a children's Pennsylvania German dance group, the Wunnerfitzes. The day will end with a concert presented by Menn of Mischief at 6 p.m.

Historic craft demonstrations will continue throughout the day, including quilting by the Zwingli Guild of Epler's UCC. Children are invited to create their own traditional Pennsylvania German crafts and try on traditional costumes. Pony rides will be available by K & B Stables. Enjoy singing and storytelling by Karen Terry Ludwig and Marian Gehman with her puppets.

Food and refreshments will be available. A $2 parking fee will be collected. Visitors are encouraged to bring a chair or blanket.

Kuhn Reinforces Presence In South Central Region

COLUMBIA, Tenn. — Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., the North American subsidiary of Kuhn S.A. of Saverne, France, a world leading manufacturer of agricultural equipment, is pleased to announce the beginning of the construction of a brand new distribution center to be located in the Maury County Industrial Park.

This new 30,000+ square foot distribution center will feature facilities for parts and machines warehousing and shipping, as well as service, product and sales training.

A groundbreaking ceremony took place in Columbia, Tenn. on Tuessday, March 25 in presence of local dignitaries and company representatives.

Kuhn is convinced that this new distribution center, strategically located in the middle of one of the company's key sales areas, will provide a sound base for continued growth in the South Central U.S. market areas. The new distribution center will complement a network of six other warehouses in North America supported by nearly 100 people and serving more than 1,100 independent dealers in the U.S. and Canada.

Green Thumb Helps WorkForce

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Today's workforce is changing. Many men and women must work well past their "retirement" age out of financial necessity.

Social Security and retirement income are not enough. Unfortunately, when many older Americans attempt to return to work, they find the door closed! They often lack the necessary skills to be hired or even to retain a job in today's job market. This is an obstacle most seniors feel they can't overcome.

Free assistance is available to obtain these skills. For nearly 30 years, Green Thumb, a federally funded non-profit organization, has been helping low income men and women 55 years and older find training and employment.

The Green Thumb staff matches the mature workers' interests and skills with community service training assignments at a local nonprofit agency. The training is designed to help the mature workers upgrade their skills, learn new skills, and, ultimately, find employment.

Interested low income older adults and nonprofit organizations are encouraged to call the state office at (800) 854-1578.

Agri-Service Farm Safety Group Reduces Workers' Compensation Costs

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — During the past year, the Agri-System Farm Safety Group, a program underwritten by USF&G, was able to reduce workers' compensation costs by up to 40 percent for farmers and other agricultural employers in Pennsylvania, New York, Vermont, and New Hampshire.

"We are extremely pleased that we have been able to accomplish such significant savings through this program," said Perry Goodrich, vice president of sales and marketing for Agri-Service Agencies, Inc., which administers the program. "In fact, many of the group's safest farms are reducing costs in excess of 50 percent through discounted workers' compensation rates and year-end dividends."

Nearly 1,000 farmers and agribusiness owners have enrolled in the Agri-Service group since its inception in April of 1994.

"By achieving such positive results in the past few years, it is no wonder that the size of the Agri-Service Farm Safety Group keeps growing dramatically," said Goodrich.

"We have demonstrated that farming safely can be counted in dollars and cents," he said, adding that the program provides safety and loss control services designed to improve farm safety and reduce the human and financial costs of workers' compensation.

Workers' compensation insurance is among the many competitively priced coverages available through Agri-Service Agencies. For more than 25 years, Agri-Service Agencies has provided health insurance and other employee benefit programs to farmers and agribusiness owners across the Northeast.

Agri-Service is a subsidiary of Dairylea, a Syracuse-based agricultural service organization.

Livestock Conservation Institute Elects Officers

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Dr. John R. Ragan was elected chairman of the board at the Livestock Conservation Institute's (LCI) 81st Annual Meeting.

Ragan will lead LCI after 31 years with the Tennessee Department of Agriculture. He served as director of animal industries and state veterinarian.

Serving as officers along with Ragan will be Thomas W. Wenstrand, Hawkeye Steel Products, Inc., first vice chairman; Dr. Richard D. Hull, Illinois Department of Agriculture, second vice chairman; Dr. Kenneth E. Olson, American Farm Bureau Federation, secretary; Jon Caspers, Iowa Pork Producers Association, treasurer; and Dr. Dreyfus L. Froe, Pfizer Animal Health, immediate past chairman.

Also elected during LCI's annual meeting were executive committee members-at-large. They include Dr. Neil V. Anderson, Kansas State University; Dr. Richard E. Breitmeyer, California Department of Food and Agriculture; Nancy J. Robinson, Livestock Marketing Association; Dr. R.L. "Rick" Sibbel, Mallinckrodt Veterinary, Inc.; and Sherry Seubert, Seubert Feed and Supply.

Board of director nominees include Dr. Neal Anderson, Kansas State University; Dr. Jack Britt, North Carolina Pork Producers Association; Jon Caspers, Iowa Pork Producers Association; Dr. John Cunningham, Pfizer Animal Health; Dr. G. Michael Daniel, NOBL Laboratories; Glenn Fischer, Allflex USA, Inc.; Dr. Don Franco, National Renderers Association; Dr. Tom Freas, Indiana Veterinary Medical Association; Dr. Richard D. Hull, Illinois Department of Agriculture; Dr. Donald Lein, Cornell University Diagnostic Laboratory; Jay Levenstein, Florida Department of Agriculture; Dr. Thomas J. McGinn, North Carolina Department of Agriculture; Sherry Seubert, individual member; Jim Stocker, Murphy Family Farms; R. Scott Stuart, National Livestock Producers Association, Dr. R. Flint Taylor, individual member; and Dr. Wendy Underwood, Elanco Animal Health.

Officers, Directors Elected For CRI, Subsidiaries

SHAWANO, Wis. — Annual meetings were held this month for Cooperative Resources International (CRI), headquartered at Shawano, Wis., as well as the four CRI subsidiaries: 21st Century Genetics, Shawano, Wis.; AgSource Cooperative Services, Verona, Wis; Noba, Tiffin, Ohio; and Genex Cooperative, Ithaca, N.Y.

In his address, Chief Executive Officer Tom Lyon said, "The cooperative is financially strong and, through the pooling of the best policies and business practices of each entrant, the collective tide of growth has enhanced the performance and value of each subsidiary."

A milestone for Noba is its first member equity distribution since 1954. "Noba is a classic example of a smaller organization gaining through a secured alignment with others," Lyon said. "Product quality has improved and their costs have been stabilized significantly through the expanded use of technology, volume purchases, and joint management."

Lyon also pointed out that the strong financial position of AgSource allowed for the purchase of the Central Wisconsin DHI Cooperative. And he noted the formation of CRI's international division was important because international sales of semen represented 39 percent of the CRI total cattle breeding unit sales.

Lyon concluded by telling the CRI delegates, "If we are going to survive and succedd, we are going to have to do a lot of things in a smarter way. We are going to work smarter, plan smarter, and respond smarter to the rapid and radical changes taking place in the world around us. And the first thing we need to do is face the realities of the future."

Kenneth Leick, CRI board chairman, announced he would be retiring from the CRI and 21st Century Genetics' boards and thanked "the members, friends, guests and patrons for the privilege and honor of serving them."

"When elected leadership and management work together, positive results happen," he said. "I believe we have worked well together in the formation of CRI and the results show such cooperation. If we are always mindful that we are in existence to serve our members and customers, we will be successful," Leick said.

Vice President of Finance and CRI Treasurer Larry Romuald reported that the four CRI subsidiaries now represent total assets of more than $44 million with total revenue for 1996 of $70,917,783.

"As the AI and DHI industries undergo further restructuring in the near future, Cooperative Resources International has the financial strength to remain a key player in both," Romuald said.

At year end 1996, CRI had 51,560 active mambers and an estimated 8,000 domestic customers.

The board of directors of CRI met on Friday, April 11 and elected the following officers: Donald "Skip" Jensen, Genex Cooperative, Chairman; Roger Borgwardt, AgSource Cooperative, Vice Chairman and John Ruedinger, 21st Century Genetics, Secretary.

At each subsidiary annual meeting, new officers and directors were elected. They are as follows:

• 21st Century Genetics: president: John Ruedinger, Van Dyne, Wis.; first vice president: David Watkins, Moscow, Iowa; second vice president: Steven Anderson, Foley, Minn.; secretary: Calvin Mullen, Rice Lake, Wis.; new board members: Duane Nelson, Winthrop, Minn.; Robert Prahl, Wausau, Wis.; and Douglas Schultz, Nicollet, Minn. Elected to represent 21st Century on the CRI board: Ruedinger, Watkins, and Mullen.

• AgSource Cooperative Services: president: Roger Borgwardt, Valders, Wis.; vice president: Eugene Stauffacher, Mineral Point, Wis.; secretary: Dave Styer, Menomonie, Wis.; and new board member: Pam Selz-Pralle, Humbird, Wis. Elected to represent AgSource on the CRI board: Borgwardt, Stauffacher.

• Noba, Inc.: president: Palmer Steiner, Apple Creek, Ohio; vice president: Jeffrey Hoepf, Tiffin, Ohio; secretary: Jon Mast, Millersburg, Ohio; and new board member: Herby Lutz, Ch[illegible], S.C. Elected to represent Noba on CRI board: Steiner.

• Genex Cooperative: president: Donald "Skip" Jensen, Penn Yan, N.Y.; vice president: David Hileman, Tyrone, Pa.; secretary: Lanny Conerly, Kentwood, La. New board members are: Hugh Humphreys, New Hartford, N.Y. and Jacques Couture, Westfield, Vt. Elected to represent Genex or CRI board: Jensen, Hileman, Conerly, and Joseph Greenbacker, Durham, Conn.

College Breaks Ground On New Addition

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture will host a groundbreaking ceremony here for the new wing to its Samuel P. Mandell Science Building, Saturday, May 3, at 3 p.m.

The college is constructing the new addition to accommodate increased teaching and office space needs. Part of the addition will also be occupied by Thomas Jefferson University for laboratory and office areas. One of the offices will be the main office of the Hepatitis B Foundation.

Invited guests include alumni, friends, faculty, and staff from Delaware Valley College and Thomas Jefferson University, the Hepatitis B Foundation, and local, state and federal officials, including Congressmen James Greenwood (Bucks County) and Jon D. Fox (Montgomery County).

Located in Doylestown, Delaware Valley College is celebrating the centennial of its founding in 1896. It has grown from a school offering mainly agricultural and horticultural courses, to a comprehensive four-year institution of higher learning with more than 1,300 men and women enrolled full-time in more than 35 academic programs, ranging from agricultural, biological and physical sciences, to business administration and computer information systems.

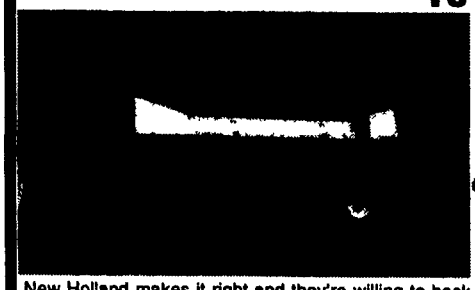
WE'RE COMMITTED TO SERVE YOU BETTER

SPREADER We Have One To Fit Your Needs



New Holland makes it right and they're willing to back it up in writing. Only New Holland box spreaders come with Bonded Protection
- If the steel sides rust you'll get new ones – FREE.
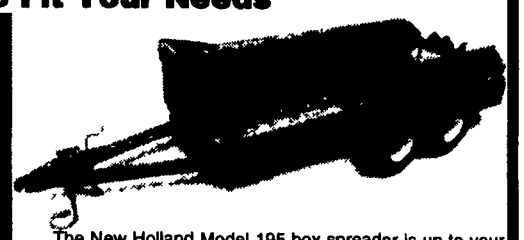
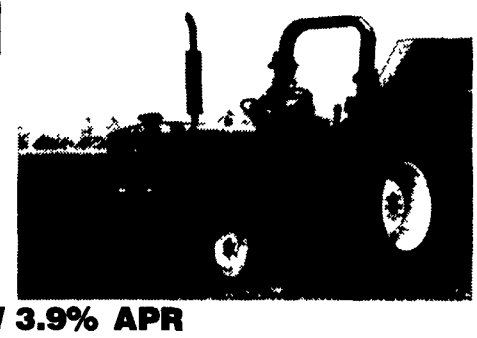
- If the heavy plastic floor boards warp, shrink or wear out, you'll get new ones – FREE
- This guarantee is good for 12 years.. even to second owners.



The New Holland Model 195 box spreader is up to your biggest spreading job
- Capacity. The 195" takes on 410 bushels (440 cu ft) without flinching
- Strong construction. Corrosion-resistant steels last and last. And an HDPE floor means smooth unloading, even in cold weather
- Large tandem oscillating wheels. Allow faster ground speeds in rough terrain, with less ground compaction

DEALS ON WHEELS



LOW, LOW 3.9% APR

When farmers need a better tractor. New Holland puts it on wheels. When they need a better deal New Holland does that too. Now when you buy an eligible tractor in May you can finance it for as low as 3.9% APR*

THE NEW MEASURE OF POWER

Massey Ferguson's new 6100 and 8100 Series tractors have redefined the way tractor power is measured.

They deliver more of their engine horsepower - up to 90% - to your work. As a result, they can equal the performance of some competitive tractors with 10 to 20 more horsepower.

Stop in today and "Experience the Power" of these new tractors with their DynaTorque™ engines, Dynashift transmissions and the largest wet clutch in the industry.

At Last...

...a Boom Sprayer for multi-crop produce farmer that is affordable and will do the job from sweet corn to melon crops.

With features like...
- 24 ft. one-side boom that allows for 50ft. coverage between drive rows.
- Easy boom height adjustment from 2ft. to 7 1/2 ft. for sweet corn.
- Hydraulic leveling on the go allows uniform boom height from the crop.
- 280 PSI, 28 GPM 3 diaphragm pump with power shaft for quick hookup.
- Adjustable wheel spacing and tongue height.
- Rubber mounted boom to absorb shock

With the high cost of chemicals, the right Sprayer is needed

Order Early, Supply Limited

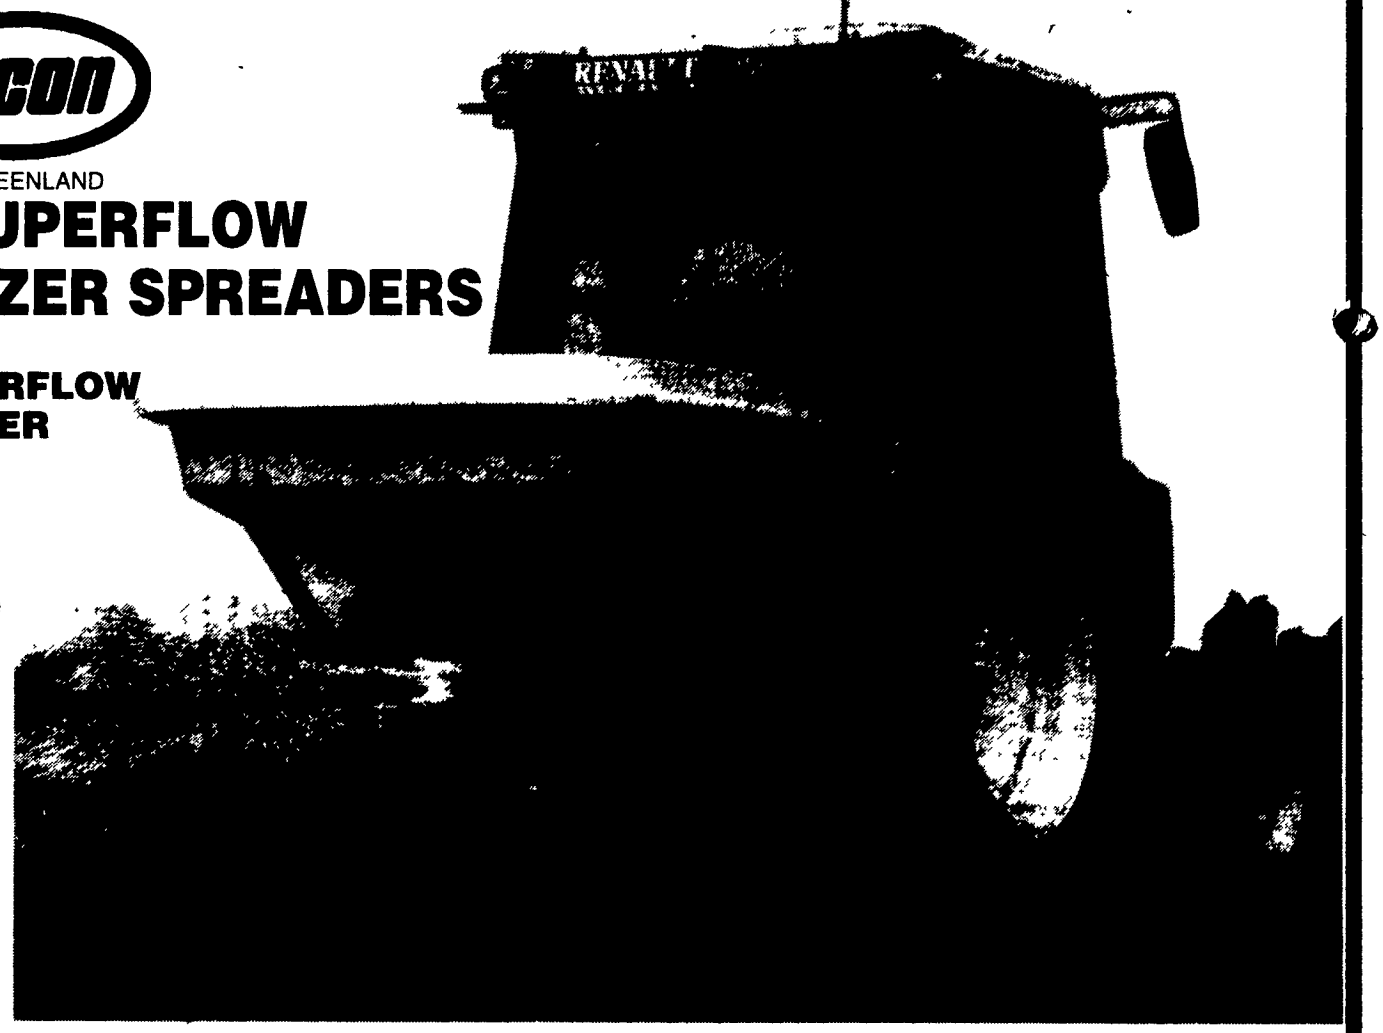
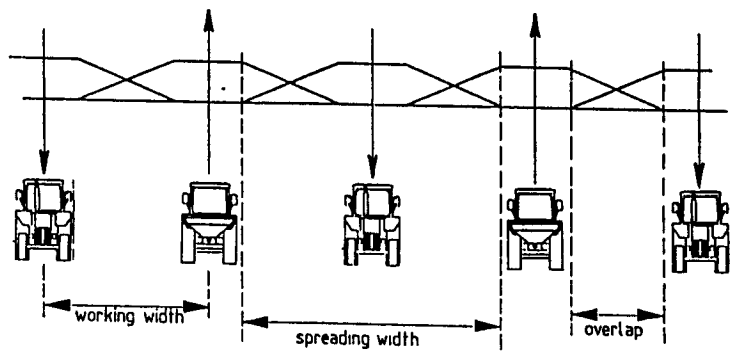
Vicon
GREENLAND
SUPERFLOW FERTILIZER SPREADERS



Vicon SUPERFLOW SEEDER

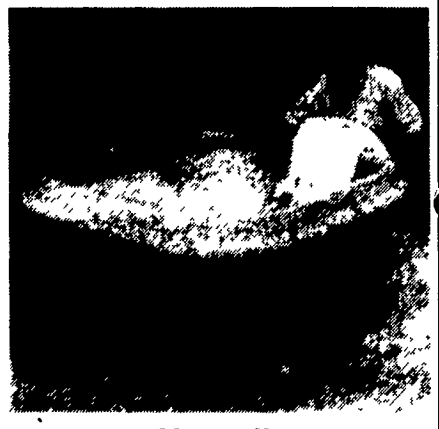
Spreaders are the most accurate broadcast spreaders in the world. The unique pendulum action keeps the spread pattern close to the rear of the machine while at the same time providing a symmetrical pattern on both sides.



The pattern allows "back and forth" as well as "around and around" operation. The "truncated" pattern offsets inaccurate overlap problems, eliminating streaking.

Vicon
Seeder spreaders are easily calibrated for extremely accurate performance.

Rust free polyester hoppers, "DURA-COAT" enamel on painted components with stainless steel metering plates, precision adjustments, and a variety of spouts for a multitude of applications have earned Vicon Superflow seeder spreaders a world-wide reputation as the premier broadcast spreader.



Versatile Vicon spreaders band material in vineyards, orchards and nurseries, as well as spread lime, and salt and sand for winter use.

LUCK//NOW MIXER FEEDERS
"P" SERIES

Since 1979 LUCK//NOW Mixer Feeders have been recognized as one of the most dependable and strongest built mixers in the field.

To enhance its existing line of Mixer Feeders, LUCK//NOW introduces the "P" Series of Mixer Feeders with six models ranging in size from the Model 300 with a mixing capacity of 310 cubic ft., to the Model 575 with a mixing capacity of 625 cubic ft.

The Large diameter augers in all the "P" Series Mixer feeders are capable of giving the mix required, from rations with well cured, long stemmed legume-type hay, to mixes with green grass, and mixes with silage and commodities. Better milk production, better weight gains and greatly improved animal health are just some of the results of a finely-tuned feed ration.

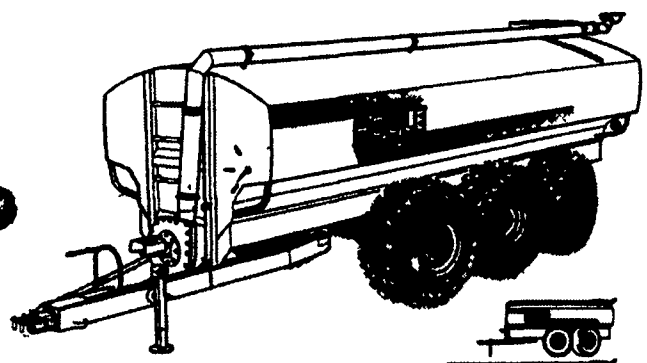
LIQUID MANURE SPREADER

HOULE

TRAIL AGI-POMPE

WITH FLOTATION TIRES TO MINIMIZE SOIL COMPACTION
Available with complete line of spreading tool bars and precise flow control to spread manure the ecological way eliminating spray drift and reducing odors. Our tool bars are designed to apply hog or dairy manure on growing fields, between rows of corn or on harvested fields.



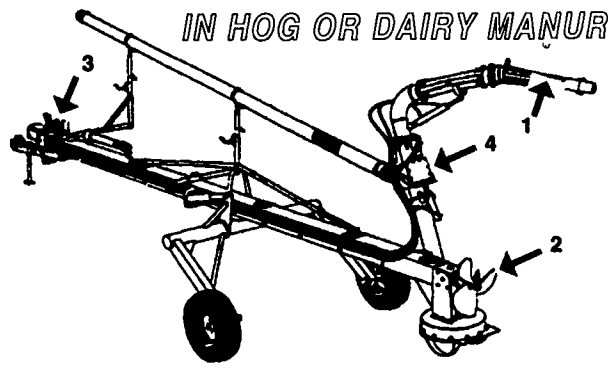
4-6 OR 8 WHEEL SPREADERS WITH POWER STEERING-3850 TO 9500 US GAL.

SPREADERS WITH SINGLE AXLE OR TANDEM-2350 TO 6000 US GAL.

- "V" shape bottom for more complete clean out.
- Standard exterior finish: epoxy primer and urethane paint.
- Low profile tank for maximum visibility and stability.

32' and 42' for Lagoons

GREAT PERFORMANCE IN HOG OR DAIRY MANURE



1-Highly articulated nozzle designed to slice and break the top crust from above the manure level as the propeller homogenises the liquid with the remaining floating chunks.

2-24" dia. mixing propeller providing full time agitation up to 21,500 US G.P.M. even when loading a spreader.

3- Hydraulic controls can be operated from tractor seat.

4-Rotative directional valve designed to be operated at low R.P.M. without stopping the P.T.O.

Gear box oil bath protected by a greasable 3 seals mechanism on each shaft.

AVAILABLE WITH MULTIPURPOSE OPTION TO ALSO CLIMB INTO CONCRETE PITS UP TO 14' DEEP.

VOLKSWAGEN INDUSTRIAL ENGINES

NATO CERTIFIED
LIQUID-COOLED NATURALLY ASPIRATED DIESEL INDUSTRIAL ENGINE
58 HP @ 4000 R.P.M., 50 HP @ 3000 R.P.M.
TOTAL POWER UNIT SHOWN IS 450 LBS., (Wet Weight)

Volkswagen's state-of-the-art engineering has created the 1.9 liter ADE, a liquid-cooled, turbo diesel engine, and the 1.9 liter ADG, a liquid-cooled, naturally aspirated diesel engine. They are the cleanest and quietest engines in their class, with impressive 3.81:1 and 3.31:1 weight to horsepower ratios, respectively. The 1.9 liter ADE engine packs 78 HP, yet weighs a mere 467 pounds in its complete power unit form. The 58 HP, 1.9 liter ADG engine weighs only 450 pounds in its complete power unit form. This kind of responsive engineering is ideal for any customized application need.

MORE CONTROL

DESIGNED FOR TOTAL PERFORMANCE

The superior design and greater flexibility of the New Holland Model 900 put you in control. This forage harvester is designed to meet the needs of big-crop producers. You get capacity, reliability and efficiency.

- The massive 21-inch cutterhead uses hardened alloy knives with tungsten edges for a uniform chop.
- Under-knife baffles reduce crop carry-over and increase chopping capacity.
- Exclusive flip-up feedrolls let you inspect the shearbar and smooth roll scraper.
- The electric clutch provides immediate response and positive control of reversing gearbox.
- Optional Metalert® III protects equipment and livestock,

NEW HOLLAND

Get in control, with a New Holland Model 900 forage harvester

TOUGHER THAN THE REST

The New Holland Model Lx565 Super Boom™ skid-steer loader is tougher, more durable and more reliable than ever.

The "Lx565" offers a 40 horsepower diesel engine with an SAE load rating of a powerful 1,500 pounds.

The Pick Up 'n Go™ universal attachment system makes it compatible with New Holland and competitive attachments. The strong boom design and massive loader pins make it more reliable. And the quick engine access makes it easier to service.

See what makes the Super Boom so tough.

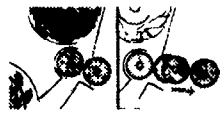
Maximum Power For Your Success

Get a beast of a deal on a new CLASS Jaguar
See your CLASS dealer for details.

The corn cracker can be changed in 5 minutes to switch from corn to hay The Jaguar's efficient processing produces quality silage for higher milk production



The efficient cutting system has a full width metal detector, 30" wide chevron cutting drum and full width 8-blade accelerator

The unique top-to-back cooling system with rotary air screen assures excellent, clean cooling

Service is easy because compartment covers quickly swing open to provide easy access to the engine and cooling system

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21st CENTURY?"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency; this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements... increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

ADVANTAGE ... CONCRETE

"IF YOU NEED A SILO... YOU NEED TO CALL BOB FRANCIS..

MUELLER

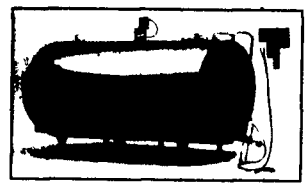
Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

SWEETCAKE 16NU

FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

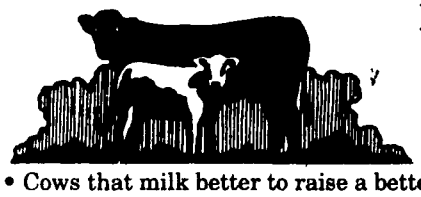
• High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
• Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages

- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients



For Beef

- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

- AVAILABLE IN 200 LB. SIZE -

Increase Cattle Gains!
TOX-O-WIK® Cattle Oiler and Face Fly Fighter

It keeps cattle comfortable year around and free of weight-robbing insects and disease. It's automatic, trouble-free and rugged. Plus it pays for itself in profits from increased weight gains.
Our special TOX-A-WIK Insecticide is compatible with the animals natural body oils, skin and hair and keeps them free of flies, lice, grubs, ticks, mange and pinkeye.

- Insecticide tank wick feeds automatically, no valves, jets or pumps to clog.
- Mineral feeder
- 1 to 4 applicators per unit.
- TOX-O-WIK Insecticide is the only insecticide recommended for TOX-O-WIK Cattle Oilers.
- Dairy units also available.

WHY MORE POULTRY GROWERS ARE CHOOSING THE POULTRY HOUSEKEEPER.
- Removes caked or wet litter while leaving dry litter in the house.
- Aerates and fluffs the remaining litter to reduce ammonia and improve drying time.
- Stock piles or spreads litter after leaving the poultry house.
- Completely cleans out your poultry house when needed.
- Loads new litter outside the house and spreads it back in the house.
- 100% Hydraulic - No cumbersome PTO shafts

PURINA PROFILE

CHECK-R-BOARD

Purina's Check-R-Board feed mill and service center is located at Knoxville, just south of the New York State line. They have a long history of bringing high quality customized feeds to farmers in the nearby counties in both Pennsylvania and New York. They manufacture dairy, horse, chicken and hog feeds and deliver in bags and in bulk. The retail business at the store is growing too!

Diane Myers-Empson is the manager. "I am proud of Purina," Diane says. "Quality is the number one thing. And Purina gives our customers that quality because they do the research to prove what is in their feed before they sell it. The Research Farm is a real inspiration to confidence in the products we have for our farmers. As technology improves, Purina stays right with it.

That's why I'm confident the feed we sell our customers will work on their farms," Diane said.

Because the eight employees at Check-R-Board work hard to do the best they can for their customers, the service is good. Farm Consultants are on the road to help farmers to obtain customized mixes that will balance the grains and forages they have on their home farms. Diane even goes out to meet farmers to see if they have any problems Check-R-Board can solve.

Diane looks for farming to get better, especially dairy farming. "I believe we will get back to where it will be very good again to be in the business," she said. "Farmers are wonderful people, and we thank them for being our customers. We would invite anyone who is not a Purina customer to call his local dealer. We plan to be around a long time to serve the needs of all of our customers."
